LINDBERGH TRAGEDY SERMON TOPIC FOR OUTDOOR SERVICES

Today marks the beginning of the second half of the city park vespers services which have been sponsored by five of Medford's leading churches. Great interest has been aroused among the religious bodies of the city and the attendance has increased each week.

Much credit for the success of these out-of-doors meetings goes to many of Medford's best musicians, many of whom have given unselfishly of their time and energy. The audiences relish the singing of the old time gospel hymns and the ministers have given inspiring and timely messages.

Rev. B. L. Shipman, pastor of the Main Street M. E. church, South will speak at today's service on "The Lindbergh Murder." This will be Mr. Shipman's second appearance during the vespers services. This will be his last sermon during the series.

Mr. Shipman is a native of Virginia, coming to Medford only three months ago under special assignment as temporary pastor of the church here. He was pastor in Norfolk, Virginia during the Lindbergh kidnaping case and is personally acquainted with Dean Peacock who played a prominent part in the world's most publicized tragedy.

TIMBER PRODUCTS OFFERS NEW PLAN

Demonstrating the value of better designing and construction in home building, the new Four Square demonstration home plan was introduced by Timber Products company this week.

A portfolio of 12 remarkable Four Square demonstration homes presenting examples of how to obtain beauty, comfort and value in small homes, is available to prospective home builders for careful study.

"The nature of things we buy should govern our buying attitude," says Bruce Bauer, manager of the real estate department. "Most of our life is spent in making casual purchases from which we develop a buying habit which becomes a buying attitude. If we don't get our money's worth in a casual purchase, we soon forget it, because we'll be making another casual purchase soon."

"But in buying a house it's a different sort—buyers are keepers. Because we want our money's worth when we build a house we should change our casual buying attitude for a very scrutinizing one. That's why the Timber Products company is presenting this new plan to make your building dollar buy the convenient, practical home with low first cost, built to last through years and at small expense," says Mr. Bauer.

With the Four Square plan it is possible to get any style and type of house, with any inside treatment, and at the same time get low first cost, strong, durable construction, and low maintenance costs. Regardless of the design of a house, the fundamentals of sound construction and economic building never vary, according to Mr. Bauer.

Based on the well known fact that it is during the process of building that some of the most important principles of good construction are often overlooked and sometimes neglected, the Four Square plan acts as a guide to the careful buying of a durable home. It highlights the important fundamentals of good construction and tells how to get them.

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Aug. 7.
—(AP)—Pope Pius XI called down "woe" today upon any nation which would obstruct Catholic education, and associates interpreted his remark as a warning to Germany.

Addressing Belgian pilgrims, the pontiff said he saw happiness for the Belgian people as long as they remained faithful to their Catholic tenets but disaster for those who forgot or attacked those teachings.

(The pope criticized the Nazi regime in a pre-Easter encyclical, Catholic education in Germany has suffered from the government's efforts to increase its control over the training of youth.)

In English, the pope blessed American pilgrims, saying: "Our special blessing to all the United States."

WEATHER CAUSES CORN PRICE RISE
CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(AP)—For the first time since 1937 corn growth started, serious concern for the safety of the crop became manifest today. Prices scored notable gains.

Complaints that owing to prolonged hot dry weather the leaves of corn were firing over widespread areas, Nebraska in particular, boosted the corn market an extreme of three cents a bushel. A majority of traders, however, leaned to belief that despite need of moisture the general corn crop outlook remained favorable, and top quotations were not strongly held.
