Ranger Nee will be in charge of campfire programs at the community house in the rim village. The programs are held nightly with the exception of Sunday, presenting community songs, light entertainment and informal discussion of park topics by members of the naturalist division. He conducted these programs in 1935.

DIVIDED REPORTS BY MARRIED FOLK MAKE TAX SAVING

Astor Yacht Unincorporated, Magill said he had ascertained that the yacht Nourmahal, owned by Vincent Astor, had not been incorporated and its expenses had not been deducted from Astor's tax returns.

President Roosevelt has taken several fishing trips on the yacht. Representative Crowther (R., N.Y.) had asked Magill for information about it. Previously, the committee heard testimony that some yachts had been incorporated in schemes used by wealthy persons to reduce their taxes.

Magill's testimony came after Charles T. Russell, deputy commissioner of internal revenue, had recommended tightening of the pension trust provisions in the revenue laws. In that connection, Magill told the committee one of the remedies for abuse of the pension trust provisions being considered was an amendment to require that all such trusts be irrevocable.

In a statement filed with the committee, Russell said that "information available indicates that some taxpayers are attempting to convert into a tax avoidance mechanism a statutory provision designed to encourage pensions."

Say Profits Disguised. "The evidence on hand indicates that some closely held and closely controlled corporations are attempting to distribute profits in the guise of pensions," he said.

Arthur H. Kent, assistant general counsel of the treasury, discussed taxation of non-resident aliens. Treasury officials had lists of individual names but because no question of illegality was involved, the lists were not inserted in the official record. Kent said non-resident aliens enjoyed some "very substantial tax benefits" under present rates as compared with residents of similar income.

"This inequality," he said, "could be minimized, or removed, and substantial additional revenue obtained by some readjustment of the withholding rates, or the imposition of an additional tax burden by way of surtax upon the non-resident alien recipients of large incomes."

When Kent finished, the committee adjourned until Tuesday, when it will meet in executive session. Magill said he believed the treasury had concluded its presentation of testimony for the record.

PAUL K. LOW, 17, FIRES 22 SHOT THROUGH HEART

The Ashland police station that Paul had shot himself after menacing several other people, Sheriff Syd Brown, who was in the station at the time and Patrolman L. I. Moon immediately went to the Low ranch and searched through the hayfields and barn with the aid of lights, but could not find him. Mr. Low told the officers that Paul had not shot himself, so far as he knew, and the policemen returned to the station.

Buck Reed, who had worked with Paul the previous day in the hayfield, then discovered the body this morning while on his way to work. The authorities were called and the body was removed to the J. P. Dodge and Sons funeral home in Ashland.

The gun was lying beside the body. From the outside indication of the body, the bullet directly pierced the heart, according to Deputy Coroner Dodge. A closer examination will be made today.

Friend of Haab Paul Low was a friend of Elmer Haab, Ashland youth now serving a state prison sentence for burglary and jail escape, according to the sheriff's office. He had also been in several scrapes with Ashland city police, it was reported. He was the "moody" type, his foster father stated, worrying a great deal and seeming dissatisfied with life in general.

Paul was adopted by Mrs. and Mrs. H. W. Mitchell when he was a baby. At the age of seven years, Mrs. Mitchell died and Paul was then adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar D. Low, and had lived with them ever since. Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Low were sisters. He attended Ashland schools, but had not yet finished junior high school, being inclined to play "hooky" for long stretches.

Funeral arrangements will be made later, word being awaited from Mrs. Low, who is in San Francisco. There are apparently no blood relations.

June Enlistments—During June 194 enlistments were made in the United States army in the Portland district, it was stated in a press release today from Maj. H. D. Bagnall, recruiting officer. Represented by the enlistments was practically every section of the district which embraces Oregon and parts of California and Washington, the major said. Quotas for July are now being filled and young men eligible for service may apply for enlistment here to Sgt. Willis Estep at city hall.

Grange Meeting—Central Point Grange will meet at the hall at 8 p. m. tonight. The first and second degree teams will put on work for several candidates. All members are asked to bring their June sales slips.

Buses Run—Passenger buses to Crater Lake started operations this morning between this city and the resort. The vehicles are used on the Klamath Falls and Medford runs throughout the summer season.

Beagle BEAGLE July 2.—(Sp.)—Father's day was observed June 20 by the Antioch Sunday school with a reading by Mrs. Lloyd Hull and songs by the young folks. After Sunday school, preaching services were held with Dr. Carr delivering the message.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Martin and Donnie entertained with a dinner on Father's day. Those who enjoyed the day were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Martin and sons Hollis and Stanley of Reese creek, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sanderson and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sanderson of Medford and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sanderson and sons Lloyd, Robert and Ernest of this place.

Annual school meeting was held June 21. Mrs. Grant was re-elected for three years and Mr. Swanson re-elected clerk for one year. Mrs. Brownwood and two daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Moffitt and two grandsons of Debeneger Gap were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bowen.

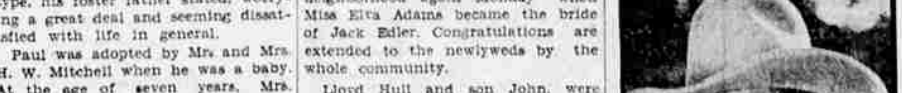

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Janes of the Meadows passed through Beagle Tuesday on their way to Medford. Mr. Walters returned from a trip

WARNING FLARE USE DECREED BY LAW IN TRUCK, BUS MISHAPS

Among the many new laws enacted by the last session of the legislature, state police wish to call special attention to that of the motor vehicle department, section 55-260, sub-headed "Warning flares required for disabled trucks and buses."

The law states, in effect, that all trucks or motor buses operating on highways outside of business or residential districts one-half hour after sundown and until one-half hour before sunup must be equipped with at least three flares or lanterns so placed as if the vehicle becomes disabled, the flares or lamps can be placed on the highway to be visible for a distance of at least 500 feet.

After the vehicle becomes disabled, the flares or lamps must be placed on the highway not less than 100 feet nor more than 300 feet from the vehicle. During daylight hours at least three red flags are required by the new law, to be used in place of the flares in case of the vehicle becoming disabled. The flags must not be less than 12 inches square.
