

COUNTY CHAMBER ENLARGES SCOPE; SEEKS AID OF ALL

chamber of commerce have been of no small benefit to Jackson county in the past. To name only a few:

"The district headquarters of the CCC was obtained here. Millions of dollars have been spent in the county since inauguration of the program.

"A five-year development program with five sub-committees was organized. This work was later taken over by the county planning commission.

"The chamber has maintained a militant aviation program resulting in the appropriation of considerable funds by the federal government for enlargement of the port. The government was requested to establish an army air base here months before the Wilcox bill was introduced in congress.

"Following the bank moratorium $10,000 worth of certificates were issued in order that business should not suffer during the bank closures.

Conventions Obtained

"Medford has been pushed to the front as a convention city and more conventions obtained each year than all other southern Oregon cities combined.

"The chamber has cooperated closely with the federal housing administration which resulted in Medford leading the state in this regard. Thousands of dollars in the form of grants were secured by the chamber's efforts greatly stimulated the building industry.

"Assistance has been rendered various grower groups in marketing their products, which resulted in better prices being obtained by the peach, apricot, watermelon and other growers. A campaign conducted over a three-year period to increase the production of onions resulted in an increase during that three-year period of over 700 percent. In order to reduce the surplus a campaign was conducted to encourage the eating of turkeys. This campaign was very effective. In one year one sub-committee of the agricultural committee held 75 meetings.

Better Business Bureau

"A Better Business Bureau and a solicitations and donations committee was organized. These two committees were secret but through their activities the merchants were saved considerable money.

"A hearing was obtained by the United States army engineers and state planning board designed to provide the county with more irrigation water. Additional water is one of the major points in the program of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce.

Aid "Buy Oregon"

"The chamber conducted a 'Buy Oregon Products' campaign. The Mail Tribune won first prize two years in succession for carrying the most advertising and publicity of any newspaper in Oregon during this campaign.

"A daily radio broadcast has been made from the office of the chamber of commerce.

"Through a militant campaign conducted to prevent the cutting of timber bordering the Crater Lake highway, the support of the entire state of Oregon was gained and national recognition obtained as a result.

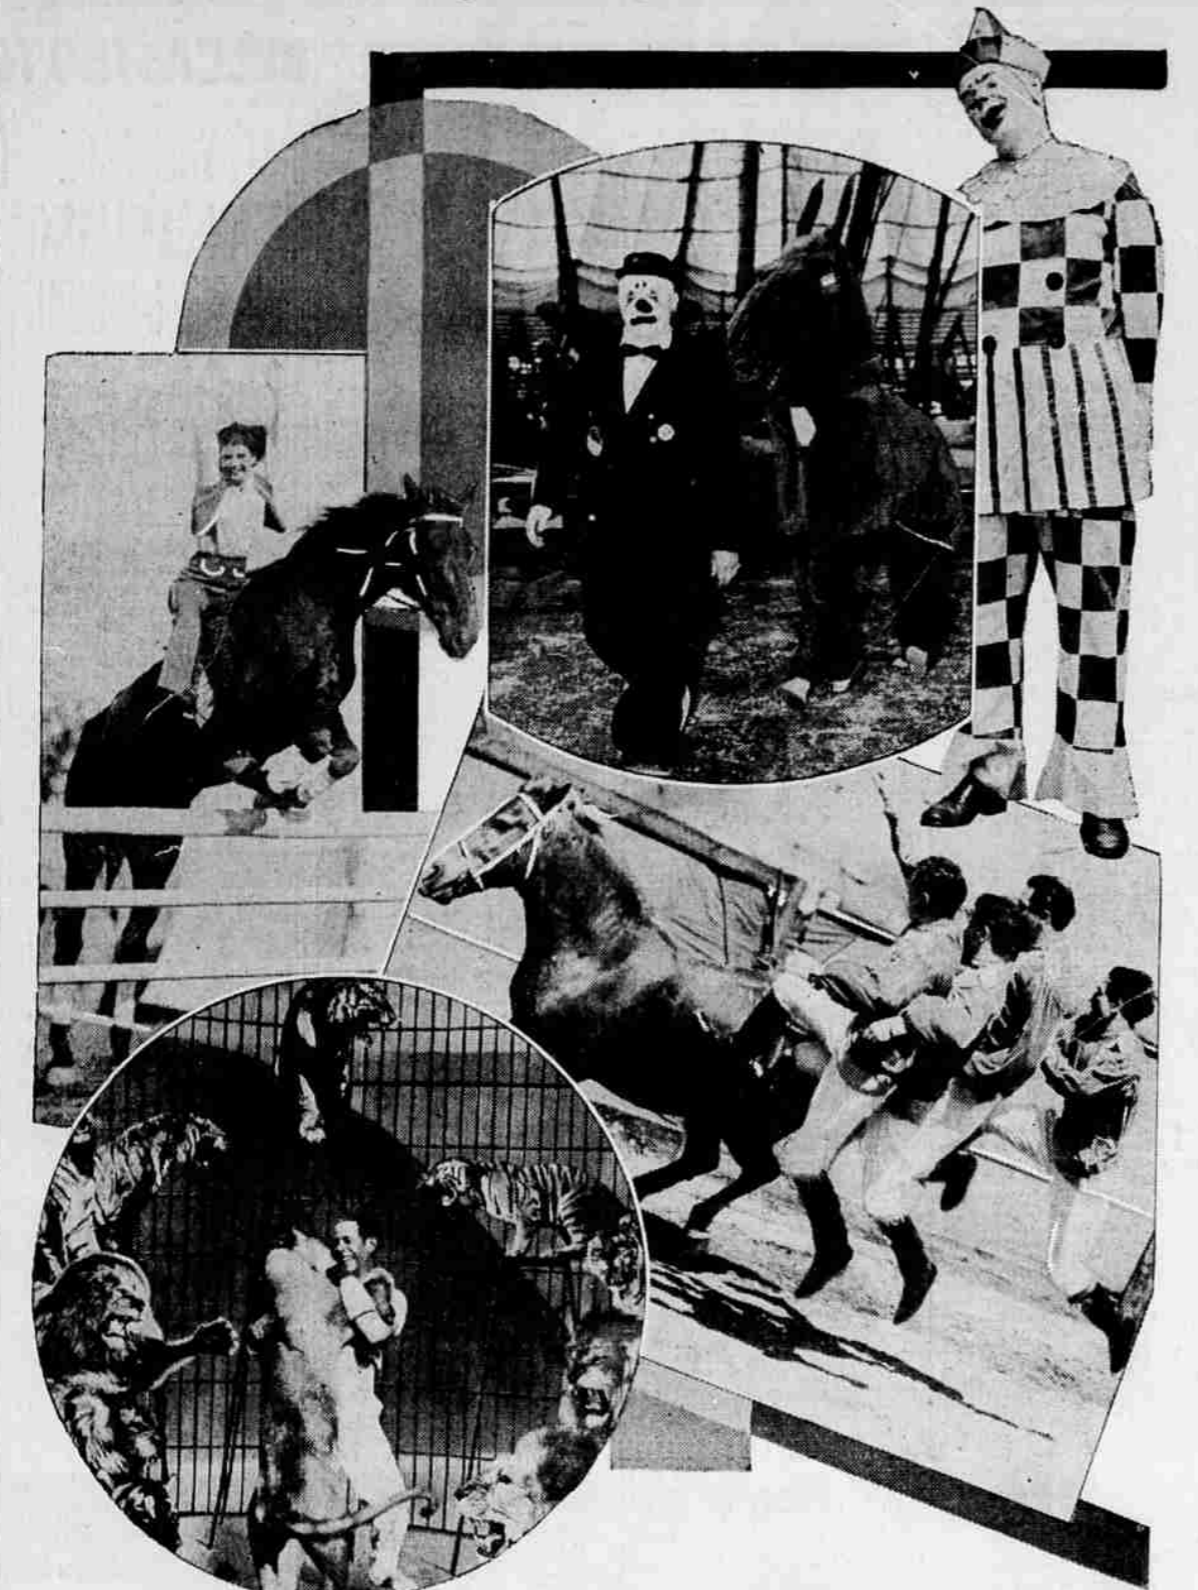

"Continuous effort has resulted in Jackson county obtaining a vast amount of publicity, joining with the Shasta Cascade Waterfowl Association has emphasized this section as a tourist center. Last year an all time record was set by the Crater Lake national park, with the Medford entrance showing the largest increase of tourists.

Benefit To All

"The Jackson County Chamber of Commerce in doing a difficult job well has brought much added prosperity to the county. Broadening its activities and its membership to include everyone who makes his living in the county will result in even greater benefits to Jackson county and everyone who lives here.

"Small communities are developed into great cities through the spontaneous cooperation of all who have a part in the business life of that community and through the kind of spirit that has characterized Jackson county for years. The broader policy of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce holds great promise for even greater benefits to Jackson county and its people than even the very effective program of the past few years could boast."

Tomorrow Is Circus Day! You nsters And Oldsters Ready

Tomorrow is circus day once again. There's only one thrill that the little-boy-you-were carried over to the man-you-are, and that's the shivery, blissful anticipation of circus day. If you have children of your own, you deck them out in their best clothes, and take them down to see the "Big Show" . . . If you are single, borrow somebody else's youngster to take you to the circus. That spirit will be abroad tomorrow when the Al G. Barnes-Sells Photo Combined Circus—with its trumpeting bands, red wagons, spangles, and pink lemonade—invades Medford at grounds near Jackson school. The special steel railroad equipment will start to arrive about dawn over the Southern Pacific railroad from Astland.

Consequently, no end of youngsters will go to bed tonight with the alarm clock set for some unearthly hour, and will dream of a seat in the very front row, with the prettiest bare-back riders and aerialists blowing him kisses from the back of a galloping horse, or out of a trapeze swinging miles high in the air. But the sound of the alarm clock will dispel all such startling happenings, and at the first streak of dawn there is bound to be a goodly gathering of youngsters and grown-ups around the railroad yards—almost everyone knows the circus has grown to such enormous proportions that it is impossible to hold the old-time street parades any more. But the unloading of the brightly-painted railroad cars of their burdens, the herds of elephants stepping from their side door Pullmans, the hundreds of horses, yaks, camels, zebras, and cage after cage of wild animals, promises to be a real free show that will not be overlooked.

Bert Nelson and His Royal Bengal tigers and lions display, in which 26 of these ferocious animals go through their paces in the big steel arena; Walter McLain and four herds of performing elephants; Robert Thornton and his liberty horses; the Cristiani Family of riders; the Great Hal Silvers on the silver wire; the Two Karklys; the Flying Artzows; and the Dazzling America Acrobats—present this season one of the greatest circus performances ever witnessed. Little folks will be glad to hear that the addition of a score of European clowns has increased the fun-making contingent to an even 60.

Each season the Al G. Barnes-Sells Photo Combined Circus exhibits in more than 200 cities. It travels from its winter quarters in Baldwin Park, Calif., and makes a transcontinental tour from coast to coast. It covers more than 20,000 miles, and, in 28 years, has grown to be one of the world's largest amusement organizations. Every day more than 2000 meals are served in the spacious dining tent. Its policy has always been to see just how much can be given to its patrons, and the enormous seating capacity in the big main tent enables the management to give so much for so little.

There will be two performances given here, starting at 2:00 p. m. and 8:00 p. m., with the doors opening an hour earlier to enable visitors to view the menagerie.

General admission tickets, and individual, numbered, grand stand chairs will be on sale circus day at Heath's Drug Store, Medford building. On the show grounds near Jackson school, the white ticket wagon will be open all day for the grand stand chairs, and the red wagon, with general admission tickets, will open at the same time the doors to the big tent open.

BERGER CHARGES OARP 'SOLD OUT'

F. W. Berger of Astland, former Townsend lecturer, told approximately thirty listeners yesterday afternoon that the McGroarty bill, on which the Townsend organization is centering efforts is unconstitutional and would not work, and a "nagar lit" offered the old folks in lieu of the original $200 per month plan which he said would work.

Berger had endeavored to engage some Townsend spokesman in debate, but failing to have his challenge accepted, conducted his own meeting in K. F. hall.

The former Townsendite intimated that "international bankers" had prevailed upon Dr. Townsend to sell out his followers, in espousing the McGroarty measure.

COMMUNIST PERIL IS TOLD BY RETER IN KIWANIS TALK

Danger of Communism or a dictatorship was stressed by Raymond E. Reter, manager of the Pinnacle Packing company, in a talk on "Where Do We Go From Here" at today's luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Hotel Medford.

Most of the labor strikes of the past year were traced by Mr. Reter to Communist agitation. He declared that Harry Bridges, union leader, told the University of Washington student body that the labor party was going to abolish employers.

Labor does not need the employer class and all plants, built by labor, should be taken over by labor, Mr. Reter quoted Mr. Bridges as telling the students.

The neighboring state of California has the second largest registry of Communists in the country. New York being first, Mr. Reter said.

Railroad labor is endeavoring to force government ownership of the railroads and should this happen it will affect every industry and market and mark a direct step toward Communism or a dictatorship, Mr. Reter declared.

The speaker urged the public to request congressmen and senators to curb labor bills to achieve a fair deal.

OIL ROYALTY DEALS COST BROKER PERMIT

SALEM, May 17.—(AP)—Charging violation of the "intent and spirit" of the state blue sky law, Cooperation Commissioner J. H. Hazlett canceled today the brokers' license of Leo A. McGrail & Company of Portland.

Hazlett said he canceled not only his broker's license but his dealer's permits because of transactions in sale of oil royalties. McGrail started business in Portland in April, 1935.

The action followed an intensive investigation of transactions by the company and the "discovery" of the sales methods used by the broker and his agents, which are considered in violation of the "intent and spirit" of the blue sky law.

CARPENTER IS KILLED IN FAMILY ROW OVER INDULGENCE IN DRINK

PORTLAND, May 17.—(AP)—David G. Harvey, Portland carpenter, died of a bullet wound in the chest and blow on the head yesterday as a climax to what Detectives William Browne and John Goltz said was a family disturbance in which liquor played a leading part.

Browne and Goltz, who investigated the tragedy, said they learned Harvey forced his way into the home of his wife's parents after she had left him the night before, taking their four children with her, following a bitter dispute that started over Harvey's asserted drinking habits.

Harvey was said to have tugged angrily at the door when refused admittance to the home of Mrs. Harvey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hammel, finally using his feet and shoulders to tear away the casing and smash a panel. Bursting into the house, he encountered his father-in-law and struck him a blow in the face, the detectives related.

Hammel's son, Robert, 29, then got a .22 caliber rifle and fired at Harvey, they said. The bullet struck him in the chest, the detectives were told, but he remained on his feet and young Hammel struck him several blows on the head with the gun. Finally he slumped to the floor.
