GERMAN, ITALIAN EMBASSIES SEIZED

By PAUL MALLON
 (Copyright, 1934, by Paul Mallon.)
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The Roosevelt reorganizers here have been loath to say it, but they all expect they will have to battle a boom movement within the next year or so.

The president, for example, was asked whether he left whether he expected a sharp price increase. He wisely ducked the question, with the facetious advice that the questioner should "ask some stock exchange house."

But no firmer official announcement of the expectations could have been made a few days later by Governor Eccles of Federal Reserve. He said his board was considering a further increase of reserve requirements. Well-informed news accounts simultaneously announced the increase would probably be made right after the Christmas holidays.

As there would be no reason for increasing reserve requirements unless Governor Eccles is anticipating a boom-like demand for bank credit, he seemed to say backwards what President Roosevelt and his other reorganizers have declined to state frontwards.

The simple truth is everyone scents what is coming and Eccles is hoping to be able to handle it by taking a few wise credit stitches in time.

The state department move to get the embassy out of Madrid was officially ascribed to lack of faith in the aim of rebel aviators.

The rebels have repeatedly promised they would not bomb the diplomatic zone in Madrid, but there is something about the Latin gun-sights which discourages confidence of everyone within range. It is an old Spanish custom to shoot at one thing and hit another.

Of course, evacuation of the embassy will also make the switch of recognition from the loyalists to the rebels very smooth, pleasant and socially correct. By moving our diplomats out of gun range, the state department is also moving them out of the loyalist camp. After the rebels take the capital, our boys can be

SIDE GLANCES by TRIBUNE REPORTERS

Ole Alenderfer, Ole Arnsperger and Herb Grey looking a little puzzled at yesterday's glance announcing Grey had swept the leaves off Arnsperger's lawn, that expanse of grass being miles from Grey's, which is next door to Alenderfer's; the whole thing having been a mistake, but Arnsperger willing to have Herb get started any time.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Parker and Fred Dickey flying from Ashland to Medford in their airplane, the Field-Manager Tommy Culbertson reporting they made the flight non-stop, having breakfasted in the Lithia City and lunched here.

Sam Houston, frost collecting bleakly on his eyebrows, hurrying to work at 7 a. m. today, his haste being more to keep warm than through worry over being late.

4-60 Stocks, Bud Thierolf and Jim Baska getting a few incredulous looks when they told of the convenience with which their car had broken down in Corvallis on the day of the big game.

MADRID SOLDIERS NAB REFUGEES IN GERMAN BUILDING

Machine Guns Back Up Action of Loyalist Forces — Seizure Follows Recognition of Insurgent Regime

Britain Sends Warships

VALETTA, Malta, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Great Britain's first submarine flotilla, composed of the depot ship Cyclops and eight submarines, was reported to have left for Spain today.

The third destroyer flotilla, composed of H. M. S. Galatea and nine destroyers, was understood to be leaving for the Spanish peninsula Thursday.

MADRID, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Heavily armed government militiamen this afternoon seized and sealed up the German and Italian embassies, arresting a number of Spanish political refugees who had been living in the German embassy.

Diplomatic officials of both countries already had left Madrid.

The buildings were occupied and searched shortly after 1 p. m., and then sealed.

The militiamen, who had surrounded the German embassy with machine guns prior to expiration of 24-hour ultimatum ordering some 90 rightist refugees to evacuate, found no one in the Italian mission.

Some of the refugees from the German embassy, however, were evacuated by the Chilean, Netherlands, Norwegian and Rumanian legations and given shelter prior to the militia occupation.

The 24-hour ultimatum followed upon German and Italian recognition of the insurgent regime.

By the Associated Press.
 Great Britain and France took quick measures today to protect their merchant ships from molestation in Spanish waters, just as the Madrid government formally charged the "foreign warships" were aiding insurgent attacks on the socialist fleet.

Britain, reported in informed circles to have characterized an insurgent explanation of their blockade intentions as unsatisfactory, was believed to have ordered four submarines and a depot ship to Spain.

To Protect Ships.
 This reported maneuver from the Malta naval base followed quickly upon Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's warning in the house of commons that British warships would protect British merchantmen from attack by either side in the months-long battle between socialism and fascism in Spain.

The French government instructed

SUSPENSIONS PERIL UNIONISM IS WORD

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 24.—(AP) Chas. P. Howard, president of the typographical union, accused American Federation of Labor leaders today of "starting the federation toward destruction" by continuing indefinitely the suspension of John L. Lewis' 10 rebel unions.

Howard is secretary of Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

"The issue which has split the trade union movement into what is certain to become determined groups," Howard said, "is whether or not the executive council of the American Federation of Labor is to be governed by its constitution. Nowhere in that document is authority delegated to the executive council to suspend an international union for any cause whatever."

BUDAPEST BANTAM WINGS ONE OPPONENT IN DUEL

BUDAPEST, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Dr. Franz Sarga, Budapest's tiny but ambitious duelist, fought two of his nine scheduled encounters with 14-inch pistols today and wounded one opponent.

The duels were unhurt and triumphant. The duels were fought in almost complete darkness, one immediately following the other in a stubby west field ten miles from Budapest.

Alexander Kovacs, a bank employe and the second opponent, got a ball in the arm from Sarga's rented mangle-loader.

A moment before, the roly-poly Sarga had exchanged erratic fire with Aladar Horvath, a bank manager. The bullets whistled by harmlessly.

Then Horvath and Sarga, reconciled all of a sudden, embraced each other.

SLIDE DESTROYS HYDRO PLANT ON PUYALLUP RIVER

Five Million Dollar Generating Layout Buried in Sudden Rush of Water, Mud and Rock — Two Escape

ELECTRON, Wash., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Bursting from a large penstock without warning, a flood of water, mud and rock completely destroyed the Electron hydro-electric plant of the Puget Sound Power & Light Co. at 10:45 p. m. Monday. The plant, with adjacent reservoirs and pipes, cost nearly $5,000,000 to build in 1900.

Two men on the building escaped when it was crushed under the slide, which crashed down the mountain into the south fork of the Puyallup river. James Spencer, 25, received slight head and arm cuts. Walter Butler was uninjured.

This small town, located 30 miles south of Tacoma, was left without water or lights.

Company officials who refused to be quoted estimated total damage to the plant might be only $1,000,000, since much of the expense of the installation in 1900 was in the reservoirs and piers.

The plant, known as a "stream-flow" installation, was located in a deep canyon of the river. A 10-acre reservoir 854 feet above it on a side canyon fed the water through four 84-inch penstocks to the plant itself. Breakage of one of these pipes started the avalanche.

The Tacoma street railway was left without power for nearly 15 minutes before sub-station operators were able to re-route power from other company stations. Lights in Puyallup and other nearby towns were also affected.

Trees, dirt and rock were piled high on the plant this morning as a large crew of workers attempted to determine the exact extent of the damage and the cause of the slide.

Tacoma officials in Tacoma refused to comment until learning additional details.

Goudy Says State Committee Will Not Approve Elimination of Those Over 65 From Employment

PORTLAND, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Speaking before the Association of Oregon Counties today, Elmer R. Goudy, administrator of the Oregon state relief committee said the state relief committee "has not, nor will not approve the recent arbitrary elimination of all persons more than 65 years old from WPA rolls of the state," and that the relief committee had informally entered a protest to the move.

Goudy, speaking for Chairman J. H. Lubin of the state relief committee, said that neither he nor his staff would give any assurance that "persons dropped from the works progress administration will be automatically returned to the state relief rolls."

Goudy further said any persons removed from the federal agency "may be considered for state relief on the basis of his need, but that relief provided for them must come from available funds, and providing applicants meet the qualifications of the state law."

Goudy said from what he could ascertain, there would be about 750 persons in Multnomah county alone dropped from work if the proposed WPA move is carried out.

C. C. Chapman, editor of the Oregon Voter, addressing the association, assailed Harry Hopkins and the WPA and claimed the move was for the purpose "of extending from congress a good billion dollars for their program."

"The WPA is the only department of the government that has failed to
