Visit With Relatives After Years

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Osgood of Los Angeles are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Thibault. Mr. Osgood is Mrs. Thibault's cousin, and formerly lived in Medford. The guests are enjoying trips to the various interesting scenic spots, as well as meeting old friends of years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Osgood will return to Los Angeles soon, where Mr. Osgood is an engineer on a project at Banning, near Los Angeles.

Piano Concert Anticipated

The ladies of the first Methodist church are sponsoring Mr. Franklin B. Launer, who will give a concert in the near future. Mr. Launer is dean of music at Christian college, Columbia, Mo., and is spending part of his vacation in Medford. The concert, to which music lovers are looking forward, will include Bach's Prelude and Fugue, Sonata by Beethoven, and Rhapsody number Six, by Liszt. Further details will be furnished at a later date.

Accompany Guests To California

Mrs. Sue Hazelrigg and Miss Eleanor McQuiston plan to return to California with Mrs. Hazelrigg's son and his wife who have been visiting here for a week. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hazelrigg motored from San Francisco, and the party will return down the Redwood highway. Mrs. Hazelrigg will be in California for an indefinite time.

Reception for Mrs. Leach

Members of the Baptist church will hold a reception for Mrs. F. R. Leach of Seattle, on Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. M. L. Daily, 228 South Ivy. Mrs. Leach has made many friends while she has been in Medford, and all those who are interested, either in the church or not, are cordially invited.

Buyers to Return Today

A number of Medford people have been attending buyer's week in San Francisco, and are expected home today. Among them are Miss Gertrude Haskins, Mrs. Beva Alkin and Leon Haskins of the West Side Pharmacy. Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence are also in San Francisco on the same mission.

Daughters of Veterans Will Meet at Army

An important business has arisen that needs immediate attention, the president of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War has called the August meeting for Friday the 13th at the armory, at 8 o'clock. All Daughters are urged to be present.

Motor to Convention

A number of members of the Legion auxiliary are leaving today for the annual convention at Albany. Among those making the trip by motor are: Edna Overmyer, Edith Martin, Ruth Freed, Lucille Kunz, Esther Fliegel, Myrtle Olmscheid, of district No. 5.

Lutheran Ladies All Day Meet

The Zion Lutheran Ladies' Aid will hold an all-day meeting tomorrow in the church parlors. There will be a covered dish luncheon at noon. After luncheon there is to be a business session, and all members are urged to be present.

Luncheon at Hot Springs for Miss Fuson

Mrs. Russell Davis was hostess at a picnic luncheon at Jackson Hot Springs yesterday, for her sister, Anna May Fuson, who is visiting here from Hollywood. Twelve guests enjoyed swimming, and later the luncheon was served at the picnic grounds near the pool.

Brief Visit With Friends

Mrs. E. Young and daughter Margaret, family of Captain Young of San Pedro, Cal., stopped for a day on Tuesday to visit friends in Medford. They are in their way home from a vacation spent in Astoria with another daughter.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport. Mrs. because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell out the rest of the time. No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband. For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three decades of life. 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age." Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and be "Smiling Through."

MISSING CIGARETTE GIRL FOUND RIDING IN CIRCUS

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Auburn-haired Doris Major, who quit cigarette selling at a fashionable Washington hotel to do "fancy riding" under the big top, looked ahead today to telling her "grandchildren about my experience with a circus."

"I've always wanted to do it," she said of her trick riding act with the Hagenback-Wallace circus, where her father found her yesterday after she had been missing eight days.

Malcolm G. Major, artist of the Washington Star, said she was happy with her circus "and making good and I'll let her stay on."

He flew here after an excursion steamer captain said a member of the circus troupe, who took a trip on his boat, resembled the 27-year-old divorcee and mother of two children who disappeared from her Washington apartment Aug. 1.

"She just wanted to get away from everything," Major said. "She's ridden since she was eight years old, and the circus life should be good for her, after seven years of indoor life."

Mounted on a big chestnut horse, ready for her act to go on, she expressed pleasure at her father's consenting to her new vocation.

Circus officials said she had "made good" as an equestrienne since joining the troupe last week under the name of "Billy Sargent."

EVOLUTION A JOKE TEACHER CLAIMS SHE TOLD PUPILS

Kirby school, where the hearing was held because the Bally school, at which she had taught for 11 years, was not equipped with lights.

Her back was turned to the crowd that overflowed into the school yard. A bucket of water and glass stood on the table and perspiring attorneys and board members drank freely.

Student Testifies. Jack Jones, a stocky, suntanned seventh grade student, testified Mrs. Morris discussed evolution while explaining a picture of a man who was "covered with hair."

"She told us he was a man who just lost his tail and by losing his tail he changed from a monkey into a man and started to live in a cave," explained the boy, a brother of Eugene Jones who Mrs. Morris said she paddled with the board.

Red-haired Kathleen Dods, 14, another witness asserted Mrs. Morris talked of evolution "every other week."

"Well, do you believe the story?" inquired J. Ernest Isherwood, counsel for Mrs. Morris and a past state commander of the American Legion.

She shook her head vigorously: "I do not."

Termed Theory Joke. Mrs. Morris, testifying in her own defense earlier in the hearing, said she discussed an article on evolution in a magazine, but added: "Upon my oath I told them it was a joke."

Mrs. Morris declared she had never struck any of the children with a mullah hat, but added that she once threatened Jack Jones with a poker after he grabbed the three-foot paddle from her and broke it over a seat.

She said she whipped the husky farm lad because she had overheard him call a girl "a wop."

"Where did you hit him?" asked Scott.

CHINESE PRINTERS HAVE TOUGH JOB WITH WAR NEWS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five Chinese language newspapers, all dailies, are working overtime to keep San Francisco's Chinatown informed on the war in the Far East.

It takes 6,000 separate pieces of type to print Chinese, and every line is hand-set. The rates in which it is kept are a good hundred times as large as an American printer's case.

The type-setter gets plenty of leg-work as well as footwork.

"The Young China," local organ of the Nationalist party, was out with the first extra. It was a sheet 8 by 12 inches announcing the capture of Fengtai and was distributed free.

There are some 50,000 Chinese in San Francisco, and all are in a bellicose mood. A stream of letters and telegrams urging Gen. Chiang Kai-shek to fight it out with Japan has gone to the homeland.

"The Chinese of San Francisco are mostly Cantonese, and Cantonese are the backbone of the Nationalist government," said John Yehall Chin, a younger leader in the local colony.

"We will certainly raise a fund for Red Cross work and whatever war materials may be needed. China has plenty of man power so there probably will be no recruiting here, except for aviators."

When the Japanese invaded Shanghai the Six Companies—which are not a commercial concern but a benevolent society—started an aviation school here for Chinese youth. The project was given up but some of the Chinese went on to become pilots.

Although most of Chinatown's population is American-born, nearly everyone here has relatives in China and a heavy correspondence is carried on.

TIENTSIN MAJOR COMMERCE CITY OF NORTH CHINA

Ancient Center Is Hub of Trade Arteries — Moves by Nippon Troops Fall to Dim Gala Night Life

WASHINGTON, D. C. (SpI)—Japanese troops were recently reported concentrating at Tientsin, 70 miles from the gates of Peiping. According to news dispatches from the Chinese city, its principal railway station was converted into an army supply depot for Nippon's soldiers and only military trains were leaving for Peiping with troops and military supplies.

"Tientsin is the chief commercial center of north China largely because of its geographic location," says a bulletin from the headquarters of the National Geographic society here.

"While the muddy Hai Ho, which links it with the Gulf of Chihli, can not be navigated by large ships, the city is only about 30 miles from the sea, and nearby Tangku on the lower Hai in reality is the Tientsin seaport. The Peking Ho flows into the city from the northwest and the Grand canal also passes through it. Besides these trade arteries, century-old caravan routes and railroads spread from Tientsin like spokes in a gigantic wheel, penetrating Shantung, Jehol, Manchukuo, Honan, Shanai, Kansu and inner Mongolia.

Has Modern Touch. "Few inland Chinese population centers display the modern aspect that the traveler discovers in Tientsin. While the city has its quarter of narrow, winding byways where children play amid odors typical of the foreign quarter spreads its influence amid modern settings. Within a stone's-throw of the tortuous streets are bank and commercial buildings of which most of the buildings were demolished following the Boxer trouble and the material used for roads and ball-bast for railroad beds. The wall became a wide boulevard—a novelty in an inland Chinese city at the time.

"While traders still ply the old routes and railroads and small vessels add to the commercial animation of Tientsin, there also are industries in the city that employ many of its 1,388,000 persons. Flour milling is a chief industry while cotton mills operate more than 200,000 spindles."

Anders Rites Set For 2 On Friday. Funeral services for C. W. Anders, 75, resident of Central Point for many years, who died August 5 in Muscatine, Iowa, while on a visit with his son, will be held at the Perle chapel at 2 p. m. Friday, the Rev. D. E. Millard officiating. Burial will be in Central Point cemetery. The body will arrive Friday morning.

WILL IMPROVE ROAD TO HUCKLEBERRY MT.

The old Huckleberry Mountain road is now being improved by a Rogue River national forest crew. The road connects with Crater Lake highway about three miles above Union Creek.

The road, about 4 1/2 miles long, will be graded, widened and given a smoother and more durable bed, forest headquarters here announced. The present road is described as steep, narrow and rough.

Best route to Huckleberry mountain at present is the road leading from Crater Lake highway just this side of Union Creek, the forest office said.
