PROJECTED PARK NEAR LEGION CAMP

Site of the proposed park referred to yesterday by the state highway commission is adjacent to the American Legion camp area. It was stated today by Commissioner F. L. Touville upon his return from the board's meetings in Portland.

The tract in question comprises 80 acres and the commission yesterday authorized preliminary condemnation. Judge Touville said he did not know who owned the tract or other details as such matters are taken care of by the state highway engineer.

The American Legion camp is situated on the Rogue river near the Peyton bridge and opposite Flouice Rock. The area comprises about 40 acres. The Legion post here is seeking permission of the state park department to develop the site into a campground as a community project, it is understood.

the house was going to vote for his supreme court program and, therefore, their candidate for the job must be taken care of.

That's the way it goes.

Economy is developing into one of those great reforms which everyone is for—for the other fellow.

Many a congressman is complaining that his mail on the budget and relief expenditures is a puzzle. The legislators get letters one day from business organizations, including chambers of commerce, asking support for public buildings in their locality, protesting against abolition of some federal offices, etc.

The very next day they get letters from the same or similar groups of well-grounded people demanding that the country be saved from inflation by rigid economy.

An Iowa congressman received a letter from a man on relief strongly endorsing economy. But he wound up the letter by saying he needed more money and wanted the congressman to get it out of the federal government.

The august senate is never like that, or almost never. Leading senators took their courage in hand the other day and squeezed $3,000,000 out of the bill making appropriations for the commerce, state, labor and justice departments. They were quite proud of themselves and did considerable bragging about their handiwork. Several senators actually arose and congratulated themselves publicly.

No one pointed out that, while the senate did cut the bill $3,000,000 under the budget, it granted the bureau of commerce the $4,000,000 contract authorization, which was not counted in the totals.

If this amount had been counted, and it should have been, practically speaking, because the amount will be spent, then their proud savings was a minus $1,000,000 instead of the $3,000,000.

Young Henry Cabot Lodge, grandson of the illustrious Massachusetts senator, tells this on himself. During his successful campaign last fall, he delivered an address on peace, setting forth a carefully studied plan. At the conclusion, a few handclaps were heard. His disappointment was so keen he confided in an old politician, who said:

"Son, forget your philosophy. Next time just wave your arms and shout: 'I am for peace.'"

Lodge tried it at the next meeting and brought the audience to its feet cheering.
