Summer Affairs Take Precedence

Summer activities have definitely taken the center of interest as warm weather makes outdoor recreation both pleasurable and advisable. The past several days of sunshine and increasing warmth have found Medford and valley residents and visitors thronging to resorts of the area. Crater lake, Diamond lake and other mountain resorts vie with river lodges and summer homes as attractions.

Coast resorts also have many enthusiasts whose number will increase as temperatures rise in the interior. Residents remaining in town have acceded to a general slowing of activity.

Many are expecting summer guests, whose arrival will provide an opportunity to week-ends at summer homes out of town and excursions to scenic spots of the valley. Among those entertaining throughout the summer are Mr. and Mrs. Nion Tucker of San Francisco, whose summer lodge, "Rogue's Roost" on Rogue river, will be the scene of numerous house parties.

Complete Thursday Program Arrangements.

Arrangements are being completed by the Medford W. C. T. U. for entertainment of the state president, Mrs. Necla Buck, who is to be a guest here Wednesday.

Mrs. Buck will address members and others interested at a gathering set for 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Presbyterian church. She is to discuss reports and details of the recent world convention in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Belle Lattrell is to have charge of the devotionals and Miss Pauline Vroman will be presented in vocal solos as part of the program. Anyone interested is extended an invitation to attend the open session.

Mrs. Buck is returning to her home in Portland from the national convention. She is to be entertained by the Ashland unit Tuesday and is making other stops en route home.

Moore's Arrive For Stay Here. Arriving Saturday were Dr. and Mrs. Donald Moore, who are visiting Dr. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Moore at their home here.

Dr. and Mrs. Moore are here after vacationing on the Oregon coast following their recent wedding in Portland. The many Medford friends of Dr. Moore and his bride are arranging entertainment in greeting to the young couple.

Mrs. Moore was formerly Miss Joan Ellen Bristol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bristol of Portland.

The young couple will be here until Wednesday when they will continue to Pocatello, Idaho, where they will make their home.

Friends Greeting Ashland Visitors. Southern Oregon friends are greeting Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Carter and daughter, Paulina, of Los Angeles, Calif., who arrived recently to be the guests of Mrs. L. A. Phillips of Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter have a number of friends in Medford. Paulina will be remembered in local music circles, she having appeared in numerous musical programs here in the past. She is considered exceedingly talented as a pianist and her appearances here have attracted much interest on the part of local musicians.

The carters expect to be here about two weeks and will visit other valley friends while here.

BANWELL SPEAKS TO SCANDINAVIANS YEARLY GATHERING

Over 350 members of the Southern Oregon Scandinavian society from Medford, Ashland, Grants Pass, Klamath Falls and other towns attended the annual picnic yesterday at Helman's baths in Ashland. A. H. Banwell, manager of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, was the featured speaker.

Sitorgesboard, the famous Scandinavian food which originated in Sweden, was served the huge gathering. Mrs. George Stark and Vic Tengwald led community singing, with the entire attendance taking part.

Mr. Banwell, in his speech, lauded the good citizenship of Scandinavian people in the United States, and recalled the many fine deeds of the race down through the pages of history. He talked on the future of southern Oregon, saying it had unlimited possibilities, and pointed out the importance of the development of aviation from a human standpoint.

He attacked the many "isms" at work in the country, and remarked that the Scandinavian people could combat them successfully with a tight and compact organization.

Following Mr. Banwell's speech, the society went on record as approving and endorsing the suggestions made by the speaker in the development of southern Oregon.

Dr. E. A. Woods of Ashland gave a farewell speech for Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Swedberg of Ashland, who will leave July 2 for a long visit in Sweden.

Other short talks were given by Dr. LeRoy C. Jensen of Medford, Dr. R. P. Mortenson of Medford, John Nanson of Medford, president of the Scandinavian society and Harold Larsen of Medford, secretary, and Frank Anderson of Medford.

The society decided to hold a special meeting early in July for the purpose of organizing a more permanent society.

COPCO REMODELS BASEMENT SPACE

California Oregon Power company today started remodeling the basement in its building at 218 West Main street which, when completed in a few days, will house the line and merchandise sales departments. Seth M. Bullis, district manager, announced.

Partitions in the basement will be torn out and new fixtures installed. Mr. Bullis said, and added that the new office space would be air-conditioned, as would the accounting department on the ground floor.

The remodeling program in the basement and the new air-conditioning system to be installed there and in the accounting department will be done at a cost of $2000, according to permits applied for in the city building inspector's office.

The new official airmail schedules beginning July 1 were announced today by Postmaster Frank DeSouza. Plane departure times starting July 1 will be: Southbound, 10:56 a. m. and 12:09 a. m.; northbound 8:37 a. m. and 12:54 p. m. Airmails will close at Medford central postoffice 45 minutes before departure times, Mr. De Souza said.

The 10:56 a. m. and 12:54 p. m. planes will be the new United 21-passenger Mailiners. They are being added to augment the present service. The new schedules will provide excellent airmail connections for the east, Mr. DeSouza stated, giving 18-hour service between Medford and New York.

COIN AND ACCLAIM WON BY KEEN EYES OF KITCHEN HELPER

Today on a New York bound plane. There was another one for West F. Peterson, editor of the detective magazine (Inside Detective) which had offered $1,000 reward to the person who supplied the information that would turn Robert Irwin over to the law to answer for the triple murders of last Easter Sunday.

"Sure, Irwin surrendered of his own accord," Peterson said. "But we feel that if Miss Koscianski hadn't recognized his picture in the magazine and reported it, through the hotel manager, to Cleveland police, Irwin would never have been forced into flight and into surrender. She gets the dough."

Perhaps Miss Koscianski would see him again, this fellow she knew as Bob the bar boy. She didn't know. First she would get the check. Then she would talk over two offers for her life story. After that—"He was cute," she said. "He used to talk a mile a minute. He kept jumping from one subject to another. "But I never let him 'date' me."

AUTO DRIVES INTO VICTIMS OF WRECK ON OREGON TRAIL

White, 27, of Portland succumbed an hour after she was dug out from under three feet of sand. Mrs. John Denney, 38, of Portland, her companion, was brought to a Portland hospital where she is recovering. The two women had been bathing and climbed part way up the 12-foot overhanging sand bank to dry themselves. The earth gave way covering them completely. Several children who had been playing there, had left the spot seconds before the slide.

By the Associated Press. Warm weather over the week-end which sent thousands of Oregon residents to ocean beaches and other outing points indirectly caused eight deaths in the state, six by drowning, one in an automobile accident and one death resulting from a sand cave-in along the coast.

Near Klamath Falls a father and son met death in Lost river before the eyes of their wife and mother. Charles Morrison, about 45, drowned in a futile attempt to save his son Willie, 11, who was helpless in the water.

Swimmer Drowns. William McKenna, 23, was drowned at Delko despite the efforts of two unnamed swimmers to help him.

Lem King, 17, a resident of Horeford, near Baker, was drowned in Coos river near Marshfield late Saturday. He had been visiting relatives there.

Elsie Picklin, a beauty parlor operator at Cannon Beach, was caught in an undertow, reports from there stated last night.

In the Tualatin river, Herman Alsen, 30, of Metzger, sank to his death when he went swimming following a heavy dinner.

Anita Scott, about 20, of Portland was the victim of an automobile accident early Sunday which cut short an outing to the beach. She died in a Longview hospital several hours after the car in which she was riding overturned off the highway near Rainier.

15,500 WORKERS RE-ENTER PLANTS AT YOUNGSTOWN

It will provide for re-opening the mills under a truce while the national labor relations board hears C.I.O. charges that Inland and Youngstown violated the Wagner act. At Warren, O., Republic Steel executives said 4,700 men would be back at their jobs in the Warren and Niles plants on three shifts today, but strike leaders claimed "positive proof" that the company's figures were "greatly exaggerated."

In addition, the strike committee charged that "one of the greatest drives to wipe out organized labor that the nation has ever seen is being put on in the Mahoning valley."

Claims of both sides were so widely divergent that a true picture of the strike status is still difficult to obtain.
