GUIDE ITINERARY MADE FOR SEASON AT CRATER LAKE

CRATER LAKE (Spl)—The complete schedule of guided field trips offered this summer by the Crater Lake national park naturalist division was announced today by Naturalist John E. Doerr, Jr. The schedule started July 1.

A conducted trip to the summit of Garfield peak, fourth highest rim elevation, is scheduled for every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 8:30 a. m., starting from the information building or the Crater lake lodge parapet. The trail is 1.7 miles long with the grade easy to negotiate. From this elevation of over 8000 feet, a complete panorama view of the lake and miles of surrounding country is possible.

The Watchman auto caravan and hike leaves the Sinnott memorial daily at 1:30 p. m. A short introductory talk is presented by a ranger-naturalist previous to the departure. Stops are made at several observation points along the route. Cars are parked at the Watchman parking area, while a hike of one-half mile is made to the summit of the Watchman, 8025 feet. An observation and fire lookout station is maintained there, giving visitors an opportunity of learning a number of intricacies of fire detection.

A launch leaves the boat landing daily at 9 a. m. for a 2½ hour trip around the shores of the lake. A ranger-naturalist accompanies the trip for which a fee is charged by the private concessionaire. At 1:30 p. m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday a hike is scheduled to the summit of Wizard island, 763 feet high. The trip consumes four hours and entails a boat fee.

Informal discussions are presented at 10:30 a. m. and 3:00 p. m. at the Sinnott memorial observation station in the rim village area. The station is equipped with high-powered glasses and display cases enabling visitors to gain a general understanding of the lake through their own efforts. Campfire programs are held nightly except Sunday at 8 in the park community house, including talks by ranger-naturalists.

The Grange

Griffen Creek Grange.

Griffin Creek Grange met Tuesday evening. After usual order of business a patriotic program prepared by "Ceres," Mrs. Lula Sturgill, was enjoyed.

It was reported that Sister Logan is still at the hospital in Portland, but much improved.

Mrs. Clark announced that on account of sickness she would be unable to have the H. E. club Thursday, so the club will meet at the home of Mrs. J. D. Brown.

Refreshments were served by Sisters Harper and Young and a social hour was enjoyed.

Neat Child Burns Valued Envelopes

GRANTS PASS, July 8.—(AP)—A child's desire for neatness cost Dr. C. L. Ogle, stamp collector, nearly $900.

While recovering from an illness, Dr. Ogle gave him two young daughters about 100 envelopes which had belonged to his mother to soak loose the stamps, issued during the 1892 Chicago exposition.

Having done that, the children tossed the envelopes into a fireplace and burned them. The envelopes with the old cancellations were valued by collectors at $9 apiece; the stamps were worth 17 cents each.

Shortly after the landing, American mechanics, instructed to drain the plane's tanks, found only 10¾ gallons but believed they had not located all the tanks because of a statement of the fliers that they had sufficient fuel remaining to fly 750 miles.
