DEEPEST OIL WELL OPENS RICH FIELD

COALINGA, Cal., July 23.—(UP)—The deepest producing oil well in the world, tapping a new oil pool more than two miles below the surface, was brought in today on the north edge of the famous Kettleman field by the Kettleman North Dome association.

Geologists and oil experts agreed that the well had penetrated into an entirely new formation and might open the richest field since the original Kettleman discovery.

After being brought under control under the heaviest capping equipment ever installed in central California, the well had an estimated initial production of 1500 barrels of 50 gravity oil. Natural gas was estimated at more than 20,000,000 cubic feet daily.

The well casing was set at 10,753 feet. It will take some time before mud and water is out of the hole to permit a true test.

RELIEF OVERDRAWN IN WASHINGTON CO.

HILLSBORO, July 23.—(P)—A $2000 overdraft on Washington county's $9000 relief budget for 1937 brought a conference yesterday between county administrators and Elmer Goudy of the state relief committee.

"If it were not for county participation in three federal aid projects," said R. W. Well, county chairman, "the office would be closed. These projects are old age, dependent children and blind assistance."

Two hundred families, representing 800 persons, are affected by the fund shortage. The committee will review all cases, eliminating as many as possible. Payments for rent, light and water bills probably will be dropped.

Six candidates were obligated in first and second degrees and will take third and fourth August 5.

Mrs. E. C. Piene won a fine box of Youngberries for getting the most candidates in July. The prize was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Howe.

Plans were made to enter the Northwest Jackson county fair this year and hopes were expressed for again carrying off the prize.

Watermelons were served by the Croft family.

H. E. C. club was to have met at the Greenleaf home on the Old Stage road but as that was the day of Sister Galbreath's sorrow the meeting was postponed to July 27 at the hall unless some other place is designated.

M'COLLOCH AND ROSS IN POLITICAL 'DEAL' CHARGES NEWSPAPER

SALEM, Ore., July 23.—(AP)—The Oregon Statesman said today that charges of a political "deal" between J. D. Ross of Seattle and Claude McCulloch of Klamath Falls in the matter of federal appointments were current in the state capital.

The charge is made that McCulloch, who was tarred with the Copco power brush when he nearly had the appointment for district judge in his hand, sought the help of J. D. Ross to give him "political clearance" with the powers that be in Washington, the paper said in a signed story.

"Ross, a public ownership devotee as long-time superintendent of city light, Seattle, is reported to have supplied the clearance."

"In return, McCulloch, who is state chairman for the Democratic party, made it known he would approve the choice of Ross for Bonneville administrator. Walter Pierce, congressman from eastern Oregon, McCulloch's district, has been boosting Ross for the job."

LIQUOR PRICE BOOST SLATED NEXT MONTH

PORTLAND, Ore., July 23.—(UP)—Drinking will be a more costly pastime in Oregon after August 1, the liquor control commission indicated today.

The commission announced a complete revision of the price schedules on nearly all brands. The rise was expected to average about five cents per bottle, and was ordered to cover the "rise in liquor costs to the commission."

It was added, however, that Oregon liquor costs would still remain the lowest in the nation.
