

ASSISTANT CHIEF OF CCC CONFERS ON PLANS HERE

Charles Taylor Is Medford Visitor On Tour of Inspection — Dinner Guest of Chamber Directorate

Charles H. Taylor, assistant director of the civilian conservation corps in charge of vocational training and welfare, conferred briefly this morning with officers at Medford headquarters. He held a conference last night with executives of the Rogue River national forest.

Mr. Taylor is on a tour of inspection, attending regional meetings of CCC educational staffs. He was accompanied to Medford by L. B. Pagter, assistant to the chief of CCC work in the United States regional forest headquarters in Portland, and W. D. Clark of Portland, field inspector of the northwest division of the national park service.

The group left this morning for Klamath Falls and Tulelake, Calif., where Mr. Taylor was to confer with executives of the reclamation service and biological survey. The visitors were accompanied by Lieut. Philo D. Smith, adjutant of the Medford CCC district, and Grant D. Ross of Portland, national park service inspector, who arrived here this morning.

Arnspliger Presides
Mr. Taylor, Mr. Clark and Mr. Pagter were guests at an informal dinner held in their honor in the Hotel Medford last night by the board of directors of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce. Olen Arnspliger, chamber president, presided. A. H. Baywell, chamber manager, introduced the local attendants, and Karl L. Janouch, supervisor of the Rogue River national forest, presented the guests.

Others attending the dinner were Capt. William C. Ryan, CCC welfare officer here; Lieutenant Smith; H. C. Obye, assistant supervisor of the Rogue River national forest; Seth Bullis, Arthur Powell of Central Point, George T. Frey, Earl Newby, Chester Fitch, J. Verne Shengle and Roland Hubbard.

Chamber Lauded
Mr. Taylor, in an informal talk, said he had been told in California

G. Pass Pastor

THE REV. W. I. PALMER

The Rev. W. I. Palmer came from Kansas to the pastorate of the First Christian church of Grants Pass. Mrs. Palmer is also an ordained minister.

that Jackson county had the livest chamber of commerce on the west coast and that he might as well plan to stop here because the chamber would not let him pass through without a visit. When he got to Camp Gasquet near Crescent City, Calif., two invitations to visit here were waiting for him, he related.

BEATITUDES FURNISH WEATHERFORD'S TOPIC

Speaking Sunday at the Church of the Nazarene, Fred M. Weatherford, pastor-evangelist, used as his topic "Four Ways that Converge in Blessedness." He took his text from four of the Beatitudes found in the fifth chapter of Matthew. He said in part:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Most people are too important to receive help from God. Self-sufficiency is the God in which they trust. Their own affairs are more important than anything which God may have to offer by which to benefit their lives. But the end of the poor, or renounced in spirit is receptivity. Their confessed poverty puts them in line to receive all God has to offer, hence 'theirs is the kingdom of heaven.'"

LOYALIST PLANES BOLSTER ATTACKS ON THREE FRONTS

Fighting On World War Scale Seen in Spain—Newly Added Mechanized Power Aids Government

MADRID, July 13.—(AP)—Government offensives, bolstered by air power the Madrid forces never before have shown, hammered insurgent lines today on three separate fronts.

Fighting is on a world war scale, eye witnesses related. "It is a completely new phase of this war in size and intensity," one visitor to the battlefields related.

"The government has been able to put into the field mechanized power to match, perhaps more than match, the rebel (insurgent) air force." Reinforcements Bared.

Waves of government fighting planes bombed insurgent batteries and machine gunned troops near Villanueva del Pardillo, making it virtually impossible for them to send reinforcements to the front west of Madrid.

On the Basque front in northern Spain, government airplanes flew low over the insurgents' zig-zag line from Somorostro on the Santander highway to the Valmaseda sector.

Basque and Asturian troops defending Santander against Generalissimo Francisco Franco's northwest drive, launched a counter-offensive under cover of the aerial protection.

Government forces also pressed their attack on the Zaragoza-Teruel front, east of Madrid. They were reported to have penetrated Albaracin, 23 miles west of Teruel, and to have reached the outskirts of Alfarin, only 11 miles from Zaragoza.

Bomb Central Port.
Three insurgent bombers raided the port of Valencia, seat of the Spanish central government, dropping several big bombs along the waterfront.

Three persons were killed, several others injured and some buildings destroyed before government anti-aircraft batteries drove off the raiders. The squadron, apparently abandoning plans for a second attack after flying down the coast, turned toward the sea and disappeared. Insurgent concentrations were held

MRS. HELEN WILLIS MOODY

RENO, Nev., July 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Willis Moody, former tennis queen, was established at a Nevada resort today but was noncommittal about reports she planned to divorce wealthy Frederick S. Moody, Jr., of San Francisco.

Attorney Robert M. Price of Reno, whom she visited yesterday after her arrival, said:

"Mrs. Moody is living in Nevada and expects to be here for some time. All that I can say now is that she was at my office and consulted with me and she may later on seek a divorce."

Mrs. Moody's sister-in-law, Mrs. Corbett Moody, said in San Francisco that a divorce was contemplated.

Moody, socially prominent husband of the tennis player and fashion designer, was on a holiday in northern California.

The former Helen Willis and her husband were married in Berkeley, Calif., December 23, 1929. Their romance began on the French Riviera.

In their rearward positions on the Madrid front, fleets of government aircraft, cutting off the insurgent defenses at Brunet and Villanueva del Pardillo from reinforcements, strafed troops and trucks which sought shelter in groves of olive trees.

ARMAMENT POLICY TO INSURE PEACE URGED BY DURHAM

"Let us pledge ourselves to peace but be prepared for war," Capt. G. R. Durham of the Salvation Army said in a speech given at yesterday's weekly luncheon-meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Hotel Medford. Topic of his address was "Fighting for Peace."

Capt. Durham counseled against this country adopting a policy of disarmament in the hope that other nations would follow the example. The United States is a coveted country, the captain said.

"People of other lands may not like us but would like to have what we have," Capt. Durham declared. "The United States, with its fabulous wealth, means more than heaven to them. No one can convince me that they wouldn't try to take it if they thought it possible. Experience has taught us that we can't trust other nations."

Advocates of pacifism are pleading the cause of world peace but the majority of the people of the world do not yet want universal peace even though the goal is highly desirable, Capt. Durham asserted. This country wants peace, he added, but world peace is as yet unrealized and is at present impossible of realization.

Pacifists, the captain continued, urge American disarmament in the face of Great Britain's seven and a half billion dollar rearmament program. They forget, he said, that Germany, Russia, France, England, Japan and Italy are all "capable of threatening our position."

"We must be prepared to insure this nation's peace by fighting and repulsing all who would disturb it," the speaker declared.

There has been war ever since the beginning of history, Capt. Durham said, adding that "all we have in the United States today has been gained through fighting. Millions have died that we might enjoy present day blessings."

These blessings the captain designated as the best of food, clothing and housing, freedom of worship, the press, speech, organization and education, and political equality. No other nation, he stated, enjoys such blessings.

"We are a satisfied nation," Capt. Durham averred. "We have plenty of territory, raw materials, wealth and natural resources. We took this country from the Indians by fighting. We secured liberty by fighting. We have kept our liberty by fighting. We established the kind of country men have always dreamed about and the weapons of war have played a large part. We must be prepared to fight for it."

Visitors at the luncheon were W. M. Van Leyer of Beverly Hills, Cal., Dr. B. E. Green, Medford physician, and Kiwanians C. C. Collins, who recently moved to Medford, George F. A. Walker of Portland, F. B. Launer of Columbia, Mo., and Jay P. Upston of Bend. Upston and Walker are delegates to the state encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans.

Fees Aid Needy
NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y.—(UP)—When the marriage rate in North Tonawanda falls off, the city's needy children suffer. Every time Mayor John E. Wallace performs a wedding ceremony in his city hall office, he turns the money paid by the newlyweds into a fund to produce shoes for needy children.

ROGUE FOREST CAMPS USED BY NEARLY 2000 AS OUTDOOR BECKONS

Nearly 2,000 campers and picnickers utilized campgrounds on the Rogue River national forest over the week-end, a tabulation today showed. The campgrounds, developed and improved by the forest service, are designed as recreational centers for the free use of the public. The forest service helps the public in scheduling and arranging picnics.

Largest attendance registered at any one place was at McKee Bridge in the Applegate where the campground was taxed to capacity by 242 picnickers and eight campers. For lack of parking space 30 persons in ten cars were turned away but were provided accommodations farther up the river. Practically all of the improved campgrounds were utilized yesterday.

Attendance by forest districts was: Applegate, 492; Butte Falls, 87; Union Creek, 578; Dead Indian-Klamath, 688.

Weather
Northern California: Fair tonight and Wednesday, fog on the coast; cooler tonight in the interior extreme north portion; moderate northwest wind off the coast.
Oregon: Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday. Stratus overcast on coast and in west portion tonight; local afternoon thunderstorms in mountains of east portion; little change in temperature; moderate northwest wind off coast.
