

CITIZENS URGED TO VOTE FRIDAY UPON PAVE LEVY

Polls Open One to Eight o'Clock, On Mandate for Street Repair Funds.

All Medford citizens were today urged by Mayor George W. Porter to vote in the special election to be held Friday to decide whether the city's paved streets are to be repaired.

The election was called to vote on a $50,000 bond issue and a special tax levy of not more than two mills a year for five years to provide funds for the repair and reconstruction of paved streets.

The special tax levy would be made for the years 1938 to 1942 inclusive. The revenue thus raised would be held in a special fund and utilized for no other purpose than the repair and reconstruction of paved streets it is provided in the ordinance calling the election.

The election will be held between 1 p. m. and 8 p. m. Polling places are: first ward, 412 East Main street; second ward, courthouse; third ward, Pfeiffer's garage, Fir and 6th streets; and fourth ward, city hall, 5th street and Central avenue.

It has been pointed out that the city has a million dollar investment in its paved streets and it is to conserve the investment that funds are required for repairs and reconstruction.

The pavement has been in use far beyond its expected duration, engineers state. For the past six or seven years scant funds have been available for maintenance work and the pavement has deteriorated to such an extent that repairs must be made immediately if the original investment is not to be lost entirely, they say.

STAG PICNIC OF ELKS YESTERDAY ATTENDED BY 300

Over 300 members of the Elks lodge enjoyed their annual stag picnic yesterday at the grounds on Rogue river, with entertainment and eats coming in rapid succession from 12 noon until late last night.

SALE OF TICKETS AIR SHOW JULY 2, IS OPENED TODAY

Sale of tickets for the air show here July 2 was begun in earnest, with Fred Heath, Jr., and L. D. Jones heading the committee in charge of the advance sales.

The tickets are red label buttons which are supposed to be worn after they are purchased to help advertise the aerial circus. They may be procured at the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce and from members of Medford chapter of the National Aeronautic association, sponsor of the show here.

The tickets will serve as admission tickets to the municipal airport where the show will be held. They will entitle the holders to take in all three parts of the show, described as the largest aviation event scheduled in the United States this year with the sole exception of the national air races.

To enable as many as possible to attend the show, the sponsor has placed the price of tickets in the low brackets, children's tickets being priced at half the adult admission. The show is designed in part to be educational for both children and grown-ups.

The circus here will be the opening of a liberty air tour of Oregon, the show to be presented in the other nine cities on consecutive days. The participants are scheduled to arrive here on July 1, the day before the show.

"It has required considerable financing and a great deal of planning and work to assemble the planes and engage the outstanding array of aerial stars that will participate in Medford's show," said Max Perce, president of the local aeronautic chapter and head of the state organization which is in charge of the ten-city tour.

The purpose in sponsoring the aerial carnival here is primarily to stimulate interest in aviation, to acquaint the people of the Rogue river valley with the progress and latest developments and to bring a large number of private and professional pilots to Medford so that they might see the splendid facilities we have at our airport and learn something of the recreational opportunities available in southern Oregon.

"In bringing this show to Medford, the local chapter of the national aeronautic association has acted with a feeling of confidence that the people of Jackson county would appreciate the opportunities it offers. We hope sincerely that the advance sale of ticket buttons will receive generous support."

NEEDLESS, FUTILE AND 'DANGEROUS,' COMMITTEE SAYS

in itself be a dangerous precedent for the future.

"The theory of the bill is in direct violation of the spirit of the American constitution and its employment would permit alteration of the constitution without the people's consent or approval; it undermines the protection our constitutional system gives no minorities and is subversive of the rights of individuals.

"It tends to centralize the federal district judiciary by the power of assigning judges from one district to another at will.

"It tends to expand political control over the judicial department by adding to the powers of the legislative and executive departments respecting the judiciary."

Attacking President Roosevelt's message recommending the bill, the senators said:

"It should be pointed out here that a substantial portion of the message was devoted to a discussion of the evils of conflicting decisions by inferior courts on constitutional questions and to the alleged abuse of the power of injunction by some of the federal courts.

"These matters, however, have no bearing on the bill before us, for it contains neither a line nor a sentence dealing with either of these problems.

"They described the bill as "totally inadvisable" to meet any of the other objectives of the president. Denying that it would relieve congestion in the courts, they said:

"The facts indicate that the courts with the oldest judges have the best records in the disposition of business. It follows, therefore, that since that since there are comparatively few aged justices in service and these are among the most efficient on the bench, the age of sitting judges does not make necessary an increase of personnel to handle the business of the courts."

No Itinerant Judges. The report opposed the bill's provision for assigning judges to crowded districts instead of legislating directly to provide more judges where needed. This, it said, would create "a flying squadron of itinerant judges appointed for districts and circuits where they are not needed to be transferred to other parts of the country for judicial service."

Adding that this would be "a violation of the salutary American custom that all public officials should be citizens of the jurisdiction in which they serve," the report suggested the system would make it possible to select "particular judges to try particular cases."

The report, turning to the president's argument for the "infusion of new blood," said the bill "sets up insuperable obstacles to the 'constant' or 'persistent' operation of that principle."

It argued that once the new judges were appointed and had grown old

TRY TRUTH SERUM TO FIND LOOT OF RUM STORE THUGS

KLAMATH FALLS, June 14.—(AP)—"Truth serum" and a psychograph or lie detector are being used in connection with the investigation of Klamath Falls liquor store hold-up May 29. It has been disclosed by District Attorney Hardin C. Blackmer. Blackmer said it is the first time that method of crime detector has been employed in southern Oregon.

The tests are being conducted by Dr. Frank Menne and Dr. Joseph Beaman of the pathology department of the University of Oregon medical school. Floyd Barrett, one of the six suspects in the holdup, is the voluntary subject.

The district attorney said results are proving "satisfactory" and would be used to study the case. He would not reveal the nature of the questions and answers but indicated that they were directed toward locating that part of the $2000 loot which is still missing.

Solon Gets Plum. PORTLAND, June 12.—(AP)—State Senator Thomas P. Graham became state attorney and field examiner today for the national labor relations board, Charles W. Hope, regional director, said.

Plan Called "Bold." "This is the first time in the history of our country," it added "that a proposal to alter the decisions of the court by enlarging its personnel has been so boldly made. Let us meet it. Let us now set a salutary precedent that will never be violated."

In regard to the independent judiciary, the committee said "reduction of the degree of the supremacy of law means an increasing enlargement of the degree of personal government."

"Personal government, or government by an individual," it added, "means autocratic dominance, by whatever name it may be designated. Autocratic dominance was the very thing against which the American colonies revolted, and to prevent which the constitution was in every particular framed."

The committee said only four statutes enacted by the Roosevelt administration had been declared unconstitutional with three or more dissenting votes and only 11 statutes or parts of law altogether had been invalidated out of 2699.

"Inconvenience and even delay in the enactment of legislation is not a heavy price to pay for our system," it argued.

"Constitutional democracy moves forward with certainty rather than with speed."

Noting repeated instances in which the supreme court had protected individual liberty, the report said they would have been impossible without an independent judiciary, and that the bill involved every protection in the "bill of rights."
