WILLIAM HOGUE, OREGON PIONEER, TAKEN BY DEATH

William Franklin Hogue of Grants Pass died here late yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Roy Canine of 522 West 10th street. He was 84 years old and a prominent member of a pioneer Oregon family.

Funeral services in charge of the Odd Fellows lodge will be held at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Kerby. Burial will take place in the I. O. O. F. cemetery in Kerby. The Hall funeral parlor of Grants Pass is in charge of the services.

Mr. Hogue was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., on January 22, 1852. When he was a small boy he sailed with his parents from New York to San Francisco, making the perilous voyage around Cape Horn.

The family settled at first in Placer, Cal., but in 1863 moved to Kerby where Mr. Hogue operated a farm until his retirement in 1905.

As a boy Mr. Hogue peddled vegetables to the Chinese and other miners at Sallors' Diggins (now Walden) where Oregon's first gold mining code was drawn up.

Among Mr. Hogue's favorite stories were those of his early skill as a hunter. With the thrill of an adventure story, he would tell of shooting a half-ton bear and helping to bag a cougar measuring 11 feet and 11 inches from nose to the tip of its tail.

In 1876 Mr. Hogue married Sarah Jane Bunch in Kerby. Eight children were born to the union. Mrs. Hogue died in February, 1909, and subsequently Mr. Hogue married Jane Petty in Kerby.

Mr. Hogue is survived by his wife, Jane Hogue; two daughters, Mrs. Roy Canine of Medford and Mrs. Etta Lowden of Wender; six sons, Everett and Frank of Klamath Falls, Ebb and Burt of Selma, James of Kerby and Charles of Gold Beach, two step-daughters, Lily Wilson of Grants Pass and Nora Swager of Crescent City; three sisters, Della Payne of Kerby, Viola Sowell of Medford and Minnie Burke of Kerby; 10 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

NEW YORKER GIVES GUILD COMEDY HIGH PRAISE FOR HUMOR

"A play studded with laughs, crowned with flippancy and fenced round with the gauze of which comedy hits are made"—so says the New York Telegraph of Paul Osborn's play, "Oliver Oliver," to be presented Monday and Tuesday evenings by St. Mark's Altar Guild. And everyone who has heard Medford's group of young players snapping out the crisp dialogue at rehearsal will agree with the newspaper critic. It is a rollicking bit of drama, almost (not quite) racy in places (you can bring the children), and always exciting.

Remodeling Work Craterian Opens Here Next Monday

With the opening today of "Labeled Lady," the romantic comedy that features such famous stars as William Powell, Myrna Loy, Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy, the Craterian theater presents a fitting climax to its long season of notable film entertainment, and at the close of the picture's run Saturday night, will lock its doors to the public for a month.

When next the doors will be open to the public, there will be a thoroughly modernized Craterian theater. $35,000 of improvements and redecoration will make the popular Central street playhouse one of the Pacific coast's most beautiful and up-to-date theatres.

During the time the Craterian will be closed, shows will be moved to the Holly theatre, where "Anthony Adverse" opens Sunday.

FREE FEED AND BEER WILL BE CLIMAX OF ELKS PARTY TONIGHT

Preparations are now completed for the annual Elks Turkey Trot at the lodge temple tonight, the Turkey Trot being one of the major stag parties of the year for local antedecum.

A short lodge session will open the evening. O. O. Alexander is chairman of the entertainment committee and has promised an interesting evening for all Elks and their invited guests. There will be a heavy supply of turkeys on hand as prizes and other valuable trophies will be given away.

Stepping in line with other organizations in the valley in helping to dispose of the surplus turkey crop, the Elks have announced that there will be even more birds to be given away than is usual at the affair.

The entire party will be held on the main floor and not in the basement, as has been done at various times in the past. The party will be climaxed with a free feed with beer. The food will be prepared and served by Grand Exalted Waver of the Gravy Ladle P. C. Biggam, who has announced that the feed will be worthy of a king.

FORMER RESIDENT OF MEDFORD DIES

Friends here today mourned the passing of Hugo De Groot, city editor of the San Mateo, Cal., Daily Times and former resident of Medford who died in a San Mateo hospital on November 8. Funeral services were held on November 10 in charge of the Elks lodge, burial taking place in Cypress Lawn cemetery, San Mateo.

Mr. De Groot was born in Corvallis on December 4, 1884. He was educated at Oregon State college. He resided in Medford for a number of years and is remembered here by many friends.

He left here about 25 years ago to join the news staff of the Examiner in San Francisco. He turned to the writing of fiction during the past year.

He was prominently known in the San Mateo area and city and county officials attended the funeral.

STEAL TOOLS OF RUGH CARPENTER

BIG APPLEGATE, Nov. 19.—(Sp.)—When William Peckham, carpenter constructing the new home of Mrs. Lilla McDonough and sons at Ruch, went to work Wednesday morning his tools were gone.

All tools left in the house had been stolen during the night, including four or five saws, hammers, squares, levels, belonging to Mr. Peckham and neighbors assisting on the building. Sheriff Syd Brown was informed of the theft and second hand stores are being watched for possible sale of the articles. Chester McDonough of the Sunnyside service station, near which the house is located, said he heard a slight noise in the direction of the house about 9 o'clock in the evening but investigation revealed nothing unusual. The new house is nearing completion, but is without doors and windows, which furnished easy access to the tools.
