Mrs. Mack Gains Chairman Position At State Session

Mrs. Mabel Mack, retiring president of the Medford Business and Professional Women's club, was elected state program chairman for the coming year at the annual convention held this week-end in Eugene.

Other Medford delegates were Mrs. Maude Snider, new local president; Miss Andrietta Hutton, Eva Judd, Gladys York and Mrs. Jacque Lenox.

Approximately 19 of the 23 Oregon clubs were represented at the conclave, delegates report, close to 300 being present. The convention program included a luncheon Friday, formal reception Friday evening, products luncheon Saturday, musical breakfast Saturday morning, state banquet and University of Oregon play Saturday evening and a garden breakfast and informal entertainment Sunday.

Mrs. Zola Morgan of Hillsboro was re-elected state president. McMinnville will be hostess for next year's convention.

Mrs. Mack and Mrs. York continued for visits in the north and are to return home this week, the others arriving home last night. While in Eugene, Mrs. Snider was the guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Valentin.

Mrs. Lenox acted as chairman for special presentations by the Medford group at the conclave.

PEACEFUL END IN FLORIDA HOME TO 'MODERN CROESUS'

Despite his advanced years, he kept well informed on current world events, having his secretary read him the newspapers every morning. It was said he followed with keen interest the romance of former King Edward VIII and his American-born bride-to-be, Mrs. Wallis Warfield.

The man who earned pennies at 7. dollars an hour and untold millions at 70, pyramiding his savings into the Standard Oil trust which once controlled three-fourths of the country's petroleum output, turned all his energies in the last half of his life to giving millions away.

"I believe it is every man's religious duty to get all he can honestly and to give all he can," he said once.

He practiced his precept — to a greater extent, both ways, than any other figure in history.

Institutions in far lands benefited to the extent of huge sums from his highly organized beneficence — universities, hospitals, scientific research laboratories, churches and other worthy causes flourished under the gentle rain of Rockefeller dollars.

His greatest contribution was to the Rockefeller foundation, which received a total of $128,814,000, while other major donations included $129,209,107 to the general education board, $59,931,891.82 to the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, and $34,708,375.28 to the University of Chicago.

NEW DEAL SCORES MAJOR WIN IN 5-4 COURT DECISION

The measure imposed a tax on employers' payrolls, ranging from 1 percent in 1936 to 3 percent in 1938 and thereafter. It was not applicable to agriculture labor, domestic service, seamen and employees of the federal and state governments.

"The social security act," Cardozo held, "is an attempt to find a method by which public agencies may work together to a common end."

"Every dollar of the new taxes," he added, "will continue in all likelihood to be used as needed by the nation as long as states are unwilling, whether through timidity or for other motives, to do what can be done at home."

"At least the inference is permissible that congress so believed, though retaining undiminished freedom to spend the money as it pleased."

Relief Need Weakened

"On the other hand, fulfillment of the home duty will be lightened and encouraged by crediting the taxpayer upon his account with the treasury of the nation to the extent that his contributions under the laws of the locality have simplified or diminished the problem of relief."

"Duplicated taxes, or burdens that approach them, are recognized hardships that government, state or national, may properly avoid."

"If congress believed that the general welfare would be better promoted by relieving local units than by the system then in vogue, the co-operating localities ought not in all fairness to pay a second time."

"Who then is coerced through the operation of this statute? Not the taxpayer. He pays in fulfillment of the mandate of the local law."

Not the state. Even now she does not offer a suggestion that in passing the unemployment law she was affected by duress.

PRESIDENT ASKS PASSAGE OF NEW WAGE, HOUR LAW

Conroy told newsmen the bill would establish a 40-cent "floor" below which the hourly wage ought not to fall and a 35-40 hour work-week "beyond which the working week should not be stretched."

The labor board would have broad power to adjust these limitations for individual industries.

Allowing for a few exceptional trades and permitting longer hours on the payment of time and one-half for overtime, the president said a "general maximum working week" should not "be difficult to define."

"Allowing for appropriate qualifications and general classifications by administrative action," he added, "it should also be possible to put some floor below which the wage ought not to fall."

Hars Child Labor

"There should be no difficulty in ruling out the products of children from any fair market."

"And there should also be little dispute when it comes to ruling out the interstate markets products of employers who deny to their workers the right of self-organization and collective bargaining, whether through the gear of labor spies, the bait of company unions, or the use of strike-breakers."

"The abuses disclosed by the investigations of the senate must be promptly curbed."

The president said the proposed federal legislation should be "a stimulus and not a hindrance to state action."

Although a good portion of the goods of American industry move in interstate commerce and will be covered by the legislation recommended, he said there were many purely local pursuits and services which no federal legislation could effectively cover.

"No state is justified," he said, "in sitting idly by and expecting the federal government to meet state responsibility for those labor conditions with which the state may effectively deal without fear of unneighborly competition from sister states."

"In our problem," he said, "is to work out in practice those labor standards which will permit the maximum but prudent employment of our human resources to bring within the reach of the average man and woman a maximum of good and of services conducive to the fulfillment of the promise of American life."

MANY GET LIMIT AT DIAMOND LK.

Trout season opened at Diamond lake yesterday with many local anglers taking the limit in short order. Reported first to the lake were Herman Ekerson, Frank Hohlweg and Delore Sullivan. They took the limit using tandem spinners and night crawlers.

The Hecker brothers, Johnny, Albert and Otto also caught the limit. It was reported.

Butte Creek, according to Harold Grey, is still rather high for good trout fishing, although they are starting to take flies. Fishing in all southern Oregon streams should be excellent in one more week.

NAVY ENLISTMENT QUOTA INCREASED

It is estimated that about 17,000 young men will be enlisted in the United States navy during the fiscal year beginning July 1. Ernest M. West, recruiting officer here, stated yesterday in describing the advantages of a naval career.

The allotment represents an increase over the authorized enlistments for this year and so the opportunities for promotion should be greater, Mr. West said. During the current year more than 32,000 men received advancements, he added.

To procure highly skilled technicians the navy now gives specialized training in more than 50 trades and professions, more than 50 per cent of the men today being navy-schooled specialists, Mr. West said.

These craftsmen, he asserted, are paid $60 to $157 a month in addition to board and lodging. Free medical and dental care, opportunity to travel, athletic pastimes and entertainment were other advantages of a naval career cited by Mr. West.

SUNDAY WARMEST DAY OF YEAR, 87

Thermometers rose to 87 degrees yesterday to record the warmest day of the year. Previous high was 85 degrees, registered on several days.

A generally retarded season has resulted in considerable delay of the advent of the usual warm spring weather, weather officials state. Ordinarily by this date the temperature has lingered in the nineties a considerable portion of the time, weather bureau records show.

Forecast this morning was for unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday, probably with showers and cooler Tuesday.

— AND WHEN THEY FEEL TIRED THEY get a LIFT with a Camel

Copyright, 1937, R. J. Revere Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina

MARGARET HUTTON —free-style and back-stroke champion and famous for her record-breaking performances as a plunger—has smoked Camels since 1935.

JOSEPHINE MCKIM —holds records in both sprint and distance free-style events. Camels have been her favorite cigarette for 3 years now.

GEORGIA COLEMAN —made Olympic history in her spectacular spring-board diving victory in 1932. She became a Camel smoker that same year.

LENORE NIGHT WINGARD —the foremost woman free-style swimmer—holds 7 world's records, is national queen. Camels have been her cigarette for 4 years.

DOROTHY POYNTON HILL —petite, blonde Los Angeles beauty—the incomparable Queen of the 33-foot platform dive—became a Camel fan over a year ago.

SPRINT STAR. Arthur Lindgren swam to a new 200-meter free-style record. "Camels give me a generous 'lift' in energy when I'm tired after swimming," says Art.

PERFECT CONTROL helped Marshall W. Syne win the Olympic diving crown. "I never hesitate to enjoy a Camel," says Marshall. "Camels don't get on my nerves!"

OLYMPIC STAR. Arthur Highland smashed records in the dash and middle-distance events. Arthur says: "Smoking Camels with my meals eases the strain after racing."

WHAT THESE ACE MERMAIDS SAY—Dorothy Poynton Hill speaking: "I prefer Camels for their mildness. They never jangle my nerves. I can enjoy smoking as often as I wish. I think that another advantage of smoking Camels is the invigorating 'lift' they give me when I'm tired after a strenuous workout."

Lenore Night Wingard—one of the greatest American woman athletes of our times—adds this: "I really get fun out of swimming. Hard work is part of the game. It's grand the way Camels help me enjoy my food no matter how tired or strained I may be. And I've found Camels do not irritate my throat."
