Flah had an interesting lecturer's program.

Five names were voted on and accepted, so these prospects will be taken to Rogue River Friday night and with five of Live Oak's prospects, given the first and second degrees, and Thursday, July 1, they will be given third and fourth degrees at Gold Hill.

All ladies are asked to take sandwiches to Rogue River Friday night. Gold Hill, Live Oak and Sams Valley Granges announced a picnic at Grante Pass Sunday, June 27. Be sure to bring your own table service.

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY VIRGINIA FRANCIS Director, Hotpoint Electric Cookery Institute

Come June, the lure of the open road beckons us all and we become a nation on wheels. Yes, summer brings out the kypsy in us and with lunch basket over our arm we hustle the children into the car, lock the door on all our worries and go "carefree" for one whole day. Of course, the big moment of an outtion of hot potato salad. You will be delighted to find how easy it is to make hot potato salad this new-fashioned way. And oh, is it delicious!

The Thrift-Cooker Way Did you know you can actually place sliced raw potatoes and the door day, especially to Dad and the children, is when the trail leads to a secluded spot that tempts us to linger, unpack lunch and relax; in other words, to picnic.

Hot frankfurters for the summer picnic are produced with ease in the Thrift Cooker of the modern electric range.

There was a time when picnicking meant extra work for the homemaker. But no more! Nowadays, just as the homemaker's modern electric range simplifies every-day meal preparation, it can work miracles when it comes to picnics, too. So let me tell you how you can have a picnic menu that's every bit as delicious and easily prepared as any other meal from the Hotpoint electric range.

Let's Have Hot Dogs Hot potato salad and "weenies" are the high spot of this miracle picnic. And to cook them you merely place your potato salad in the Thrift Cooker of the Hotpoint electric range, and then add the frankfurters 20 minutes before the potato salad is done. And there you have delightful picnic "eats" that will give your family more cause for rejoicing than any variety of sandwiches. But, believe it or not, the amazing thing is that you can lift this Thrift Cooker kettle right out of its insulated well in your streamlined range and take it "as is" to the picnic. That really is a modern miracle, now isn't it?

However, that's not all that's miraculous about this method of cooking. The Thrift Cooker has completely revolutionized the prepara-

Hot Potato Salad 8 medium-sized 3/4 cup vinegar potatoes 3/4 cup sugar 2 small onions 1 teaspoon (diced) mustard 4 tablespoons 1 cup water chopped parsley Salt 8 sliced bacon Pepper (diced)

Blend ingredients and place them in the Thrift Cooker. Then turn the switch to HIGH. When steam flows freely from the vent, turn the switch to LOW and continue cooking for about 1 hour. Twenty minutes before the time's up, place frankfurters (this recipe agrees that it's no use dictating a given number) in the Thrift Cooker and they will come out juicy, plump, hot and pinkly tender. This is such a popular meal that your family will probably coax you to go picnicking on purpose, but you'll find that hot potato salad and "frankfurters" appear just as quickly on china plates as they do on the throw-away kind.

JAPANESE FEAR FACTORY SPIES; SECRECY GROWS

TOKYO (UP)—Japan's concern over foreign spies has been extended to the field of industry, with the likelihood that soon the nation's factories will become almost as inaccessible as the fortified zones which are guarded so zealously against prying eyes.

Although most of Japan's machinery and equipment was obtained from abroad or adapted from foreign models, it is felt that other nations are now attempting to discover and copy Japanese manufacturing technique, particularly in the munitions field.

The situation has been described by the trade publication Nihon Kogyo, which declares that "industrial spies" are actively at work in Japan and that gardeners are attempting to thwart them.

The situation is noteworthy in that some of the same changes that have been made against Japan are being used by Japan against other countries.

For instance, a zone case cited by the publication was that a Chinese had ordered a Japanese-made Diesel engine and then used it as a model for manufacturing some of their own. It was asserted last year in American industrial circles that Japanese had done exactly the same thing with American textile machinery.

The seriousness with which Japanese regard these things was shown when an American salesman sold the Japanese an American made plane. A day after he delivered it he thought of an additional detail, which he wished to demonstrate to the purchasers. But he was not permitted to go near the airplane because it had become overnight a "military secret."

The publication asserted that inquiries about Japan-made machinery and parts increased at the Osaka chamber of commerce from 194 in 1935 to 243 last year. Those regarding metal products and chemicals jumped from 4,540 to 6,490.

"Inquiries into Japan-made munition products have increased especially heavily," the publication continued. "This is partially due to the fact that other countries are trying to buy excellent Japan-made munitions because of the uncertain international relations and partly to their ambition to discover the secret of Japanese munition manufacturing."

"The Osaka chamber reports every foreign inquiry to the Osaka gun-damers and obtains its approval before sending replies, despite the fact that this wastes much time."

The newspaper then related the incident of the asserted Chinese imitation and went on to say that foreign spies come to Japan with apparently authentic credentials from chambers of commerce and industrial men in their own countries. Their real purpose in many cases is to obtain information which will enable them to imitate Japan-made products. It was alleged.

"Alive to this fact, factories are taking precautions against industrial
