CHURCHES CHIDED FOR FAILING TO ADVERTISE

PORTLAND, April 22.—(P)—Established churches are leaving the advantages of modern advertising facilities to the "cults and mushroom movements," Dr. Raymond Walper, pastor of the First Congregational church here said.

Speaking at the conference of northwest Unitarian churches, he urged the use of advertising by churches to reach the general public.

A recent suggestion attributed to Governor Charles Martin, that Oregonians could increase the relief fund by consuming more liquor he characterized as "infantile social philosophy."

Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, April 22.—(P)—After a moderate advance at the opening, stock market leaders today went into reverse and backed away fractions to 3 or more points.

Dealings were quiet during the greater part of the proceedings. There also was a handful of issues that bucked the trend and ended with medium-sized gains.

Analysts could find little in the immediate news to darken the market picture, but the light volume, it was said, attested to belief commitments by the public were small.

Transfers were around 1,300,000 shares.

Senior Play Is Set for Friday At Central Pt.

"The Charm School," a 3-act comedy by the well known author, Alice Duer Miller, a play which has been a stage success both in London and New York, has been selected for the annual senior production this year in the Central Point high school.

Rehearsals have been underway for 6 weeks and the play will be given on Friday evening, April 23, in the high school auditorium, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock.

This play was chosen because of its large cast, making it possible to use almost the entire senior class, and because the parts are youthful and well adapted to the cast.

Those taking part are Richard Jewett, Bill Grimes, Donald Smith, Kenneth Hood, Everett Atkins, George Curtright, Erna Thompson, Janice Nealon, Libby Hamilton, Clarabelle Broad, Millie McCord, Norma Holland, Robert Wertz, Roberta Parkey, Gertrude Moore, and Maryan Tucker.

Business managers are Roger Lawrence and Elden Stevens. Stage and property managers are Donald Niedermeyer and Robert Gonder.

VAN DYKE SPEAKS TO POLICE CLASS

The third weekly police training school sponsored by the League of Oregon Cities and the University of Oregon was held in the council chamber of the city hall yesterday with a good attendance of law enforcement officers of southern Oregon on hand to hear Frank Van Dyke, Ashland city attorney, give the main address.

Van Dyke spoke on "City Ordinances," pointing out their relation to state and national laws and told of the necessity of policemen being fully acquainted with their local ordinances.

Chief of Police Clatous McCredie, local chairman of the school, announced that the speaker next Wednesday would be Detective Orville B. Williams of the Portland Bureau of Police. His address would be on "Laws of Arrest, Searches and Seizures."

Following are the officers attending the meeting yesterday: Joe Cave, Walter J. Reinking, C. J. Moser, Clyde C. Fichtner, Charles Claus and Chief McCredie of Medford; Ken Williams, C. M. Dallas and Chief of Police J. P. Graybill of Grants Pass; E. W. Hodgepeth, Central Point police chief, and Pat Dunn and Floyd Clark of Ashland.
