

Southern Oregon League Baseball Sked Announced; Opens May 2

SECOND HALF OF SPLIT SEASON TO OPEN ON JULY 11

Medford Will Travel First Three Weeks While Newly Planted Turf Growing — Holiday Dates Are Open

Three teams will play eight home games and seven on the road, and the other three clubs will be on their own park seven times and away eight, according to the 15-game Southern Oregon league baseball schedule released today by the league secretary, Medford, Roseburg and Crescent City are the clubs to draw eight home appearances, while Grants Pass, Ashland and Glendale will play one less battle in their own back yard.

Opening encounters, May 2, will see Medford traveling to Grants Pass; Glendale entertaining Roseburg, and Ashland playing host to Crescent City. The first half of the split season will end June 27 after eight games have been played, with the second half starting July 11 and closing August 22, after a total of seven encounters. Winners of the two halves will tangle August 29 for the pennant.

Two Sunday dates were left open so that league teams could schedule exhibition games with outside clubs. May 30, Decoration Day, and the fourth of July are the dates on which no league games will be staged. The Ashland team will probably schedule a strong opponent for July 4 as part of the annual celebration.

Medford, because of its newly planted turf field at the high school, will be forced to spend the first three weeks of the season on the road. All teams will be at home four times and away a like number in the first half.

LOWER ROGUE DOOMED UNLESS MUD STOPPED DECLARES LEGISLATOR

LAKESIDE, April 13.—(AP)—Sportsmen must show more aggressiveness in protecting the Rogue river or they will find Gold Beach a "bunch of mud, suckers and catfish," Representative Roy Carter of Coos and Curry counties told the Coos Bay chapter of the Inank Walton league. Carter said support for the anti-pollution bill before the legislature "went dead" because sportsmen failed to make a serious effort to offset upriver mining interests.

"Those fellows were lined up seven deep to kill it," he added. He described the fight to close the famous waters to commercial fishing but pointed out that the people of Gold Beach are "now faced with a more serious situation that bids fair to set its stride back to inertia."

STATE GOLF PROS DO WELL IN RAIN

PORTLAND, April 13.—(AP)—Wading through a steady downpour of rain, competitors in the Oregon Professional Golfers' association turned in surprisingly good scores in the qualifying round of their annual tourney on Tualatin course here Monday.

Ted Longworth of Waverley country club turned in a 70, two under par, for medalist honors. His score was better than that of Joe Moezel of Lloyds, runner-up, by three strokes. Moezel topped Al Zimmerman, defending champion, and Bill Brower by one stroke.

Other scores were: Mike Heisler, 75; Emory Zimmerman, 76; Lawrence Lamberger, 77; Eimer Holland, 79; Tony Roberts, 80; Ivan Johnson, 83; Wayne Howard, 85; Bill Lee, 85; Iver Unis, 85 and Red Hagen 92. Quarter-finals will be played off next Monday on the Riverside course.

SAVICH HUMBLER TOUGH SMOLINSKI IN HECTIC MATCH

In the top event of one of the finest and most thrilling grappling cards presented in the Medford Armory for months, Danny Savich sonnenberghed his way to a thundering two-out-of-three falls victory over the Polish Palooka, Joe Smolinski, last night before a large crowd. By his win, which for sensation and wild abandon has probably never been equaled here, Savich, the popular ex-University of Utah football star, entrenched himself more firmly than ever before with local dyed-in-the-wools.

It was one of the hardest and most viciously fought matches ever seen here. The Polish roughneck has been dirty before, but compared to last night, his other performances were clean as a whistle. It was evident that had blood existed in large quantities between the two men from the opening bell. Right off the bat Smolinski started his eye-gouging, pinching, hair-pulling, four-punching and biting, especially the latter. Each time Savich clamped on a telling hold, the Pole would bite his way free. The underhanded exhibition lasted 10 minutes before Smolinski battered Savich to the mat with doubled fists to win the first fall with a body press.

So fighting mad were both grapplers that they couldn't wait for the bell to start the second fall. Before Referee Ray Frisbie returned to the ring, they were standing toe to toe in the center of the arena in a wild melee. Smolinski hammered Savich out of the ring with four punches, only to be kicked and battered into the jaws of first-row customers. As Danny raged back and forth, he was literally going crazy. Savich followed his dirty opponent out of the ring and they had it out among the spectators until the frantic Frisbie finally broke them and forcibly returned them to the legitimate battle ground. There, Savich quickly clamped on a double leg breaker to take the fall. The action lasted only three minutes, but it was undoubtedly the wildest three minutes ever staged in Medford.

Twelve minutes later, Savich was the winner, battering Smolinski to the mat with a series of sensational sonnenberghs after it appeared that the dirty Pole was on the verge of pinning the apparently groggy Danny. Toots Estes, the handsome former champion of the Hawaiian Islands, flashed to a pair of "eight tumbles over mean" Pete Babin of New York City. Gone for over two years, Estes returned with the same amazing speed and color that made him one of Medford's favorites in the past. Baltran poured on the dirt but was no match for the slender and perfectly conditioned Toots. The first fall was won in the opening round with three of the greatest drop-kicks ever unleashed by any grappler. All were squarely to Baltran's chin and the crowd shouted itself hoarse.

Estes took the match in the second canvas during which the issue was in doubt until the very end. Estes connected with three more disabling dropkicks to the chin, but on the fourth, Baltran dodged, grabbed Toots' legs and flipped him over for the Boston Crab. It looked like him off, scrambled up, and with Baltran's shocks of black hair firmly clutched in both hands, pinned him to the mat with a body press.

The opener between Charley Carr and Billy McEwen, the newcomer from San Antonio, Texas, was staged at tremendous speed. McEwen turned out to be short and stocky and like Carr, a great wrestler. It was a beautifully clean match, with the newcomer taking two straight falls in the second and third rounds to win.

McEwen won the first with a series of body slams that resounded throughout the Armory, and so groggy was Carr that the match ended in the following round after only eight seconds of wrestling. McEwen pinned him with the same hold.

Promoter Mack Lillard announced before the main event that McEwen had challenged the winner of the top go, which turned out to be Savich, and that Estes wanted the toughest man obtainable for next week.

KLAMATH ADOPTS BAN ON PEDDLERS

KLAMATH FALLS, April 13.—(AP)—Houses-to-house peddling in Klamath Falls today is rigidly restricted as result of an ordinance unanimously adopted by the city council last night.

Under the ordinance, the practice of entering private residences without invitation from the owner to solicit orders or sell merchandise is declared a nuisance and punishable as a misdemeanor. The ordinance carries an emergency clause.

A suggestion by Mayor Clifton Richmond that interest on all improvement assessments be reduced to four percent to conform to the rate the city pays on refunding bonds was taken under advisement by the council.

ROAD COMMISSION TO SCAN BIDS APRIL 27

SALEM, April 13.—(AP)—More than 200 miles of road improvement and construction of five small bridges and numerous culverts are listed for bids by the state highway commission for opening at its next meeting in Portland, April 27 and 28. The estimated cost will total about $1,000,000.

The work will be done in 13 counties, including Douglas, Klamath, Lane and Marion counties. Among the largest projects will be an oil mat surface on 96.7 miles of the Valley Falls-Cinder Butte section of the Lakeview-Burns and Fremont highways in Harney and Lake counties.

YAQUINA JETTY PLEA HEARD BY ENGINEERS

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Army engineers heard a group of Oregonians urge the need for extending the north jetty of Yaquina bay 1,000 feet seaward at an estimated cost of $450,000. Seeking to reverse an earlier ruling of the engineering board, eight witnesses, including every member of the Oregon congressional delegation, advocated the extension as of "vital" importance to the lumber industry.

HIGH COURT AGAIN DENIES REHEARING

SALEM, April 13.—(AP)—For the second consecutive time within the month the state supreme court denied today the motion for a rehearing on the injunction suit of the Winston Brothers, contractors, against the tax commission involving collection of income taxes.

In a written opinion today the court reversed Judge Carl Wimberly of Douglas county in a suit charging a deputy sheriff with false arrest and imprisonment. The reversal held with the plaintiff and remanded the case for further proceedings.

The original suit was brought by Bradford T. Bowles against Leona Creason, who originally charged assault against Bowles, Sheriff Percy A. Webb, Deputy Sheriff Clifford Thompson and State Policeman Fred Perry, following an argument over possession of a team of horses.

Other opinions handed down today included: W. F. Willson, appellant, vs. Benjamin S. Watts. Appeal from Josephine county. Suit to enjoin defendant from use of plaintiff's ditch. Deere of Judge H. D. Norton affirmed as modified in opinion by Chief Justice Bean.

Los Angeles, April 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Mildred Reubin and her "interlocked" twins — two daughters whose manner of birth was rare in Los Angeles medical history — made satisfactory progress today, hospital attendants said.

A delicate obstetrical maneuver was necessary to save the lives of the mother and the twins because the latter were lying in opposite directions but locked together, chin against chin. They were delivered three minutes apart yesterday. Doctors Howard Merrill and Joseph Freed, attending Mrs. Reubin, said "interlocked" twins are reported once in 50,000 cases.

HIGH WATERS DIM FISHING PROSPECT

Anglers of southern Oregon are today viewing rising streams and river with sinking enthusiasm. The trout season opens Thursday, but according to official fishing information from state police and unofficial word from many nimrod headquarters, it will be open in name only.

A state police report says most Jackson county streams will be too high for fly-fishing, although good catches might be made in lower creeks above the Wimer store with bait and spinners.

Squaw Lake road is reported open but with chains necessary the last few miles. Fishing there should be good with angle worms with spinners used mostly.

The Fish Lake road is blocked by snow at Mesquite guard station, 10 miles from the lake. However, those reaching the lake should be able to take the limit catch in a few hours with bait with spinner bait, the state police advise.

Jobs Found for 12,700. PORTLAND, April 13.—(AP)—The free public employment service provided jobs for 12,700 Oregon residents last year, a department of labor report said today. Oregon ranked 22nd among state making placements in private occupations and 33rd on the list proportionate to population.
