In addition, Drifts of snow at park headquarters this morning was down to 112 inches.

Black Legion Film Thrills At Rialto

Lifted directly from the banterlines and news columns of the daily papers of a few weeks ago is the thrilling melodrama "Black Legion," which opened a three-day run yesterday at the Rialto theater. This production was begun a few days after the press revealed that a secret organization was operating in Michigan, and was concluded, according to studio officials on the very day a Detroit judge sentenced the hooded order's officials to life imprisonment.

As timely as today's newspaper, "Black Legion" gripped the interest and won the applause of deeply moved audiences at the Rialto. If it were purely a fictional story, it would have been an excellent movie. But containing, as it does, so many close parallels to the truth about the dastardly night-riders, it has tremendous additional power as a social document. "Motor Madness," a light, airy romance of speed-boat life featuring Rosalind Keith and Allen Brook plays as the added attraction with "Black Legion."

Mother's Day Song—With words by Elroy Henderson, poet and author; music by A. V. Graves, and arrangement by Fred Alton Haight, all of Medford, a song "Mother," will be given a prominent place in the Eagles lodge mothers' day program this year. Copies of the song are to go on sale tomorrow.

Trout Limit Caught—Dr. C. E. Kuntz and Ernest M. West, Medford anglers, and William Oden of Butte Falls each caught the limit of trout yesterday. They fished in the Big Butte above Butte Falls, using salmon eggs as lure. Others who fished on small streams reported poor luck.

Persons wanting licenses or permits to drive cars are requested to see him at that time. Copies of booklets on which the written tests are based may be procured at city or state police headquarters.

SUIT FOR $75,000 IN TRAFFIC CRASH OPENS WEDNESDAY

The damage suit of Gertrude M. Moffett for $75,000, against J. J. Hendricks, operator of a fleet of motor trucks, will start Wednesday in circuit court before Judge H. D. Norton. The action for one of the largest amounts in the legal records of Jackson county is based upon an auto accident September 27 at the Voorhes crossing intersection with the Pacific highway, involving a Chevrolet auto, driven by Jack Belling, in which the plaintiff was a passenger; a Buick driven by Helmer O. Moen, and a truck and trailer, belonging to the defendant, and driven by Thomas M. Hall. The accident occurred in mid-afternoon.

It is alleged in the complaint that the truck, loaded with fish oil en route from Coos bay to San Francisco, in attempting to pass an auto on the highway, struck the auto driven by Moen, as he was attempting to turn into the Voorhes crossing road, causing the truck to hit the auto in which Gertrude M. Moffett was riding. The car turned over and plunged into the ditch. Negligence by Hall is alleged to have caused the accident.

The plaintiff alleges that as a result of the accident she sustained injuries that caused one of her legs to shorten, back injuries of a permanent nature, and destruction of her earning power of $1200 per year. The defense, in its answer charges that Moen, driver of the Buick auto, attempted to enter the intersection road, without signal or precaution, and alleges this negligence caused the accident. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney Allison Moulton, and the defense by Attorneys George M. Roberts and W. N. McArthur.

Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard Top Cast Craterian Hit

Stark drama, glittling sharp young love tender, fierce, all-consuming, daring—intrigue, glamour, hate and strife—beauty, the poetry of old Verona.

All this suffused with the glow of historic tradition and the splendor of acceptance of the mastery of William Shakespeare.

That, in sum, is the rich, rare stuff of which "Romeo and Juliet," which opened yesterday at the New Craterian theater, has been woven.

From the loom of Hollywood's studios, with its array of creative personalities, has come a work of expression embellished with elements of appeal, with mingled charm and skill, that demonstrates again the motion picture as the dominant art—the best medium of narration, recreation that has yet been evolved.

The perennial modernity of the love theme, and the curious capacity of the screen to make all that ever was in any yesterday a living event of today, has never been more acutely exemplified than in "Romeo and Juliet."

That relentless hate and feud of Montague against Capulet, and Capulet against Montague, classic of long ago, is on the screen a strife of today.

one may be with the plot. Performances by the principals shoulder each other for mention. Norma Shearer, Juliet is warmly real and Leslie Howard's Romeo compares favorably with his best previous travails. John Barrymore's Mercutio is one of the outstanding characterizations, amply confirming all advance reports of his excellence. Basil Rathbone's proud, ruthless Tybalt is sound, dramatically powerful. C. Aubrey Smith, Ralph Forbes, Violet Kemble Cooper, Edna May Oliver and Henry Kolker are others who distinguish themselves.

The meeting of the ill-starred lovers, the famous balcony scene, the marriage chamber sequence, Juliet's soliloquy as she contemplates the death potion, and the memorable tomb scene are contrasted vividly with the duels, street clashes and personal conflicts.

ARE YOU TIRED, NERVOUS?

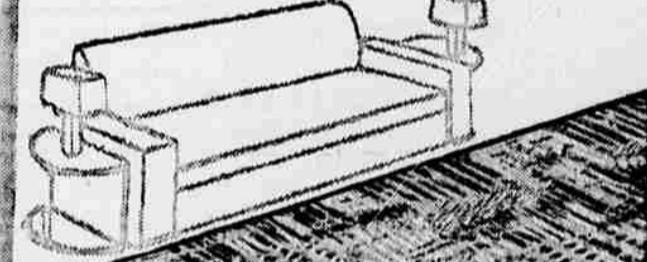

If your day begins with backache, headache and nervousness associated with periodic rains, you need the tonic effect of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This tonic stimulates the appetite and thereby increases the intake of food. Read what Mrs. Miles Vermon of 608 No. Chestnut St., Spokane, Wash., said: "I was quite nervous and was underweight. I would become tired easily, some days I could hardly do my household work. I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and it seemed to help me in every way. It had a keen appetite, gained in weight and strength and felt just fine."
