

F. D. R. VETOES BILL EXTENDING TIME VETS INSURANCE

President Holds Further Extension Not Warranted — Two Reasons for Veto of Measure Are Cited

WASHINGTON, May 27. — (AP) — President Roosevelt vetoed today a bill to extend the time in which World War veterans may renew their five-year war risk term insurance policies.

In a message to the house, Mr. Roosevelt said it was not believed that further extension of the privilege of converting the temporary war risk life insurance was "warranted or ultimately will prove profitable to the individuals concerned."

Three previous extensions were granted. "The lower initial premium rates on term insurance policies are being nullified," the president said, "and the holders thereof should realize that the time must ultimately come when such charges, which keep ever increasing, will become so great as to compel numbers of veterans to drop their insurance when it will probably be most needed."

GREEN PREDICTS PROFITABLE YEAR FOR PEAR GROWER

American Fruit Manager, Back From Tour, Reports Trade Optimism and Big Crop.

Although an unusually large pear and apple crop looms for this year, a profitable season is forecast by the optimism prevailing in trade circles of the country's major markets. It was declared today by Gordon R. Green, division manager of American Fruit Growers, Inc., upon his return from an extensive observation tour which took him to the leading centers in 20 states, Mexico, Cuba and Canada.

To achieve the greatest returns from the crops, however, a sane and conservative marketing program must be carried out by all growers and shippers, Mr. Green counseled. Mr. Green has been making annual market tours for years but optimism is more widespread now than at any time in the past decade, he said. During the past year the trade everywhere made a profit on its pear and apple crop and it is therefore only natural that a cheerful mood now prevails, Mr. Green pointed out. The trade, he said, was especially well pleased with the condition and general excellence of Rogue River valley fruit, particularly pears, and this factor has established confidence in the northwest products.

"The trade everywhere was high in its praise of Medford quality, grade and pack and this is particularly gratifying because of the keen competition we are now receiving to the north and south of us," Mr. Green asserted. "If we continue to grow as fine quality as in the past, and properly care for it in grade and pack, I predict a brighter future for the pear growers of the valley."

An important factor in the past year's success was the attainment of the Oregon-Washington Pear bureau which "has been doing some splendid work in the proper ripening and advertising of northwest pears," Mr. Green said.

The bureau, he added, has mapped out an aggressive advertising campaign for the new season, an outstanding feature being a fall display of cards in the New York subway and elevated trains which are used daily by 3,500,000 persons.

Present indications are that the California Bartlett canning districts will have a light crop this year, Mr. Green stated. He added that the national chain store sale of canned pears has been a complete success and there will therefore be no carry-over surplus. Removal of the surplus and the light canning Bartlett crop should combine to raise the price paid valley growers by the canneries this fall, Mr. Green declared. He added, however, that the large crop in general that is now in prospect will play a big part in the price situation.

General economic conditions were found by Mr. Green to be vastly improved throughout the country. Factories everywhere are running "full blast and new home construction is evident in every city," he said. He was particularly impressed by industrial activity in the southern states where he said the large textile factories were running night and day in contrast to conditions in recent years when they had scarcely enough work for day crews.

"The general feeling throughout the country is optimistic," Mr. Green concluded.

BROAD EDUCATION FOR NURSES, PLEASE

PORTLAND, Ore., May 28.—(AP)—A plea for broader education among nurses to co-operate effectively in public health work came today from Miss Annie W. Goodrich, B. S., dean emerita of the Yale University of Nursing.

She addressed the Oregon Graduate Nurses' association. Dr. Homer P. Rush, Portland physician, described the nurse as a combination of diplomat, psychiatrist, dietitian and expert chambermaid. Wilson Coffey of the Coffey hospital commended the establishment of an eight-hour day as an effective method of promoting efficiency.

Three hundred delegates registered at the opening convention session yesterday.

CANADIAN TRADE GAINS PAST YEAR

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(UP)—Trade between Canada and the United States rose sharply to a total of $748,000,000 during 1936 under the stimulus given by the Canadian-United States trade agreement, the state department revealed today.

The department made public an analysis prepared by the inter-departmental committee representing the state, commerce and agriculture departments, and the U. S. tariff commission, which indicated the trade agreement had benefited both exports to and imports from Canada. The total increase in trade was approximately $150,000,000 over 1935. Prior to the conclusion of the trade treaty.

Exports to Canada during 1936 reached $370,000,000, an increase of more than $57,000,000 while Canadian exports to the United States totaled $378,000,000, an increase of $92,000,000.
