APRIL RAINFALL AMONG HEAVIEST RECORDED HERE

Increase in wind velocity from the south, starting about 9 a. m. today sent the mercury climbing. Readings were running about 20 degrees higher than comparative times yesterday.

Slight damage was reported from various parts of the valley. The Chateau, dance spot just north of Ashland on Bear creek, was flooded temporarily yesterday afternoon when the creek rose about two feet within an hour from heavy rains and overflow from Emigrant dam.

Reports from County Engineer Paul B. Lynning and Olen Arnsperger, irrigation districts manager, showed that Rogue river went out of its banks near Bybee bridge and flooded low places in the Shady Cove area. A bursting irrigation ditch in the Thompson creek district was discovered in time to prevent damage.

Emigrant dam this morning, Arnsperger said. Damage from high water was slight and streams were reported receding throughout the county.

Arrangements for the dance, to follow the dinner, were made by Frank Hammond and Arnold Bohner. Silva's orchestra will furnish the music.

Mrs. Stagg and her assistants will serve dinner from 6 until 8 p. m. Dancing will start at 8 and continue until a late hour.

The public is invited. The nominal charge made for dinner will include dancing.

FLYING 'LAB' IS AIRPORT VISITOR

A United Airlines laboratory plane testing new methods of eliminating static in airways communication made a short stop in Medford last night en route to Portland from Oakland.

The ship's crew of 8 included Norman E. Klein, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Klein of this city, Norman Klein is well known here, having attended school and grown up in the city, residing here until going with the airline as radio engineer.

The laboratory ship is a regular airliner that has been rebuilt inside to accommodate elaborate testing instruments. The plane flies over various storm areas in the northwest in an attempt to experience conditions which cause severe radio static and to discover possible means of increasing clarity of radio reception by planes and airports under such conditions.

A fire at sea; a boy overboard and then the quiet road back to health with a nurse he falls in love with. Is the principal theme of the new film with Jeffrey Dean and Margaret Lindsay handling the romantic roles.

The new color film, "Captain Calamity," co-starring George Houston and Marian Nixon and with "Muttiny on the Bounty" fame in support, plays as the added feature with "Song of the City."

By G-men, Kelly meant government men, and the picturesque name flashed in headlines across the nation overnight. The G-men, led by J. Edgar Hoover, show every phase of their crime hunting activity in the two reels, "You Can't Get Away With It," which comes to the New Craterian theater tomorrow, on the same program with the feature production, "Love Is News."

Rialto's Stars Here Thursday

A talented group of screen favorites, including Margaret Lindsay, Jeffrey Dean, Nat Pendleton and J. Carroll Nash bring to the screen of the Rialto theater today and tomorrow, "Song of the City," a thrill-loaded romance of young love based on fishing life around Frisco's notorious "Little Italy."

A fire at sea; a boy overboard and then the quiet road back to health with a nurse he falls in love with. Is the principal theme of the new film with Jeffrey Dean and Margaret Lindsay handling the romantic roles.

Exploits Of G-Men Shown In Two Reel Craterian Picture

Just as the Marines got their name "Devil Dogs" from their late foremen, so the G-men were christened by the underworld. Machine-Gun Kelly, now in Alcatraz, named them. As the federal sleuths captured Kelly for his part in the Urschel kidnaping, the frightened gunman begged, "G-men! Don't shoot!"

By G-men, Kelly meant government men, and the picturesque name flashed in headlines across the nation overnight. The G-men, led by J. Edgar Hoover, show every phase of their crime hunting activity in the two reels, "You Can't Get Away With It," which comes to the New Craterian theater tomorrow, on the same program with the feature production, "Love Is News."
