

STAR GAZERS SEE WOE FOR EARTH IN PLANETARY SPOTS

Storm On Jupiter and Mars Dust Storm Coincide With Upheavals On Sun — May Affect Rainfall

By Howard W. Blakelee (Associated Press Science Editor)
DENVER, June 25.—(AP)—Three discoveries that presage trouble for the earth—one a huge, new spot on the planet Jupiter which is the beginning of a mysterious storm there; two, a remarkable change on the face of Mars which looks like fine dust sweeping the planet; three, record-breaking sunspot storms on the sun—were reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science here today.

Jupiter's storm and Mars' dusty haze have no effect on the earth. But they coincide with the sunspot storms, which directly affect the earth's rainfall and communications, and may have some connection with the present changes on the sun.

Jupiter Spot Large
Jupiter's spot, a dark patch perhaps the size of North America, south of the planet's equator, was discovered within the past month at the Lowell observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz., and announced today by E. C. Slipher.

The spot lies in what astronomers think is an outer shell of clouds, that include ammonia and methane, and "hide" the surface of Jupiter. Occasionally in years past a similar single spot has appeared in Jupiter and has been followed by a cluster of spots indicating storms big enough to swallow the entire earth.

This new spot has no connection with Jupiter's famous "big red spot," which is seen permanently. The new storm spot is however, in the same hemisphere.

Mars Brighter
The change in Mars' face was also announced by Mr. Slipher and was commented on by other astronomers. It was disclosed by photographs of Mars taken in blue light. Mars has become much brighter recently as seen in these blue photos.

The brightness could be due to all the fog and storm clouds dissolving, leaving the planet's entire "air" crystal-clear. Or, as astronomers think more likely, it could be due to dispersion of fine dust over most of Mars' face. The dust would reflect more light.

The sun spot storms were reported from Mt. Wilson by Seth B. Nicholson and Elizabeth Sternberg Mulders, read by Alfred H. Joy, of the same observatory.

The present spots, they said, are running about 150 a day, and will increase in number until January. Then within the first four months of next year the earth may expect their full force, with prospects of breaking all spot records for this century and possibly exceeding 1870, which, in astronomical records holds the top for great groups of spots.

Magnetic Storm Seen
One record already has been broken this year. This was the most violent and longest magnetic storm on record. It was due to a group of sunspots Dr. Joy showed these spots today in a lantern slide, coal black markings that were twisted out of semblance of sunspot tendency to roundness.

The photo showed the spots not only twisted into streamers but doing a snake dance. There were a dozen huge spots and apparently scores of little ones.

C. A. Meeker of Medford Named Vice-President of Group — Leadership, Inspiration Aim New Body

EUGENE, June 25.—(AP)—A story of love via correspondence that was blighted when the corresponding couple met, ended in a warrant today for the arrest of Otis C. Rust of Blachly.

Meanwhile, Miss Alice Morgan of Los Angeles, Calif., was under the care of the police matron to whom she went after meeting her suitor in Eugene. Miss Morgan told police that she had come up from Los Angeles to marry Rust, although their only introduction was through a matrimonial bureau, and they had never seen each other.

"Frankly, I don't want to marry him," the girl was reported to have said after meeting Rust. The problem did not end there, however, as far as the law agents were concerned, for they were faced with the problem of getting the girl back home.

A short interview with Rust failed to produce either reconciliation or money for the girl's fare back to Los Angeles. The warrant was issued under a law governing neglect of such persons brought into the state.

AMELIA PLANS FINISH OF FLIGHT ON TUESDAY

OAKLAND, June 25.—(AP)—Amelia Earhart intends to conclude her flight around the world in Oakland next Tuesday, her husband, George Palmer Putnam, disclosed today.

Putnam said he talked to Miss Earhart by telephone shortly after midnight from Cheyenne, Wyo. The aviatrice was in Sorabaja, Java. He said she planned to reach Howland Island Sunday, Hawaii Monday and Oakland Tuesday or Wednesday.

Bindweed, the midwest's public weed enemy No. 1, can be eradicated by summer tillage at less than $10 an acre, says Dr. F. D. Keim, Nebraska Agricultural College agronomist.

NORTHWEST FARMERS BECOMING LANDLORDS

SPOKANE, June 25.—(AP)—Tenant farmers in the Pacific northwest are working themselves rapidly into the land-owner class. Ward K. Newcomb, vice-president of the Spokane Federal Land Bank, said. Of 735 property sales during the first five months of 1937, 232 were to tenants. Sales for the first five months totaled $2,149,967, a substantial increase over 1935. The Mail Tribune want ads.

Nice going, Oregon Mothers!

Good care—and this fine milk from Oregon farms—helped these babies grow!

Perhaps Oregon babies aren't really any prettier, or chubbier, or smarter than other babies—but lots of mothers think so!

Oregon babies do have this advantage. When their formulas call for evaporated milk, they can have a brand made right here, from milk produced by Oregon's famous farms.

The Borden Company evaporates this wonderful milk fresh from the country, and irradiates it with extra sunshine vitamin D. Your doctor will tell you how easy Borden's Irradiated Evaporated Milk is for babies to digest, and how thoroughly safe and reliable it is.

In fact, many doctors make a habit of writing "Borden's" on evaporated milk formulas, as an extra safeguard for mothers.
