BATTLE ROYAL TO START MAT CARD

A six-man battle royal will start grappling proceedings at the Medford Armory next Monday night. It was announced today by Promoter Mack Lillard.

Remainder of the program will see the first two men defeated in the merry mixup tangle in the opening event, the third and fourth huskies eliminated, tangle in the middle bout, and the final pair of gladiators meeting in the main event.

Wrestlers who will risk life and limb in the six-man opening affair are Alvin Britt, Sammy Feeback, Jimmie Goodrich, Sailor Dick Trout of the classics, and Pete Belastro and Joe Smolinski of the "dirt" brigade. Lillard announced that Cowboy Dude Chick would appear a week from next Monday against the outstanding wrestler on the coming card.

Singles by Ziegenfuss and Tripp and a fly by Cunningham, following Loverich's double, netted two runs for Huskies.

The Huskies led off with two in the first, which the Beavers matched in the third and topped with another counter in the sixth.

DON MONTGOMERY OUSTS BALKOVICK AS TOP BATSMAN

Big Don Montgomery, Ashland's rightfielder and slugger deluxe, hammered a double and two singles against Medford last Sunday to take over the Southern Oregon league batting leadership with a mark of .571. He replaced Manager Mike Balkovick of Medford, who dropped from .567 to .429 and Al Silva of Crescent City, who fell from the same figure to .500.

Machado, Grants Pass outer gardener, is tied with Silva for the runner-up position in the race. Frank Thompson leads the Glendale Loggers with an average of .455 and Baker, Roseburg rightfielder, heads his team with a mark of .429.

Billy Hulen Says: Braddock Picked By Jack Moran To Outsmart Joe

"Braddock'll lick Joe Louis in Chicago next month, because he is smart. He may even knock him out, but more than likely will just outsmart and outpoint him to win the decision."

With that statement Jack Moran, who fought them all in his day, including a guy named Dempsey, summed up the outcome of the coming brawl in the Windy City for the heavyweight "championship" of the world.

Employed by Eisele & Co. of Nashville, Tenn., Moran was in town yesterday peddling his company's drug supplies to local concerns. He dropped into the office for a short chat that turned into nothing less than an interview, with this department's scribe firing questions as fast as he could think of them.

Moran, who is big and good-natured and shows little effect of his 11 years in the office, said that the Detroit Negro would be at a psychological disadvantage against Braddock, in addition to facing a fighter who was not afraid of him. Louis has never fought a champion. Moran pointed out, and the realization of that and the great prize at stake will not help him any.

"No, I don't think Braddock's two-year layoff will hurt him much," the ex-fighter answered a query. "He keeps in good shape and has been working out all the time. He'll be fit when he steps in the ring, and he'll win, remember that."

When asked if Louis hit as hard as advertised, Moran grinned. "Sure, he can hit. He hits maybe harder than anybody yet, including Jack Dempsey. But Braddock won't go rushing in there and mix it with Louis. He's too smart for that. He'll keep that left hand in Louis' mug all the time and maybe click him with a few right hands. You know, Louis proved he's a target for a right hand when he fought Schmeling. And look at that Pastor. Why, he went in there to stay the route and he did, and he got only a fair boxer. Braddock is a great boxer and can hit to boot."

Moran, who gets to Medford twice a year with his wife (his territory includes nine northwestern states), fought Jack Dempsey in 1917 before he was knocked out in two rounds, the only time he ever took the 10-count. He weighed 178 pounds at the time, with Dempsey about 15 pounds heavier.

Strangely, Moran doesn't consider the Dempsey bout the toughest he ever fought. The brawl with Al Kaufman had it beat a mile, he said.

"Kaufman and I went 10 rounds to a draw in Milwaukee in 1916," Moran related, "and that was the hardest scrap I ever had. We pounded each other until we were both black and blue. We were so evenly matched that we couldn't do any business except stand there and slug, and no chance of a knockout. We could both take plenty of punishment, and boy, we sure did."

Moran started fighting in 1911 and quit in 1921. He battled as a light

DIZZY AND RIPPLE FINED AS LEADERS IN FREE-FOR-ALL

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean and Jimmy Ripple were fined $50 each today by Ford Frick, president of the National league, for their fight in the St. Louis Cardinals-New York Giants game at St. Louis yesterday.

Frick, who spent about $50 of the league's money in long distance tolls trying to get all the facts, sent these telegrams to Dean and Ripple:

"For actions on the ball field tending to precipitate a riot, you are fined $50, payable to this office within five days."

No one else was fined.

(By the Associated Press.) The pitching argument of the era—Carl Hubbell's brains vs. Dizzy Dean's good right arm—is still a long way from being settled, but for the moment there seems little to offer against the nomination of "King Carl" as the best hurler in the game today.

Despite his all-time high run of 22 straight victories, it was another angle, generally overlooked in the first fling and excitement of the 4-1 beating Hubbell and the Cardinals yesterday, which explains as much as anything why old "Squarepants" stands out like a Babe Ruth in a field of bush leaguers.

When Dean and Jim Ripple started the battle that wound up in a riot, with about everyone remotely connected with both teams taking part, Hubbell wasn't anywhere around. And where was Carl when the lights went out? Why, down in the Giants dugout, as cool as a keg of beer.

By his own explanation, Hubbell is paid to win ball games. And, since flat-throwing, in his opinion, doesn't come under the head of winning pitching, he kept both his seat and his head when the Giants poured out of their dugout to mix it.

Qualifying for the state meet by placing first or second in the district program at Grants Pass were Russ Werner and Linnell in the half-mile; Chris Barker in the mile; Martin Luther in the high hurdles; Jack Bowman in the high and low hurdles and the relay; Jack Hill in the pole vault, low hurdles and relay, and Crosby and Bobby Ettinger in the relay. Childrens was also taken to Eugene as a utility relay man.

The Tigers were given an outside chance at winning the hurdles, pole vault, mile and relay.

After an easy 6-3, 6-2, victory over Jean Cragh, third-ranking Irish player, Miss Marble was given strenuous opposition in the quarter-finals by Miss Pat Thomson of Dorset, who finally bowed 9-7, 5-7, 6-2.

WILLAMETTE TRACKMEN WIN BY NARROW EDGE

MONMOUTH, May 20.—(AP)—Victory in the relay spelled a narrow lead for Willamette university track men in a dual meet with Oregon Normal school here Wednesday. The point score was 70 to 61, with each team taking seven first places.

By his own explanation, Hubbell is paid to win ball games. And, since flat-throwing, in his opinion, doesn't come under the head of winning pitching, he kept both his seat and his head when the Giants poured out of their dugout to mix it.

BOBBY CHICK FAILS TO LIFT MAT TITLE

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 20.—(AP)—Hugh Nichols of Hollywood still wore the national wrestling association belt symbolic of the world's light heavyweight championship today after losing to Bobby Chick of Toledo twice in an hour and 22 minutes here last night. Nichols weighed 174 pounds, Chick 173.

The bout was ordered by national wrestling association officials following reports of unnecessary roughness in the bout which cost Chick the title three weeks ago.
