News reports reveal a revival of the "badger game" in metropolitan centers as a means of separating the glib from their wallets.

"Harold Host has a felon on his thumb, which caused him to go after a doctor." — (Pine Creek Items) — Enough to provoke assault.

There are no signs of winter—not even a 1937 calendar.

The football team has concluded its season, which can be classified as not too good, and not too bad—a sort of Yes & No proposition.

"The Monroe Doctrine" after a long period in moth-balls, looms as a national issue.

"HOLLYWOOD BARBERS KNOW THEIR OWN AND CUSTOMERS' BUSINESS"—(Hollie Oregon Journal)—Things are so strangely different in the capital of the film world.

A Momentous Meeting

THIS much is certain. President Roosevelt is now engaged in the most important task that could confront any national ruler on the surface of the earth.

As has been previously stated in this column the one dark cloud, on the horizon of this country, and every other, is war.

Fear that such a war in Europe may occur, undoubtedly provided one of the chief reasons for the president making this trip to South America at this time.

But there is far more in this conference than that. With his good neighbor policy as a starting point, President Roosevelt undoubtedly will endeavor, to pave the way, for a working agreement between North and South America, which will be devoted toward preventing a general war in EUROPE.

It is disheartening to note, certain influential newspapers in this country, which should know better, are already sowing the seeds of suspicion and distrust in an effort to arouse feeling against this mission of peace.

IN the securing of peace as in everything else, we can't have our cake and eat it too. We can't save civilization from falling over the abyss, unless we are willing to pay a price for it.

In view of the seriousness of the world situation, we feel it is not too much to ask that not only the press of this country but the people as a whole, at least give the president of the United States, in this courageous and unselfish effort to advance the cause of peace, a decent break—a fair chance.

WE know it is something of a chestnut, yet in this case, we believe, it is also entirely true, to say that at this meeting tomorrow, history, for better or worse will be written.

Fun Without Booze

A NIGHT club without liquor will seem to many people a self-evident absurdity. Yet the students of the University of Iowa have started such a club, and apparently it works.

The opening night was impressive, with everybody in formal dress and a good orchestra and floor show and plenty of genteel eating and drinking.

It's a suggestive idea, which may spread.

PORTLAND, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A long silent body in Oregon affairs—the Anti-Liquor League—dusted off its weapons and prepared today to invade the field of liquor traffic once again.

PORTLAND, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Political signs pointed more strongly than ever today to the election next January 11 of Harry D. Bovin, Klamath Falls Democrat, as speaker of a Democratic house of representatives in the state legislature.

Personal Health Service

By William Brady, M.D. Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, but to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

ROBUSTNESS AND PNEUMONIA Muscular development, strength or brawn was formerly regarded as the picture of health, even by physicians, and so today

So far as susceptibility to pneumonia is concerned, robust individuals are as likely to contract the disease as are ordinary or muscularly weak individuals.

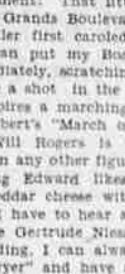

Young adults who are underweight, and adults of mature age (over thirty-five) who are overweight seem both more susceptible to pneumonia and less capable of winning the battle when they have pneumonia.

Will the salt air along the coast turn my hair grey? (D. S. G.) Answer—No. Suitable iodine ration advisable for any one whose hair begins to turn gray too early.

Will the brief paragraph on pneumonia in the newspaper is evidence that Oler accepted the belief that the victim is attacked by pneumococci which are constantly present

NEW YORK MAIL Day by Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Purely personal piffle: Nothing so comic as a cuckoo clock in action. Reading need: More "Walking Stick Papers" essays by Robert Cortes Holliday.

moment: That little variety hall of Les Grands Boulevards where Raquel Meller first crooned her violet song I can put my Boston to sleep immediately, scratching his chest. Just like a shot in the arm.

Choice pudding: Chocolate covered with thick cream and a chocolate swirl on the side. High notch in swank: Pulling up at that special Waldorf railroad siding in a private car.

Once I got as far as having a pill popped for an acute illness—for a lack—backed out. Two reporters with me went the distance and they sick and thirsty for two days.

BILL Tugman is the poobah of the Eugene Register-Guard and Claude Ingalls is the big shot of the Corvallis Gazette-Times.

THE trouble with Bill and Claude is that they're behind the times. That very thing was done some three or four years ago.

WELL, we called in Charley Henderson, Klamath county's agricultural agent, and Charley went around among the potato men and let them in on the idea.

THESE spud aristocrats were hustled to the Osborn hotel, in Eugene, where on the last night of the convention all the newspaper men were scheduled to gather for a banquet.

ONE! Done right in the eye! This bum of a Bob Sawyer had had the same idea and HAD IT FIRST! Was this writer's face red!
