

Super Speller Required In Social Security File

By EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—The social security board, which has to keep track of 27,000,000 names, came out today with a filing system that can put the nation's best spellers to shame.

The board, setting up the wage records of the people who register for old age benefits, ran afoul of a flock of family names that sound alike but are spelled differently. Bear, Beare, Beere, Beier, Beier, Bair, Baire, Bayre, Baier, Baehre, Bahar, Baehar, Bahor, Bayer, Bayeur, Bear, Beer, Beier, Beare, Beare, Beier, Beier, Beier, Bere, Bear, Beaher, Beier, Beier and Beyer.

Statisticians then figured out a super-phonetic system which assimilates at one point in a huge file all and a vote will be taken at the next meeting.
