18 INJURED WHEN DINERS, PULLMANS HIT BROKEN RAIL

Portland between 5 and 6 o'clock this afternoon.

He reported the derailed cars leaning at a 45-degree angle.

Railroad officials said the accident could have occurred as the train passed a switch and a wheel flange broke.

The wreck occurred on a straightaway section of a mountain plateau and the train probably was traveling "at a pretty fair clip," Ormandy said.

The most seriously injured in the wreck were reported here to be:

Woman Injured

Mrs. Ernest Roach, shock and additional injuries to ribs broken in a fall in a hotel at San Francisco yesterday.

Howard Coleman, porter, whose back was hurt when he was thrown halfway through a window and scalded by hot water from a commode in a dining car.

Other injuries were said to be minor, caused chiefly by flying glass from windows breaking. Most of the windows on the right side of the derailed cars were broken.

Terror reigned as passengers screamed and rushed for the exits in the dizzily tipped cars.

Coleman, the porter, was pitched through the window of the most badly damaged tourist car. As he hung, half out of the window, a passenger came up behind and believed he was crawling through the opening.

"Hey, porter, let me through first," the passenger yelled.

Witnesses at the scene of the wreck said the right hand rail was broken, sheared off as if it had been sawed in two. The fourth car back on the train was believed to have broken the rail.

As the forward cars pulled out with all passengers aboard after the accident, a passenger with an accordion struck up the strains of "There's a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," witnesses reported.

About 100 men were at work at noon at the scene of the wreck.

and he was accorded a warm reception.

When Boone settled with his son in the Femme Osage district he had been a subject or citizen under five flags. Born before the revolution, he lived his early life a subject of George II and George III of England.

After the revolution he became a citizen of the United States. He was at one time a citizen of the temporary nation, Transylvania. The Shawnee Indian tribe adopted him as a son and citizen. Then he became a subject of Charles IV of Spain, and later, of Napoleon. He died under the United States flag in the first year of Missouri's statehood.

Spanish authorities made Boone commandant of the Femme Osage, where his last residence stands, and gave him a vast tract of land. Again he failed to comply with the legal obligations and lost the grant.

The "Judgment Tree," under which he held court, stands near the house and has been reexcavated after months of work by tree surgeons.

Following the system devised by Joseph for the salvation of ancient Egypt, government authorities in China have established granaries where a percentage of bumper crops is stored against the threat of famine in lean years.

AUTO REGISTRATION SHOWS JULY DECLINE

Out-of-state automobile registrations during the month of July showed a sharp decrease under those of the same period last year, it was revealed today by Lee Garlock, manager of the local AAA office.

A total of 357 tourists registered last month as compared to 728 in July of 1936.

Last month also fell below June of 1937, when 481 out-of-state cars appeared at the local office.

The heavy decline from July of last year was attributed by Garlock to the fact that Ashland's office is now remaining open 24 hours a day.

CONTROL BOARD PLANS BUILDING FUND PARLEY

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 2.—(AP)—The board of control decided today to meet with the state industrial accident commission before ruling on whether to use the commission's funds to finance the proposed state office building at Portland.

The decision was made at a public hearing attended by 50 persons representing the sponsors of about 40 building sites.

No decision will be made until the method of financing is determined, and until each site has been inspected.

DANCE TO BENEFIT FAMILY HARASSED BY MISFORTUNES

The helpful spirit of pioneer days still prevails in Jackson county, it was brought out again today as steps were taken to assist a well-known family that has met with a series of serious misfortunes.

The family, highly respected throughout the county, is said to be in dire need of help though no request for assistance has been made.

The move to assist has come spontaneously from friends.

First misfortune to befall the family was the death of the mother. Shortly afterward the son was stricken with infantile paralysis and had to be sent to Warm Springs, Ga., for treatment.

A little later a daughter suffered a paralytic stroke. Recently the father was found helplessly ill in a farm cabin.

Food and medicine are urgently needed and friends have rallied to the family's aid. The Jackson county agriculture committee will sponsor a benefit dance and social in the Jacksonville Grange hall next Saturday evening.

The Jacksonville orchestra will provide music in the Grange hall at the old county court house. Other orchestras will be engaged to play for the overflow that is expected. Refreshments will be served.

All county Granges are participating in the benefit and the public is invited to attend and help the cause. Tickets may be procured from any Grange member or at the county agent's office in the court house here.

FORMER MEDFORD RESIDENT PASSES

Word was received here today of the death of Herbert Erskine, former Medford resident, in Los Angeles on July 28 after a lingering illness. Mr. Erskine, who was well known in the Rogue valley, left here about 20 years ago.

Survivors residing in Medford are his mother, Mrs. Julia Tucker, 320 Clark street, and two brothers, Walter Erskine of Stewart avenue and Alvin G. Erskine of 320 Clark street.

Other survivors are his wife, daughter Opal, son, Herbert, Jr., all of Los Angeles.

TAMING OF THE SHREW OPENS SHAKESPEAREAN FESTIVAL THIS EVENING

Charles Furnas, Medford's acting mayor, who is representing Mayor George Porter, at present away on a trip.

Mayor Thornton Wiley of Ashland will represent his city.

Eddie Nugent and Bradley Page, Hollywood stars, will be introduced, as will Jimmy Gruelle, famous author of the "Raggedy Ann" stories.

The festival will continue for six days, with "Taming of the Shrew" opening tonight and closing the festival Saturday night.

"Romeo and Juliet," immortal tragedy, will play tomorrow night and Thursday, and "Twelfth Night," popular Shakespearean comedy, will play Wednesday and Friday. Curtain will rise at 8:30 each evening.

With the new festival association functioning smoothly, advance ticket sales indicate record-breaking audiences. The advance sale of tickets this year has already surpassed last year's total box office income.

Attractive three-color programs, which will make permanent souvenirs of the show, have been lithographed for this year's festival and everything is being done on a much more impressive scale than before.

Four Lose Lives In Auto Crackup

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Aug. 2.—(P)—Only one person of a party of six survived today the crash of an automobile through a heavy wire fence and a plunge into Indian lake.

Among the victims were Donald Friedley, 30, dramatic instructor at the University of Maine who this fall was to have become director of the Portland, Ore., civic theater.

Elizabeth Dugan, 31, Hartford, Conn., Friedley's fiancée and a research worker at Yale university.

Road Oil Program Nears Completion

The Jackson county road oiling program for this year, will be completed within the next week or ten days, according to County Engineer Paul B. Rynning. Rain and delay in delivery of oil delayed the work some.

The county court is considering steps to improve, and round off two or three corners, now sharp angles, on the "Pioneer Road" between Phoenix and Talent. The court conferred last week with property owners, to procure sufficient right of way to eliminate the sharp turns.

Spectacular Broker Suffers Breakdown

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(P)—Michael J. Meehan, spectacular broker who made millions on the meteoric rise of radio before the 1929 slump and who was found guilty of stock manipulation today by the securities and exchange commission, is recovering from a nervous breakdown, close associates said.

He has been away from his office since last spring.

Brokerage house messenger at 16, then a cigar salesman and a Broadway theater ticket agent, Meehan in four years became one of the best known speculators and brokers Wall Street has known in recent years.

DANIEL BOONE KIN PLANS TO RESTORE HISTORICAL HOME

Shrine Will Be Made of Old Stone House, St. Charles, Mo., Where Frontiersman Spent Last Days

By James W. Brennan

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (UP)—The house in which Daniel Boone died is to be restored to its original appearance.

Col. Frances Marion Curlee of St. Louis, a direct descendant of Boone's brother, John, is the present owner. The stone house, which changed hands many times, was bought in 1904 by a farmer, Henry Bollman. Bollman sold it to Col. Curlee in 1925.

Boone's youngest son, Major Nathan Boone, built the house in 1810, taking almost two years to complete the job because the plaster had to be buried during the winter to "ripen." All cutting and finishing was done with an adze.

The walls are two and a half feet thick. Their extraordinary thickness makes the house warm in winter and cool in summer.

Most of the furnishings installed by Col. Curlee are reproductions, some originals, of the pioneer's period.

Windsor Chairs Authentic

The dining room, which is in the basement, is one of the most interesting rooms in the house. The sunlight enters from the south on a room with a ceiling of huge timbers, native brick floor and sparse furnishings—authentic Windsor chairs, table and an old-fashioned sideboard.

Over the fireplace hangs a Kentucky long rifle. The five-foot-long rifle has a sharply curved, short stock fashioned to be fired from the elbow, not the shoulder.

Besides the living room, which extends the breadth of the house along the east side, there are two other chambers on the first floor.

Three rooms on the second floor are divided by a hall which has been converted into a library with some 2,000 books. There are many volumes
