Ardis DeArmond, Former Resident, Wed In Ashland

Of interest to many Medford friends was the wedding last evening of Miss Ardis DeArmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. DeArmond of Ashland and Richard M. Amrine, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Amrine of Portland.

The service was read by Rev. C. E. Dunham at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in Ashland. The young couple took their vows by candlelight before a fireplace banked with white chrysanthemums and ferns, before a few close friends and members of the families.

The bride wore traditional white satin, the gown only trimming being a seed pearl-embroidered collar. Her tiered finger-ring set, she carried a bouquet of white roses and valley lilies.

The bridesmaid's coral satin gown and matching bouquet of roses contrasted with the bridal motif of white.

Guests were received at buffet supper following the quiet but impressive service. The bride cutting the three-tiered wedding cake. Bride and groom led later in the evening for San Francisco where they will spend several days. They will make their home in Portland.

The bride is a former resident of this city, having lived here with her family for a number of years and attended Medford schools. She is a graduate of Oregon State college and has a number of friends here.

Among out of town guests for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Amrine, parents of the groom and Donald Roth, all of Portland.

Anonymous Bids Create Interest The eternal quest for something new in the way of entertainment has produced unusual results in Medford society.

A large number of Medford folk have received invitations to a dance. The unusual part of the affair is that the hosts, or hostess, prefer to remain anonymous. And, the invitation states, they will continue to remain so until the success of the affair is assured.

The idea has so intrigued the invited guests that speculation as to investigators of the affair is forming the principal topic of conversation.

Evidently amused by the amount of interest aroused among their guests, the hosts have issued following-up notices in verse, advising the futility of guesses as to who is responsible.

Two Leave on Vacation Trip Among the many Medford residents planning winter vacation trips are Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Williams, who left by train last night for the east. Mr. and Mrs. Williams plan stops at New York City and other eastern points and will continue into Florida, Louisiana and other southern states. They also expect to stop in New Orleans.

NON-SUIT ORDERED IN $10,000 DAMAGE CASE AGAINST CAVES FIRM

Counsel for the plaintiff took a voluntary non-suit in the $10,000 damage suit of Walter L. Small of Concord, Cal., against the Oregon Caves resort in federal court yesterday after Judge James Alger Fee had indicated that he would direct the jury to bring in a verdict for the defendant. Ending of the trial in this manner left the plaintiff free to bring suit again if he so chooses.

Mr. Small set forth in his complaint that last July 2, when he was being guided through the Oregon Caves with a group of tourists, he fell into a pit and was severely injured. He alleged negligence on the part of the resort, lessee or concessionaire of the caves. He sought $10,000 general and $56.95 special damages. The defendant contended that the plaintiff was careless, reckless and negligent and alleged that persons going through the caves do so at their own risk.

The jury which heard evidence in the case Tuesday and Wednesday before the ending in a non-suit was composed of A. A. Madden, John Cupp, James H. Hersey, W. H. Norcross, Ray A. Mikasche, Alfred C. Mitchell, J. M. Cotter, R. A. Peters, R. A. Frost, Harold Zundel, George B. Ichniower and J. M. Branscombe.

Plaintiff was represented by Roberts & McAllister and Williamson & Wallace. Defendant was represented by Wilbur, Beckett, Howell & Oppenheimer, Robert T. Mautz and Charles Reames.

Reduce Varicose or Swollen Veins

SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT PROVE IT AT SMALL COST

The world progresses. Today many minor ailments that look weeks to overcome can now be helped much more quickly. If you have varicose veins or bunions start today to bring them back to normal size and if you are just getting old so.

Just get the original bottle of Moore's Emetrol Oil at Jarmin's, Inc., or any dispensing pharmacist, and apply it nightly and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

In a short time the veins should begin to grow smaller and by regular use soon approach normal.

People who wish to reduce varicose veins or bunions should not hesitate to try a bottle at once. It is so sure and powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time.

DeMolays Planning Dance for Saturday

Members of the Medford chapter, Order of DeMolay, will be hosts to their friends and invited guests at a formal dance to be held in the chapter rooms in the Masonic temple Saturday evening.

Dancing is to begin at 9 o'clock with music by Whipple's orchestra. The affair is the second of a series to be held during the winter festivity season, those in charge announce. Christmas motifs are to be carried out by the decoration committee, headed by Donald Herriod.

Others in charge are: General chairman, Alfard Randley, and Gerald Keese, William Meyers and Ray Cronkette.

Guests will be DeMolays, Master Masons and all former members and their invited guests.

Mrs. W. W. Pritchett was elected vice-president of the Southern Oregon Art association at the meeting preceding the tea for new members Tuesday afternoon.

A large number were guests of the group at the tea, seated at 3 o'clock. Seasonal holiday decorations of bright plants and evergreen foliage brightened the studio rooms for the affair.

Announcement was made that business meeting dates have been changed from first and third Saturday evenings to the first Monday afternoon of each month from 2 to 4 o'clock and the third Friday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

Next meeting has been scheduled for Friday evening, Dec. 18 and will be followed by a Christmas party, those in charge state.

Monday Evening Mrs. Milton E. Coe has announced that she will present her pupil, Kenneth Raymond, pianist, in recital at the First Christian church next Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Inviting artist will be Miss Marcia Van Dyke, young violinist of Grants Pass and a pupil of John R. Knight. This is to be Raymond's second recital. His clean technique is of special interest, Mrs. Coe states. Raymond is a sophomore in Medford high school and is organist at the First Baptist church.

Miss Van Dyke, who is familiar to Medford music circles, is concertmaster of the Junior symphony orchestra which made its initial appearance last year under the direction of John Knight.

Two Leave on Vacation Trip Among the many Medford residents planning winter vacation trips are Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Williams, who left by train last night for the east. Mr. and Mrs. Williams plan stops at New York City and other eastern points and will continue into Florida, Louisiana and other southern states. They also expect to stop in New Orleans.

MESSALS' INFANT SON DIES AT LAKE CREEK

Gordon LeRoy Messall, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Messall, passed away at their home on Lake Creek, Wednesday morning, at the age of two months, 17 days.

Besides the parents, there are left three grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Messall, of Lake Creek and Gordon Cox of Medford.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Conger chapel by Rev. W. H. Eaton at 1:30 Friday. Concluding service will be in the Central Point cemetery.

REFUSES TO YIELD LOVE OR THRONE; BALDWIN SILENT

"The king is beloved. The thing we have got to avoid more than anything else is abdication. Any change will tear this country in two. If a general election were held, which said: 'Why do you wish the king to go?'"

His words echoed those of the liberal afternoon Star, which said: "Why should he (the king) be denied the common happiness of mankind?"

With his heir-presumptive brother and Mrs. Simpson herself at his side, the king refused to yield to Baldwin on throne or friendship. But, some sources said, he may have thrust aside the first minister's attack with a pledge he would make no arrangement with Baldwin for the government of the country and himself.

Col. Wedgwood, commenting on his statement that a general election would result in favor of the king, said:

"The vast bulk of the people hate seeing a man bullied when he thinks he is right and they respect a man who will stand up for his rights."

"Obviously the question is not one for the cabinet to decide but for parliament as a whole as in the case of Richard II."

Baldwin in an unspoken hour of common setting, stood, white and stubborn, to say: "I have no statement to make" on a constitutional crisis.

Clement R. Attlee, the opposition leader who reportedly has sided with Baldwin against the king in the prime minister's demand that Edward relinquish the American, asked as the tense members of parliament and the amazed citizens of the empire waited:

"I would like to ask the prime minister on private motion a question—whether any constitutional difficulty has arisen and whether he has any statement to make?"

"I have no statement to make to-day. While there does not at present exist any constitutional difficulty, the situation is of such a nature as to make it inexpedient that I should be questioned about it at this stage."

It was a stunning climax to a day which saw these breath-taking developments:

1. The king, at his Port Belvedere country residence with the Duke and Duchess of York, Mrs. Simpson, and his closest counselors, was determined to hold both his friendship for the American woman and his throne—a situation which might ultimately lead to his abdication.

2. Baldwin reportedly threatening, with the support of his opposition, his cabinet resignation unless the king renounces any idea to marry Mrs. Simpson.

3. The excited, astonished people of the British Isles and their dominions, engulfed by a sudden flood of vivid publicity about their sovereign and his twice-divorced friend, groping for a decision and a stand with king or cabinet.

4. The Anglican church, openly opposing any alliance whatsoever between the king and Mrs. Simpson.

First Presbyterian Bazaar and Dinner Scheduled Friday Grace circle of the First Presbyterian church will serve cake and coffee throughout the afternoon Friday as one of the features of the annual bazaar to be held on that day. Special entertainment will be provided during the dinner hour, starting at 6:30, and other entertainment numbers will be given during the evening.

Mrs. O. B. Morrow, in charge of the dinner, has announced a special menu featuring turkey, to be served.

A large number of articles will be disposed of at the bazaar and the church ladies expect many patrons will procure Christmas gifts through attending the sale.

SLIGHT DAMAGE DONE BY SPONTANEOUS FIRE AT CINDERELLA SHOP

Fire this forenoon did about $100 damage to a back room of the Cinderella shop, 44 South Central avenue at East Eighth street. Loss was covered by insurance. Cause was attributed by Chief Roy Elliott to spontaneous combustion of oil-soaked tags among the boxes of remnants in a corner.

The back room is used by both the Cinderella shop and the Yellow Cab company at 111 East Eighth street. Both places were filled with smoke. No damage was done to merchandise in the dress shop, said Miss Jane Hansen, manager. Two drums of fuel oil were close to the blaze.

The fire was discovered by Miss Grace Smith, employed in the taxi office. She told Chief Elliott she had smelled smoke long before the fire broke out but could not trace it. She tried to put the fire out as she yelled for help and her face was severely reddened.

Fire losses in November totaled $1,257.90, not including losses on two properties not yet adjusted, Chief Elliott reported today. All properties where losses were incurred were covered by insurance, he said. During the month the fire department answered 24 calls.

INDICT. TOWNSEND AND TWO AIDES ON CONTEMPT CLAIM

(Continued from Page One.) wood said, nothing would be done about bringing Wunder and Kiefer to trial. He added both had agreed previously to surrender whenever notified.

If convicted, Underwood said the defendants would be liable to fines ranging from $100 to $1,000 and imprisonment from one month to a year.

WHOLLY Absent. The grand jury returned the indictments less than two weeks after the case was charged.

Specifically, they charged Townsend with "knowingly and wilfully absconding himself from a house committee investigating old age pensions, headed by Representative Bell (D. Mo.), and with refusing to testify last spring with ignominious evidence of their defiance of the house was presented to the grand jury on November 20.
