Many at Fish Lake—Postmaster Frank DeSouza, Arch Work and Otto DeJarnett composed a party of anglers yesterday at Fish lake. Each made a limit catch, mainly silverides though a few eastern brook trout were also hooked. About 40 boats were out on the lake, about 100 anglers indulging in the sport, most of them making limit catches, it was reported. Fishing was done principally by trolling. The road to the lake was described as slow but passable. Travel was said to be difficult from the upper to the lower end of the lake but crews were to work on this stretch before next week-end. There are still about two feet of snow around the lake area.

The United States exported 15,233,000 pounds of explosives in 1936, a 25 percent increase over the year before.

Wall St. Report

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Although selling pressure was comparatively light, stocks leaned backward in today's market for losses of 1 to 4 or more points.

Mild efforts to rally the list met with meager response. While a handful of issues managed to reduce extreme declines in the final hour, the majority finished around their low points of the day. A number touched new 1937 bottoms.

Analysts could find nothing exceptionally depressing in the immediate news, but trading contingents were wary.

U. S. Steel touched off the slide at the start and was followed by leading rails, motors, rubbers, oils and an assortment of lately buoyant specialties.

The ticker tape dragged the greater part of the proceedings, transfers were around 750,000 shares.

Today's closing prices for 32 selected stocks follow:

stern was then ablaze and the ship started to sink.

His account added hitherto unknown details to the story of disaster. Commander Chas. E. Rosen-dahl, the navy dirigible expert and commandant of the air station here, previously had told the board the first hint of the disaster he saw was a puff of flame from the after part of the ship.

After hearing Von Meister's testimony the board went with Commander Rosen-dahl to the skeleton of the dirigible on the landing field about a third of a mile from the hangar before adjourning until Wednesday.

Rosen-dahl, who occupied the witness stand throughout the morning session, told the board that he first sign of the disaster he saw was "a small burst of flame on the after part of the ship on the top."

3 MORE GOVERNORS PROMISE TO ASSIST WITH EXHIBIT HERE

Jackson County Chamber of Commerce today received three more letters from state governors who agreed to have specimens of gems or minerals sent here for the chamber's permanent "national friendship exhibit."

The letters today were from Gov. Leslie Jensen, Pierre, South Dakota, Gov. Teller Ammons, Denver, Colorado, and Gov. Clyde Tingley, Santa Fe, New Mexico. All three expressed their appreciation for the honorary memberships conferred upon them by the southern Oregon Gem and Mineral society.

Gov. Ammons said he had asked the Colorado Mining association to comply with the chamber's request. A letter from the association stated that a specimen of Colorado ore was being sent.

Gov. Tingley said he would ask the School of Mines at Socorro, N. M., to send a stone for the collection. Gov. Jensen stated he would have a distinctive specimen contributed for South Dakota.

Songs, Dancing and Humor Feature New Craterian Picture

An elaborately mounted singing and dancing musical, "Top of the Town," which opened its local run yesterday at the New Craterian theatre, has much in the way of spectacular and modernistic entertainment—a trend which may show the way for revues of the next generation. The film show contains wide diversity, with humorous episodes, love element and melodrama intermingled with its music.

Imagination was allowed full sweep in settings, costumes and other details. The story is secondary to the entertainment it has to offer.

Doris Nolan, wealthy and pleasing to look upon, has very definite, although futuristic ideas about the night club business. Ahead of her time and against her family's wishes, she persuades band leader George Murphy to give her a job in his floor show. The family wants him to fill her or they'll fire him but if he does fire her, he also seals his own pink envelope. He pleases with her not to blast his career and she willingly quits the show. His reward is the assignment to the job of musical director of the new Moonbeam Room. But the girl interferes again.

Based on that idea are many opportunities for the other players to turn in plenty of amusement. Hugh Herbert, Gregory Ratoff, Henry Armetta, Ray Mayer, Mischa Auer and the Three Sailors contribute lots of comedy. Gertrude Nielsen is heard in several "bites" songs. Ella Logan provides both comedy and dancing, and little Peggy Ryan, in an imitation of tap dancing Eleanor Powell shares in the glory. Besides carrying on his part of the story thread, George Murphy also turns in a couple of neat dancing numbers, which have already given him chief runner-up rating to Fred Astaire, in the minds of many of those who have seen the show.

Coast Guard Form Background Rialto Film Now Showing

Abounding with action and dramatic height "Sea Devils" opened a three day run at the Rialto theatre yesterday. It proved itself thrilling screen entertainment.

Against this colorful background has been painted the romance and rivalry of the human story. Victor McLaglen, a hard-bitten Chief Petty Officer of the Coast Guard, has a daughter, Ida Lupino, whom he hopes to see married to one of his shipmates, Donald Woods. Into this scheme of things comes Preston Foster, a roving coast guardman with an eye for feminine beauty, and the plot begins to thicken, building up to one crisis after another with fine dramatic effect.

"Circus Girl," featuring June Travis, Bob Livingston and Donald Cook, plays as the added feature with "Sea Devils."

Wife Of Ed Wynn Seeking Divorce

RENO, Nev., May 10.—(AP)—Charging that they have been separated for more than five years, Mrs. Hilda Keenan Wynn filed suit here today to divorce Ed Wynn, noted New York radio comedian.

Mrs. Wynn asked the court to restore her maiden name, Hilda Keenan, and asked that Wynn be ordered to provide her with "reasonable" future support and maintenance.

They were married Sept. 5, 1914 in New York City and have a 21-year-old son, Frank. Mrs. Wynn is the daughter of Frank Keenan, noted former stage actor.
