Fleury, chief of the bureau of plant quarantine, said that modified systems had been tried in the past and insisted they would not work. "If any modification is made the whole thing might as well be given up, because the objective of the quarantine stations would be destroyed," Fleury said. Fleury denied that quarantine inspection had affected seriously the influx of visitors to the state. He said: "Tourist travel has increased every year since control was made effective. The summer of 1936 saw 20 percent more travelers entering California than the previous summer." State officials explained that too many persons misunderstand that there is a long list of pests, not just those brought in, by fruit, and that it was unlikely the legislature would let down the bars on an important law protecting one of the state's major industries. Bank clearings for the first 11 months of 1936 totaled $1,334,300.94, compared with $981,474,430 a year ago. The November figure was $121,615,391, compared with $107,822,318 last year. Girls Snarled Traffic BEND, Ore., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Girls who claimed they were "orking their way through college" worked disaster on the normal progression of Bend's traffic. ONE-MAN FACTORY PUTS OUT BULLETS OF FAMED QUALITY

Simplicity, Accuracy, Precision Keynotes In Operation Of Shop Conducted By Gary Police Officer.

GARY, Ind. (UP)—A skilled Gary policeman operates the steel city's newest and smallest industry—a one-man bullet factory. The thunder of Gary's mighty mills nearby is an unusual contrast to the tiny "plant" in the basement of police headquarters. There—where measurements are checked to the hundredth fraction—Range Officer Ray Randolph turns out hand-made cartridges for weapons of the city's police. Ballistics experts recognize the superiority of the Gary-made bullets, particularly for target practice, where the least variance in weight may impair accuracy. Sold at little more than cost, the cartridges retail at one cent each, whereas machine made bullets of a similar type sell for 3.5 cents. Does All Jobs Randolph's job demands diversified talents. He is tanner, assembler, collector, and advertising manager of the rapidly-expanding industry. Simplicity, accuracy, and precision are the keynotes in the operation of the Gary bullet factory. Randolph uses a slow-burning powder in his penny bullets. To demonstrate its unusual qualities he pours a mould on the floor and touches the lighted end of his cigaret to it. Instead of the usual flash and explosion, the powder burns slowly and evenly. When the slow-burning powder is confined it is more powerful than the ordinary variety, however, Randolph explains. The bullet-making policeman then exhibits his powder apparatus. It is hand-operated and measures out the powder charges exactly—something which is impossible with a machine, Randolph says. Not even the slightest weights variation is possible in the moulds in which the bullets are formed. As if the slow-burning powder is confined it is more powerful than the ordinary variety, however, Randolph explains. The bullet-making policeman then exhibits his powder apparatus. NEW PLANT LAW FOR CALIFORNIA MEETS PROTEST

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(UP)—California's department of agriculture will fight any attempt to modify the state's border inspection service by means of which agriculture is protected from plant and insect pests from other districts. Other organizations interested particularly in tourist travel indicate a fight will be made before the next state legislature to modify the quarantine inspection laws. A. C. Fleury, chief of the bureau of plant quarantine, said that modified systems had been tried in the past and insisted they would not work. "If any modification is made the whole thing might as well be given up, because the objective of the quarantine stations would be destroyed," Fleury said.
