

Budge Defeats Austin to Complete Rout of British Davis Cuppers

YANKEES REGAIN TENNIS EMBLEM AFTER 10 YEARS

Parker Clinches Victory in Straight-Set Win Over Charles Hare — Final Score 4 Victories to 1

OL BOY. Yessir, Dizzy Dean, Cardinal hurler, still is going strong. He had 12 wins and 7 losses in 19 games. At the same time last year he had 14 victories, 5 defeats.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 27.—(AP)—Sorel-topped Don Budge, undefeated this year, whipped Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin today, 6-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, as the United States completed its rout of Great Britain's Davis Cup forces and regained the international tennis trophy for the first time since 1927.

Budge's victory came after 21-year-old Frankie Parker of Milwaukee clinched the cup with an astonishing straight-set triumph over Charles Edgar Hare, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, thus making the final score four victories for the United States against one for Great Britain's unsuccessful cup defenders.

Great Britain, losing the cup after holding it since 1933 when France relinquished its six-year monopoly on the trophy, could win only one match in the challenge round, Austin beating Parker in the opening singles match Saturday.

The moment he could get his clothes on, Parker rushed out of the stadium to cable news of his victory to Mercer Cassey, his coach for years. It cost him $1.50, but he insisted it was worth it.

"I might never get another chance," he explained.

The only thing he was willing to say about the match itself was that Hare "didn't play very well."

He possibly was the most modest Davis cup hero on record.

Walter Hagen, golfing veteran, who was an interested spectator, said: "Every Stroke Good."

"It looked to me like every other ball Parker hit was a hole in one. It looks like we are taking all the cups home this summer."

He was referring to the recent American victory in the Ryder Cup golf matches.

Budge's singles triumph over Hare on Saturday and the doubles victory he and Mike scored over P. H. D. Wilde and C. R. D. Tuckey yesterday set the stage for Parker and the Milwaukee youngster took full advantage of his dramatic opportunity to clinch the cup American tennis ace vainly have sought for ten years.

After Parker had handed the tall, left-handed Hare an astonishing drubbing, Budge's final match with Austin became merely an exhibition.

But despite the fact the pressure was off, the Oakland, Cal. ace was in no mood to spoil his unmarred record.

Stroke experimentation cost him the second set but thereafter he kept Austin under full control.

Fourth Loss of Year. Incidentally, that second set was only the fourth Budge has dropped all year. He lost one to Parker in the semi-finals of the all-England championships, and dropped the first two in his spectacular five-set match with Baron Gottfried von Cramm in the interzone finals.

The huge silver trophy, about the size of a cart wheel, was brought out on the center court and placed on a table draped in the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack.

Her highness, the Princess Helena Victoria, stood beside the trophy. As the crowd rose, the princess lifted the cup and handed it to Walter L. Pate, captain of the American team, and then shook hands with members of both teams.

MAPLE SCOUTING LOCAL ATHLETES

Howard Maple, newly appointed assistant football coach at Willamette university under Spec Keene, is in Medford today "looking around."

Maple, ex-Oregon State college star athlete, who resigned his freshman coaching berth at his alma mater to accept the Willamette university job, arrived last night, and will spend today in Ashland and Medford in search of athletes, preferably football linemen, who are undecided as to where they will continue with their higher education.

"We should have a pretty fair season this fall," the chunky little mentor stated, "if we can develop a strong line. The backfield is all set; what we need are tackles and guards."

Longworth Burns Everett Course

EVERETT, Wash., July 27.—(AP)—The Washington state open golf championships entered the second half today, players and gallery alike still blinking from Monday's dazzling performance by Ted Longworth of Waverly club, Portland, who toured the course twice in 135, 12 under par.

At Zimmerman, Alderwood club professional, also of Portland, tied for second with Jack Westlund of Everett, with 138.

Longworth was 7 under par with a 65 on his morning round, and clipped five from the theoretically perfect score in the afternoon.

Closing time for Too Late to Classify Age is 1:30 p. m.

$110 SUBSCRIBED FOR BASEBALL SCHOOL; TO CONTINUE FUND DRIVE

With $110 in the coffers, officials of the Medford Athletic association will continue this week with their campaign to raise funds for their youth's baseball school, held every morning at the turf high school field under the coaching of Mike Bakovick.

This morning, about 30 youngsters ranging from 5 to 13 years of age batted through a tough nine inning ball game, and wound up by having their picture taken by Verne Shangle.

Howard Maple, assistant football coach at Willamette university who is in Medford today, watched Bakovick send the future diamond jumbos through their paces, and remarked that the program was one of the finest he had ever seen.

DRAGON FLOPPED BY KOHEN WITH REFEREE'S HELP

The Sammy Kohen-Frank Stojack wrestling and refereeing team last night won its second straight victory from the hated Black Dragon, the pay-off coming in as wild a climax as has been witnessed in the local arena in many moons.

Meeting in the main event at the open-air high school battle ground, Kohen and the Dragon battled through a tough 25 minutes before Referee Frank Stojack decided to step in and help out his Jewish pal from New York city. His needed aid consisted of a dropkick blast to the Dragon's whiskers which ended the evening's proceedings.

With the falls standing one piece, the Dragon pinning Kohen with a Boston crab and Kohen about-facing to tumble the hated one with the same maneuver, the Dragon started in on Stojack, who last night was third man in the ring. Disturbing Stojack's attempts to make him grapple clean, the Dragon punched Frank alongside the head. Frankie did nothing about it. The Dragon then tore into Kohen with confident foulness, and once more Stojack pulled him off roughly. Again the Dragon leveled on the referee, and that was enough for Frankie. He whipped a right hand to the Dragon's chin, knocking him over backwards. Up came the black beast, and Stojack launched his famous dropkick. The double-leg punch caught the Dragon square on the button, laid him like a carpet, and Kohen dove in to pin and deciding tumbler.

Last week it was Kohen, as referee, who awarded the match to Stojack following the Dragon's refusal to break two Boston crab holds. Today, the Kohen-Stojack team challenges any wrestler in the local circuit. Two defeats of the Black Dragon, they claim, prove their invincibility.

The squabble was rougher than rough throughout, with a bottle cap causing considerable excitement among the large crowd of customers. The Dragon secreted the cap in his trunk, and when the opportunity arose, hauled it out and raked it across Kohen's eyes. With the crowd going frantic, the Dragon then hid the cap in his mouth, entirely frustrating the referee's search for the harmful little weapon. He finally threw it away, and things were fairly peaceful from then on.

In the middle event, Frankie Clemens applied his Indian paralyzer to the thick neck of Carlos Rodriguez in the fourth round for the match. The Mexican "hot tamale" took the initial tumble in the third canto with a brilliantly executed step-over toe hold after both boys had displayed some clean and sensational grappling.

Clemens came back to clamp on his neck-squeezers, and as in all other cases, Rodriguez was unable to continue. The match, clean as a whistle, was nevertheless a bloody affair. The fast appearing Mexican took an elbow to the snout, and for fully 20 minutes, bled like a stuck pig in his native land. Both wrestlers were covered with the gore.

Jack LaRue, master of the hammerlock, used that maneuver to grab two straight falls from punchy Dale Haddock, the tumbler coming in the second and third rounds. Effectiveness of the holds was heightened by LaRue stomping on Haddock's arm, an action that entirely escaped the eye of the referee, although it was more apparent to everyone else in the stadium.

Promoter Mack Lillard announced last night that Danny Savich and Toots Estes, two big favorites here, would probably appear on next week's card.

OREGON DROPS GAME IN REGIONAL SERIES

TACOMA, Wash., July 27.—(AP)—Johnson Paint, Washington semi-pro baseball champions, remained in the running in the regional tournament today after a 7-5-4 victory over Reliance of Portland, Oregon champions.

The two teams meet tonight in the fourth of a five-game series to determine the northwest representative in the national play-off at Wichita, Kas. Oregon won the first two games at Silverton last week.

SALEM, July 27.—(AP)—W. L. Goslin, secretary to Governor Martin was invited today to be chairman at the national convention of Young Democratic clubs at Indianapolis, August 29 and 31.

Goslin, first president and one of the founders of the Oregon Young Democratic organization, said he did not know whether he could attend. The invitation came from Frank Wickem, Sioux Falls, S. D., national president of the organization.

MONTANEZ HANGS KAYO ON RAMEY IN OPENING ROUND

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—(AP)—Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico lived up to his brilliant reputation here last night when he blasted Wesley Ramey of Grand Rapids, Mich., out of the front ranks of the nation's lightweights in one round.

Exploding a left hook that traveled hardly a foot, Pedro scored the knockout 2 minutes and 40 seconds after the opening gong sounded.

Jack Dempsey brought here to referee the bout at a reported price of $3600, never earned an easier dollar. He tolled off 10 as Ramey tried vainly to reach his feet.

A crowd of less than 15,000—a disappointment to the promoters—sat glued to their seats at the abruptness of the bout. A few moments before they had seen Alberto Lovell, the scar-faced assassin from Argentina, lace Clarence (Red) Burman of Baltimore throughout their ten-rounder.

Montanez, 136½, and Ramey, 135, moved out quickly and began tossing gloves. Pedro dug a couple of hard punches to the body and Ramey danced away. Montanez caught him in the center of the ring and let the knockout punch loose. The fight was over.

The third main event proved an upset as Ritchie Pontaine, 129, of Missoula, Mont., dealt out terrific body punishment to young Jackie Wilson, 128½, promising young Pittsburgh Negro, to carry eight out of the six rounds.

The heavyweight bout saw Burman, Jack Dempsey's heavyweight, willing to absorb all the blows Lovell could mete out without going down. Lovell weighed 192½, Burman 181.

GIANTS AND SOX UNDER PRESSURE

(By the Associated Press)

As the Giants opened a 13-game tour of the west and the White Sox began a 12-game swing through the east, the pressure today definitely was on these second-place teams in the major league races.

The champion Giants, battling to regain first place, squared off against the St. Louis Cardinals with a two-game gap between them and the leading Cubs. The Sox, trying manfully for their first hitting since 1919, opened a three-game series at Washington with a five-game chasm between them and the top-riding Yanks.

Bill Terry's troupe went into the west with a badly patched line-up. Mickey Hagan, filling in at shortstop for Diamond Dick Bartell, has committed fielding lapses that were excusable, but hardly helpful, and has come nowhere near equaling Bartell's ability to deliver timely hits.

Harry Danning has wielded a potent war club as a filler-inner for Catcher Gus Mancuso, but the ailing Mancuso knows best how to rally the Terry pitching staff.

Weather. Northern California: Generally fair tonight and Wednesday, but fog on the coast and scattered afternoon thunder storms in the high mountains. Little change in temperature, moderate northwest wind off the coast.

Oregon: Fair tonight and unsettled elsewhere tonight and Wednesday with scattered thunder storms in mountains; overcast on coast. Little change in temperature, light to moderate northwest wind off the coast.
