Two Honored at Luncheon Today

Miss Betty Pask is among young hostesses this week, entertaining this afternoon at her home with luncheon and bridge, honoring two friends.

Honorees were Miss Caroline Crane of Hollywood, Calif., who has been attending the University of Oregon and arrived Sunday to spend some time as Miss Pask's house guest; and Miss Amy Elliott, bride-elect, whose marriage to Bill Barnum is to be an event of next Sunday.

Luncheon and bridge were followed by a shower for Miss Elliott. Guests were: Misses Caroline Crane, Amy Elliott, Betty Vilm, Virginia Lindley, Betty Thordike, Margaret Mann, Katherine Ford, Janet Mann, Dorothea Haskins, Lois Herman, Frances Arnsperger, Jeanette Fliedls, Pat Thompson, Constance Moore, Barbara Swinson of Napa, Calif., Shirley Gladwick of Portland and Phyllis Phytlian.

Reception Greets Assistant Sunday

Members of the Sacred Heart parish gathered at the parish hall Sunday evening in informal reception to greet Father Augustine Myer, newly ordained priest who arrived Saturday to take over new duties as assistant to Father F. W. Black.

Special guests for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. John Myer, parents of the new priest.

Greetings from the several church organizations featured the gathering with Father Black introducing the speakers.

Luncheon Set For Golf Club

Feminine members of the Rogue Valley golf club will gather at the course tomorrow for weekly ladies' day activities.

Luncheon has been set for 12:30 o'clock in the clubhouse. Mrs. Gordon Green heads the committee in charge and will be assisted by Mrs. Fred Green and Mrs. Paul Brinson.

Playing during the afternoon will be for low net and low gross, those in charge state.

Here to Attend Sunday Wedding

Among out-of-town guests arriving to attend the wedding of Miss Amy Elliott and Bill Barnum next Sunday were Mrs. Marie Swinson and daughter, Miss Barbara Swinson, of Napa, Calif., aunt and cousin of the groom.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Rose Eifert, who is returning to her home here after spending the winter months in the south.

Miss Swinson is to be one of the bridesmaids at the Sunday ceremony.

Miss Fick to Summer School

Among those planning to be away the greater part of the summer is Miss Virginia Fick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Fick, who left recently for Seattle, where she plans to attend summer school at the University of Washington.

Miss Fick expected to stop en route at Eugene and also at Portland, where she attended the Rose Festival.

Bridge Club to Meet Thursday

Mrs. Frank Applegate will be hostess to members and friends of the Building Bridge club at her home, 615 South Oakdale avenue, Thursday afternoon.

Desert luncheon is planned for 1:30 o'clock and will be followed by bridge during the afternoon. A cordial invitation is extended to anyone interested, those in charge state.

Leave for Stay In San Francisco

Leaving by train last evening were Mrs. Gordon Voorhies and daughter, Mrs. Sprague Hiegel, who plan a few days' visit in San Francisco with Mrs. Voorhies' son, Charles, who is executing an important commission in mural painting in the Golden Gate metropolis.

Visiting Guests At Ruhl Home

Among visitors in the valley are Mrs. Edward Burnett and daughter, Diana, of Buffalo, Wyoming, who are houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruhl. Mrs. Ruhl and Mrs. Burnett are sisters.

HILL MEADOWS TO BE INCLUDED IN RANGE BUILDING

CORVALLIS, June 15. — (AP) — Two range-building practices applying to mountain meadows and a provision for including mountain meadows in computing the range-building allowance have been approved by the agricultural adjustment administration, N. C. Donaldson, in charge of the AAA programs in Oregon, said today.

The mountain meadow practices will apply only in specifically designated counties. No counties have yet been approved for Oregon, but recommendations will be made when the state committee meets July 1.

The new practices will be available for ranchers who have mountain meadows in counties which have been recommended by the county and state committees and approved by the director of the western division as counties in which such practices are necessary and will be effective in promoting land conservation.

The approved practices are as follows: Reseeding of mountain meadows to approved varieties of grass seed at the rate of 20 cents per pound of seed sown, up to $2 an acre; and construction of earthen dams for control of erosion on mountain meadows, with payment at the rate of 15 cents per cubic yard of fill, and with payment for each dam constructed limited to $50.

Both of these practices require approval before put into effect.

In computing the range building allowance, mountain meadows will be counted at the rate of 40 cents an acre, when the hay from such meadows is fed entirely to livestock on the ranch and owned by the range.

This amount will be added to the range-building allowance established for the ranch on the basis of grazing capacity.

"The inclusion of the mountain meadow provisions in the 1937 program will make it possible for ranchers who have a relatively large proportion of their ranches in mountain meadows to cooperate in the program, while otherwise they could not readily do so," Donaldson says.

Ranchers may also use rail and pole fences in addition to wire fences as a practice in the range program, for which the payment rate is 30 cents a rod.

Commercial mustard and turnips have been added to the list of approved green manure crops for which a soil-building payment may be made, and the list of approved emergency forage crops has been increased by the addition of winter seeded peas and vetch when seeded with small grains as a support crop.

ELOPING COUPLE OF ROSE FETE ON WAY SOUTH, HAPPY

PORTLAND, June 15. — (AP) — Headed toward Hollywood, the 21-year-old son of an automobile tire distributor here and a 17-year-old princess of Portland's famous Rose Festival, staged last week, drove southward today along the California coast, oblivious to parental protests over a Sunday morning elopement.

The couple was Louis de Cicco, whose father, Mike, is a Portland business man and a figure in Democratic party circles of Oregon, and Donabelle James, whose blond beauty won her the choice of her high school as one of the princesses of the festival.

The father of de Cicco first heard of the marriage about 5 a. m. Sunday morning when the couple awakened him. "I thought they were kidding until she showed me the ring," said the father. "They said they were married at a party about 3 a. m. Sunday at Vancouver, Wash."

The two fathers got together over the telephone last night. De Cicco said Lloyd James, father of the girl, expressed the belief that the couple was too young and that the girl did not know what they were doing.

"My boy called me last night from some place along the Oregon coast," said de Cicco. "I asked him to let me talk to the girl. I asked her what she wanted to do and she said she was going to stay with Louis. I guess they'll get along all right."
