

HEART GIVES OUT IN WEEK'S BATTLE FOR COURT PLAN

after senate leaders had talked with the senator's widow at Little Rock by telephone.

Death Announced
The saddened senate heard Robinson's fellow Arkansan, Senator Hattie W. Caraway, announce the leader's death.

"It is with deep grief," she said to her hushed audience, "that I rise to announce the death of my colleague, the leader of this body, the late senator from Arkansas, Mr. Robinson."

"It is not my purpose at this time to try to enumerate the good qualities or to call attention to the statesmanship of the man whom the senate, the nation and the state will so greatly miss and whose death all of us deeply deplore."

At the end of her brief speech, delivered in trembling voice, Mrs. Caraway offered the usual resolution of adjournment out of respect for the deceased senator.

Before it was voted, Senator Barkley (D., Ky.), acting majority leader, offered a eulogy. As he talked many senators sat with bowed heads and closed eyes. Mrs. Caraway held her hand over her eyes.

"No abler, truer, finer, more loyal or devoted man ever served in this chamber from any state," Barkley said in grave tones.

"No man ever bore his responsibility with greater courage, patience, foresight and wisdom than Senator Robinson."

"His death constitutes at this particular time a major calamity, not only to the senate but to the country at large."

"I cannot recall any death that has been a greater calamity to public service."

Found By Maid
Robinson's body was discovered at 8:15 a. m. (EST) by the family's negro maid, May Jasper.

Corner A. Magruder, MacDonald said his death was due to heart disease.

Doctor George W. Calver, capitol physician, said Robinson apparently had left his bed about midnight and had gone to the bathroom where he fell face downward.

"I said Robinson had suffered several heart attacks in recent months."

The physician said that when Robinson made the address which touched off fiery senate debate on the court issue he became very pale and apparently cut his address short.

"I did not see him at the time," Calver said, "but many who were there noticed he became very pale and apparently cut his speech short."

Senator Copeland rushed to his side when he stopped speaking.

Colleagues Shocked
As word of his death spread over the capitol, many of his colleagues went to the Robinson home, the first to arrive were Senators Harrison (D.-Miss.) and Walsh (D.-Mass.).

"I am shocked beyond expression," Harrison said as he departed.

"Senator Robinson's death was most tragic, coming, as it did, in the midst of one of his greatest fights and just before he was to be honored to a place on the supreme bench."

The sudden death of the senate leader shocked the capitol and threw the administration's legislative program into turmoil.

President Roosevelt, informed of the senator's sudden death, was deeply shocked.

Landmark Is Removed

SANTIAM ACADEMY, LEBANON

Santiam Academy at Lebanon, in continuous use for 85 years, has been demolished because of a rotting foundation. The Methodist church used it for 50 years and then it was turned over to the Lebanon school system.

In 1922, was personally in charge of the administration's two major legislative campaigns to enact President Roosevelt's bills to reorganize the courts and the executive departments. His colleagues generally had expected his appointment to the supreme court to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Van Devanter.

The Democratic leader had been working with terrific energy during recent weeks in an effort to devise a compromise court bill for which he could obtain senate approval. The substitute measure now under debate was drafted under his direction.

He also had given close personal attention to the government reorganization program. Two or three weeks ago he personally introduced a compromise bill to carry out the chief executive's reorganization program and had called his committee to begin work on it today.

Wife Away
Robinson's home, where he was found dead today, is directly across the capitol plaza from the senate wing of the capitol. He was temporarily living alone as Mrs. Robinson had gone home to Little Rock, Arkansas.

The sudden death of Robinson gave rise immediately to speculation over his success as Democratic leader. When talk of his possible appointment to the supreme court began, three major possibilities were mentioned for leader—Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, Harrison of Mississippi and Barkley of Kentucky.

Robinson, for the past 15 years Democratic leader in the senate, has been one of the outstanding political figures in Washington.

After attending the University of Arkansas and the Virginia law school, Robinson began reading law in a small lawyer's office back in 1892. Two years later, he was elected to the general assembly of his home state.

While serving in the legislature, Robinson continued to practice law, and has, off and on, since. But public office became his chief career when he was elected to congress in 1902, during the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt.

After serving in the house 10 years, Robinson retired to become Governor of Arkansas. He only stayed in the governor's office a few months, however, because a vacancy appeared in the senate and he was quickly chosen to fill it.

LEAKY GAS TANK FORCES LANDING IN COW PASTURE

a little short of 6,700 miles in a little over 62 hours flying time.

San Jacinto is nestled in the eastern edge of the San Jacinto mountain, 25 miles from March field, which the fliers evidently were attempting to make.

Peace authorities immediately communicated with March field, and a cordon was established about the pasture to protect the plane.

Several ranchers saw the landing, and saw the big monoplane come to ground gracefully.

The point of landing was three miles from here and 20 miles from Riverside, Cal.

The Soviet trio left Moscow at 3:22 a. m. Monday (4:22 P. M., P.S.T. Sunday). They passed over Rudolf island, the last point of land between them and the North Pole, at 11:01 a. m. Monday, then battled snow and cyclonic winds before reaching the pole at 4:14 p. m., a little less than a day from Moscow.

On this phase of the flight the red-winged monoplane was kept at an altitude of 8,900 feet or above, to escape wind resistance. After passing the northernmost spot on the globe the airman streaked out across the wild reaches of the Yukon and Northwest territory for the shores of Canada, 1,500 miles away.

Favorable winds kept the plane ahead of schedule, and last night it became known definitely the objective would be "beyond Oakland." As originally announced by the Kremlin, the flight was to be from Moscow to San Francisco or beyond.

The purpose of the flight, as announced by Pilot Gromoff, was to "confirm again the possibility of regular communications inter-continental by way of the North Pole."

Actually, the Soviet government wanted to demonstrate further the practicability of Soviet engineering and manufactured aircraft, as first strikingly attested by the successful Moscow to Vancouver, Wash., flight of Valeria Chkaloff, Georgi Baidukoff and Alex Beliakoff. They landed in Vancouver, Wash., June 20.

The previous long distance non-stop record of 5,637 miles, from New York to Syria, was established by the Frenchmen, Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos, in 1933.

TOT INJURED BY DASH INTO AUTO

Emma Louise Thomas, four, of route 4, received an eye cut and minor scratches and bruises when she ran into a car driven by Gerald E. Kendall of 803 Narregan street at the intersection of Main street and Riverside avenue yesterday afternoon, according to city police.

The little girl ran out from behind three pedestrians crossing Main street in the pedestrian zone, city police reported, and hit the left front fender of the Kendall machine which was traveling north on Riverside avenue.

She was knocked to the pavement and her mother rushed her to a doctor for treatment. She was not seriously injured.

City police said the girl's mother absolved Kendall from all blame in the accident.

Gault's Shoe Shop In New Location

Gault's Shoe Shop, which has been located on East Main for the past four years, is now open in the new location at 14 South Central, according to M. E. Gault, owner.

Gault's moved from the old Fluhrer building which is being remodeled for the M. M. department store. The new location is next to Bowman's barber shop.

A large waiting room has been arranged in the front of the new shop. The work shop is equipped to do all kinds of shoe repairing and rebuilding, as well as shoe cleaning and dyeing. Gault's have one of the largest stocks of shoe laces, polishes and cleaners in Medford, according to Mr. Gault.

AIR-MINDED HERE KEEP LONG VIGIL FOR RUSS FLIERS

W. H. McBee were in charge of a contingent of national guardsmen posted around the field to protect the fliers and their plane.

The United Air Lines maintained a night staff under M. C. Henne, manager, to aid in the possible reception and handling of messages received by its teletype and radio telephone.

Thomas A. Culbertson, Jr., airport manager, had organized a volunteer staff and had observers stationed atop the hangar. The army air corps detachment under Sgt. William Daws and the U. S. weather bureau also stood by to assist.

The Mail Tribune maintained an office night staff to disseminate information received by long distance telephone and United Press teletypes to the hundreds of patrons who phoned for data during the evening.

No reports of the plane having been sighted or heard over Medford were received although the course indicated the Russians flew southward only a few miles east of the city. It was thought they were traveling too high to be seen or heard.

Erroneous radio broadcasts created considerable confusion all evening and this morning. Even though it was known officially that the Russians had continually indicated they would drop down at Oakland or some coast point to the south, radio broadcasts late in the evening stated they had changed their course and were headed for Chicago. At every check-in the aviators stated they were holding to their course though at no time did they give their position.

Even this morning after the Associated Press had confirmed the landing of the Russians near San Jacinto at 6:30, radio broadcasts stated positively that the fliers had landed in San Diego at 8:10.

BUSINESS CORNER AT MAIN, CENTRAL BOUGHT BY HUNTS

Another large commercial real estate transfer was on the record books today with the announcement that the Medynski building at the southwest corner of Central avenue and East Main street has been sold by Mrs. and George Ira C. Moss to Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Hunt. Purchase price was said to be in the neighborhood of $38,000.

Mr. Hunt stated the building had been bought as an investment and that no changes or developments were contemplated for the present. Six tenants occupy the building, most of the leases still having about three years to run, Mr. Hunt said.

The building has a frontage of 25 feet on East Main street and 140 feet on South Central avenue, extending southward to the alley in the middle of the block. It is occupied by Young's drug store on the corner and, along Central avenue, by the Top-Notch lunch room, Gault's shoe repair shop, Bowman beauty parlor, Bowman barber shop and the Unique Cleaners, Inc., which, with the Troy laundry, is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Moss.

Mr. Hunt is the well-known theater operator. He has been expanding his Medford interests lately and recently purchased the Fluhrer home on the east side. He also is an officer of the Jackson County Investment company which recently acquired the Sparta building and contiguous property extending along East Main street to the Bear creek bridge.

The four corners at Main and Central are viewed by real estate men as the most valuable properties in the downtown business section, being in the heart of the city on two important arterial streets.

Two-Inch Whiskers Minimum For Fete

OREGON CITY, July 14.—(AP)—Directors of the Oregon City Territorial Days celebration stood today behind an edict compelling every business and professional man to grow whiskers and the women to wear old-fashioned dress in preparation for the third annual staging of the event.

Two inches of whiskers was declared the official minimum for the men. A "kangaroo court" to enforce the regulation is planned.

Portland Business Advances In June

PORTLAND, July 14.—(AP)—Portland's business was 7 per cent above normal in June, and 5 per cent better than during the previous month, a monthly survey of Brooke, Smith and French, a national advertising firm, showed.

The business index stood at normal at the end of June, 1936.

Portland was one of 31 cities among the 147 covered by the report showing a gain over May of 4 per cent or more.

YOURS FOR HEALTH!

Your favorite grocery store has Snider's "Farm-Fresh" butter for you fresh each day. Ask for it by name—and be sure of receiving the best to be had!

Snider's "Farm-Fresh" butter is—a recipe for health that never fails to give you added energy. When it is included in your meals, it means the stimulation of healthy appetites and complete satisfaction.

NO SUBSTITUTES There is no substitute for nature's own health food. Perhaps preparations that taste slightly like butter, but never anything with all of the goodness of it. When you buy BUTTER you are aiding a local industry, and in turn, helping yourself to health. Ask for a really "Farm-Fresh" butter at your grocer the next time. It pays!

"FARM-FRESH" The rich, pure cream used in the production of a truly fine butter must be "farm-fresh". Carefully selected dairy herds from fertile farms furnish the raw material for this better butter. The cream is rushed to the dairy shortly after it has been cooled in the milking station. A procedure such as this guarantees you "Farm-Fresh" Butter.

PRODUCTION Men in white grade the cream, pasteurize it, and then make it ready for the actual churning. The sterile churns, operated by skillful dairymen, work much the same as the old fashioned churn. Each man has his own duty. One man tests the butter for excess moisture. When the butter has been cut and wrapped, it is rushed to your grocer, "Farm-Fresh."

FLAVOR Butter is a delicate food. It must have a flavor that is good and stays that way. Therefore, when you use "Farm-Fresh" butter you immediately realize that it has the fine flavor and aroma that a good butter should have. This superior butter, when properly kept, will retain its flavor as long or longer than any other. It's "Farm-Fresh"!

HEALTH Butter is nature's own food. There is nothing artificial about it. That is why "Farm-Fresh" butter retains all of the vitamins and health giving qualities. Children grow stronger with good butter. They love it on bread or in tasty dishes. See that they have plenty of good, pure butter with every meal, but be sure it's "Farm-Fresh"!

COOKING Nothing can replace butter in cooking. It lends a tasty flavor to any dish, no matter how you prepare it. It really makes cooking easier, this dairy product. When you add butter to any recipe, you are adding health. It might even be termed as "condensed sunshine". Try "Farm-Fresh" butter in your next meal and just see how your family enjoys it.
