The news will be of much interest to the many Medford friends of the young couple. Miss Daugherty is a graduate of the Ashland high school and later attended Southern Oregon Normal school and Sacramento junior college. She is widely known in the valley.

Mr. Acheson is a graduate of Oregon State college where he was a member of Delta Upsilon. He has resided here for the past two years as athletic instructor of the Medford Junior high school. He was recently appointed to the senior high school coaching staff.

The young couple will make their home here.

Many Entertained At DuBouque Home

A large number of members and friends of St. Ann's altar society were entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. A. DuBouque at the home of the largest affairs of the late spring season.

The DuBouque country home provided a colorful setting for the affair, which was originally planned as a garden party but was forced indoors because of inclement weather. The DuBouque extensive gardens were inspected by guests during the afternoon.

Dessert-luncheon was followed by bridge during the afternoon, more than 20 tables being in play. Roses and other seasonal blooms decorated rooms and tables.

Mrs. Charles Thompson headed the committee in charge as general chairman. She was assisted by Mesdames Ray Mikache, J. W. Young, F. E. Bigelow, W. Clement, Joseph Dolbmeier, W. R. Lewis, Frank Gritsch, J. Hunter, J. R. O'Connor and W. F. Thurston.

NOMINATIONS FOR ACTIVIAN LEADERS MADE AT MEETING

SUNSHINE RETURN BOON TO FARMERS

Clearing weather and bright sunshine were welcomed today by farmers and fruitgrowers of the valley after nearly three weeks of intermittent rains. The warm sun will help laying and is just what is needed in control of orchard blight, according to County Agent Robert G. Fowler.

Estimates on extent of blight damage vary according to the locality. Frank (Pug) Isaacs, orchardist and something of a blight expert, figures the loss at 15 per cent, at the highest. Other forecasts run from 20 to 30 per cent. Isaacs states the Bartlett's have been chief sufferers.

County Agent Fowler estimates one-third of the hay crop has been damaged by the rain, but that ideal growing conditions have prevailed for other crops.

Picking of the cherry crop, due to ripen fast under sunshine, is expected to start next week—probably around July 1. Ralph P. Boutelle of the Rogue River Canning company says canning of cherries will start as soon as the supply justifies. He thought this would be in a week or ten days.

To Celebrate Rain

MORO, June 23.—(P)—Celebrating rainfall which has practically assured a bumper crop, farmers from all of eastern Oregon's vast wheat country will attend a picnic here Saturday, sponsored by the Eastern Oregon Wheat League.

A general rain of one inch over the state of North Dakota would weigh five billion tons.

MEDIATORS RENEW EFFORT TO BRING STEEL STRIKE END

June 18 by John L. Lewis' C.I.O. against the steel companies. The charges included alleged discrimination in the discharge of union employees, coercion through the shutdown of a Canton, O., plant of Republic Steel, the use of "armed thugs and gunmen," and alleged "collusion" with Sheriff Ralph E. Elser of Youngstown to interfere with picketing.

Quiet reigns along the valley mill front, where steel executives yesterday called off a projected "back-to-work" march at the personal behest of President Roosevelt.

The tall mill stacks emitted only thin wisps of smoke and the skies over the grimy mill towns were clear as the strike entered its twenty-eighth day.

Almost the only sign of renewed activity on the industrial battlefield was the movement of freight at the Republic Steel corporation's plant at Warren, O.

Halted for the past ten days by strikers, the freight cars moved in and out again today under the protection of National Guard rifles and machine-guns.

Workmen who have been besieged in the plant since the strike started four weeks ago, sleeping and eating in the mill, also moved freely as the national guard troops enforced a court injunction restraining the activities of strike pickets. The company said approximately 2,000 had remained in the plant.

his name and hers. She said that on Christmas day Hunt brought Mrs. Peters into the bedroom and that they engaged in general conversation. She said Hunt became intimate with her again and that they then got up and had breakfast, after which she went to Mrs. Peters' room.

Didn't Understand. "I was lost; I didn't understand all those things," Miss Jewett testified. "Mrs. Peters said the spirit did not move her to explain them."

"About that time a brush salesman came in and carried on to extreme. He provoked me quite a bit, but no one tried to tell me what it was all about. The brush man jangled his silverware and said what a swell show it was, and asked me when the last act was going to begin. I shoved him to the door."

She said that Hunt and Mrs. Peters sometimes talked a language she could not understand, "with vowels all run together." She said they often talked of the crucifixion, resurrection and birth of Jesus Christ, and that the conversation upset her.

Miss Jewett said that after the long automobile drive from Colorado to California she reached Hunt's house at 2 a. m. and slept until 11 a. m. When she awoke, she said, there was a mirror and a piece of candy on her pillow.

"Mr. Hunt asked me if I saw a beautiful story in this, but I said I didn't know anything about it, and I don't know yet what he meant."

She said she was intimate with the 38-year-old Hunt several times at his home and at southern California hotels, where they usually registered as "Jesus Christ and Virgin Mary." She said one hotel in Palm Springs refused to register them because Hunt could not prove he was Jesus Christ.
