REGISTERED HERD OF CATTLE BOUGHT FOR LOCAL DAIRY

W. J. Dougherty Buys Quality Holsteins of Carnation Milk Farms — Shipment Comprises 18 Cows, Bull

Dairy industry of Jackson county was today a step nearer national recognition as the result of the purchase of a herd of purebred, registered Holsteins by W. J. Dougherty for his Brookhurst Orchard farm two miles out of town on Crater Lake highway.

The herd comprised 18 cows and a bull. It has been augmented since its recent delivery here by the arrival of two calves, one a heifer, the other a bull.

The cattle came from Duvall, Wash., purchased from the Carnation Milk Farms, recognized as the world's greatest breeder of Holsteins.

Buildings Modernized. It is understood the herd represents an investment of several thousand dollars. In addition to this outlay Mr. Dougherty has modernized his farm buildings and installed up-to-date equipment to meet all legal requirements pertaining to sanitation.

Ten of the cows are now being milked and they are averaging six gallons daily each. Mr. Dougherty said. He is disposing of the milk through the Sonoma cheese factory in Central Point. He indicated that he might market the milk for home consumption either independently or through an established distributor.

Has Large Tracts. Mr. Dougherty has been here about opposite the Subway Terminal LOS ANGELES

FIRST LADY, MRS. HUGHES FETED

Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes (left), wife of the chief justice of the United States, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt were guests of honor at a luncheon in Washington. They are shown chatting informally. Chief Justice Hughes is one of the six justices who would be affected by President Roosevelt's court reorganization program.

12 years. He has been operating a pear orchard and last year marketed about 30,000 boxes of the fruit through Southern Oregon Sales, Inc. He owns two tracts. The Brookhurst orchard comprises 60 acres, and to the north is another tract of 86 acres.

All of the Holstein are registered stock and the transfer papers are to be forwarded for recording to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America at Brattleboro, Vt.

Pedigree Stock. The quality of Mr. Dougherty's herd is indicated by the pedigree of the bull, named Carnation Inka Segis Lad, the bull was sired by Carnation Inka Walker Lad, son of Sir Inka May, who was all-American show bull and who sired many all-American winners.

Dam of Carnation Inka Segis Lad is Carnation Bracelet Bessie Walker who, tested when freshened with her first calf on three-time milking, produced 16,451 pounds of milk containing 582 pounds of fat or 727 pounds of butter.

Dam of Carnation Inka Segis Lad is Carnation Ormsby Newaukum who has a record as a four-year-old of 24,357 pounds of milk, and 1,097 pounds of butter and who is a daughter of Matador Segis Ormsby, held to be the greatest sire of production of any bull of any breed.

STEINER WILL BATTLE FOR SALMON CULTURE WASHINGTON, April 29.—(AP)—Senators Frederick Steiwer of Oregon and Louis Schwelmbach of Washington will unite in efforts to obtain half a million dollars in federal funds for the salmon industry.

They will sponsor a bill to establish, operate and maintain one or more fish culture stations in Oregon, Washington and Idaho. The proposal has the support of fish commission officials in the northwest, as well as Columbia river fishermen's organizations.

HELP OF STATES SEEN AS NEED IN CONSERVING FISH

Hatcheries Not Sole Solution Nor Can Action Be Taken By Federal Government, Commissioner Says

By Frank T. Bell (U. S. Commissioner of Fisheries) Two news items appearing in Oregon and Washington papers recently are of great concern to conservationists throughout the country.

The other item is an announcement that Columbia river fishing interests will file suit against the federal government for alleged damages resulting from dam construction.

Almost anyone you meet will tell you about the work of the bureau of fisheries or of the state fish and game commissions.

But people generally do not understand the true place of the hatchery in fishery conservation work.

Understanding Lack. The reason why hatcheries are so completely accepted by the public I think, is that they closely resemble a financial institution run by a conservative and trustworthy banker.

But people generally do not understand the true place of the hatchery in fishery conservation work.

To begin with, a hatchery saves numerous eggs and young fish by protecting them from their natural enemies.

They keep books and publish from time to time large and impressive figures.

As a result of this conservation of the early stages of life, probably more fish are able to reach maturity than was possible under natural propagation alone.

Limitations Cited. But artificial hatching has definite limitations. At best it is only a supplement for natural spawning.

The survivors reach the sea but at length they must return, this time full grown; and if they have escaped up to this point, they must not only navigate the stream again through its numerous hazards but they may now be caught by the nets of fishermen; and there ends their usefulness as producers of spawn.

It is the problem of fishery conservationists to see how spawning may be promoted. The sources of pollution must be discovered and controlled so as to stop the poisoning of fish by the waste products from cities and factories.

STATE MEET TO EYE STREAM POLLUTION

SALEM, April 29.—(AP)—The state board of control announced today a state-wide meeting to consider the problem of stream pollution would be called within the next two or three weeks.

Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer, asked that the meeting be called and was authorized to name the place and date. All individuals and groups interested in the project will be invited to attend.

Both Acting Governor Frank M. Frantz and Secretary of State Snell agreed that the problem was one which required immediate attention. Holman declared that pollution of the streams was injuring the tourist business in Oregon.

FILM PLAYERS HURT IN SKID FROM ROAD HOLLYWOOD, April 29.—(UP)—An automobile, skidding on a snow-covered mountain road, plunged off a 300-foot embankment Tuesday, injuring Edward Everett Horton, Lucien Littlefield and Esther Dale, film players.

A tree 30 feet down halted the car's plunge and probably saved the trio from severe injury or death. All were bruised and cut.

COUPLE HELD IN ABORTION DEATH

WATONGA, Okla., April 29.—(AP)—Girls whose names appeared among scores in records found in the three-room farm house of Mr. and Mrs. John Moore were questioned today after the arrest of the couple on murder charges in connection with an alleged abortion death.

Investigators said addresses listed showed the girls to be from Oklahoma, Kansas and California.

County Attorney Nelson Corv expressed conviction after a study of autopsies, that Marie Williams, 21-year-old brunet employee of a packing company at Clinton, Okla., died as the result of an illegal operation performed April 11.

Mrs. Moore, 50, denied she ever had performed such an operation, identifying herself as a midwife and a former registered nurse.

The Moore home is in northwestern Oklahoma near Longdale.

GEN. PERSHING DENIES HIS CORONATION TOGS ON 'GORGEOUS' ORDER

NEW YORK, April 29.—(AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing sailed for England and the coronation Wednesday after nipping in the bud a description of his coronation attire as "gorgeous."

"It has been very much exaggerated," said the 76-year-old general, when asked about the gold-bedecked blue uniforms, wide sash and ostrich-feathered "fore and aft" hat he will wear as one of President Roosevelt's representatives.

"It is merely a modification of the Brigadier General's uniform I wore as dress 20 years ago, and it simply has been changed to correspond with my present rank."

"Are you going to wear knee breeches?" asked an interested young man, recalling that the president's first official representative, former Ambassador James W. Gerard, plans to wear "knee pants."

General Pershing gasped in amazement. Then he said reprovingly, "You should join the army and learn about uniforms—or at least the CGC."

Rear Admiral Hugh Rodman, retired, who sailed for the coronation on the same boat, the President Harding, also was asked if he would wear knee breeches.

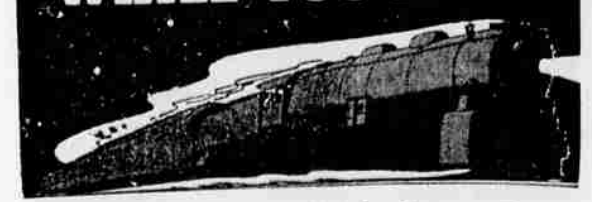

"No," he retorted facetiously, "I think I will wear pink undies."
