AMERICAN VESSEL ON MERCY ERRAND BOMBERS TARGET

tended his "most profound sympathy" to American authorities for the government "is prepared to accept full responsibility to make full redress."

Both Chinese and Japanese rushed troops to the Paoshan-Lotten-Kaiting line northwest of Shanghai for an expected major battle along the wedge-shaped front Japanese have driven into Chinese territory.

The battle may determine Shanghai's fate.

Chinese were evacuating from other areas to strengthen their forces along the critical line and meet Japan's first major offensive.

It was estimated Japan will pit from 90,000 to 100,000 of her best troops and blue-jackets against an estimated half million Chinese regulars.

Whangpoo Barred The barrier which Chinese recently built across the Whangpoo river opposite the French concession was expected to play a vital part in the conflict. It prevents Japanese warships from operating in areas south of Shanghai.

It was the second time since Shanghai hostilities started that Americans were killed or wounded on shipboard. On Aug. 20, a sailor was killed and 17 were wounded when a shell struck the U. S. S. Augusta, flagship of the Asiatic fleet. Other Dollar liners, too, have been under Sino-Japanese cross-fire.

The incident came just as Sir Hugh Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugesson, Britain's ambassador to China, was reported recovering somewhat from bullet wounds suffered when a Japanese plane machine-gunned his car Thursday.

Japs Ponder Reply In Tokyo, the Japanese government pondered its reply to Britain's demand for a full apology for the attack.

Soviet Russia concluded a non-aggression pact with the Chinese government, and Japanese officials at Shanghai declared they believed the treaty contained "secret military clauses" under which China would receive aid from her Soviet neighbor.

On the waterfront itself, Japan girded for a general offensive against Chinese troops about Shanghai by massing land and naval forces for a drive on defense lines.

Bombs and shells again fell near the international area.

M-M STORE OPEN FOR BUSINESS IN MAIN ST. LOCATION

The M. M. department store today opened for business in its new location at 220-222 East Main street. All stock was moved from its previous location at Sixth street and Central avenue yesterday, without the loss of one day, and Charles S. Adair, manager, invites all residents of southern Oregon to inspect the new store, one of the most beautifully appointed in the city.

The present location is being leased from Mrs. Elizabeth Fluhrer and Clarence Meeker, owners of the two buildings whose ground floors were combined to make way for the strictly modern M.M. department store. Intensive remodeling work on the present location was started July 5 and is completed except for the basement, which will be utilized as a selling space in the near future.

Of special interest to women shoppers and visitors at the new store is the ladies' lounge on the balcony, which is modernly furnished with chrome chairs, writing desks, a comfortable day-sleeping, telephone and rest room.

All fixtures are new and up-to-date and are mahogany trimmed in gumwood. The floor is maple. Display cases, counters and benches are all new and of the latest design. The entire store is air-conditioned.

A huge island display window at the entrance and strictly modern show windows at either side of the double entrance makes the store front one of the most beautiful in southern Oregon. Black tile below the show windows adds to the general beauty of the store front.

Wide aisles and excellent lighting inside, and convenient location of all departments, makes shopping a pleasure at the new store.

HIKING BECOMING POPULAR PASTIME AT OREGON CAVES

OREGON CAVES.—(Sp.)—Already recognized for its underground beauty, this national monument is coming into its own as a "hiker's paradise," reports Ranger Max Carter here on summer assignment.

Nine miles of trails emanate from the Oregon Caves chateau area through thick forests still carpeted with wild flowers. On the summit of Mt. Elijah, four miles by trail from the chateau, a large snowdrift still lingers, but at its edges spring flowers are blooming.

Not far from Mt. Elijah in a small valley are the Bigelow lakes, covered with Wocus or pond lilies now in the midst of early blooms. When in full bloom, the flowers transform the surface of the water into a solid mass of yellow with a slightly green background where broad flat leaves are visible behind the blossoms. Near the lakes are found tall larkspur, Indian paintbrush, Prince's pine, wild columbine, bleeding hearts, butterballs, phlox, star flowers and many others.

Oregon caves hiking is made more interesting by the presence of wild life in the surrounding woods. Mountain grouse are frequently seen. Occasionally in pairs they talk down trails in front of hikers, almost oblivious of the proximity of human beings. Deer eye hikers inquisitively, and seem almost without fear until frightened by movements they fail to understand. Here and there bobcat tracks are perceived. Always present are pine squirrels, chipmunks and golden-mantled squirrels.

GERMANS HELPED BY ITALY'S QUEEN

KASSEL, Germany.—(AP)—To the initiative of Queen Elena of Italy, Germany owes its first hospital for special treatment of inflammation of the brain (encephalitis) recently opened here.

Queen Elena had been told by her daughter Giovanna, queen of Bulgaria, of a cure discovered by a Bulgarian herbalist. She had clinics opened in Rome, Milan and Turin.

A visit to her elder daughter Matilda, who lives here as the wife of the provincial governor, Prince Philip of Hesse, resulted in two German experts being sent to Italy to study the remedy. The new clinic, named for Elena, is to get medicinal supplies free from Italy until Germany can produce them.

Leaky Lumber Ship Tries Run To Port

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The leaking coastwise lumber schooner, Port Orford, left its overnight haven at Shelter Cove for a 166-mile run to this port today, coast guard headquarters reported.

Accompanying the crippled vessel, which carries a crew of 28, was the coast guard cutter, Shawnee.

The Port Orford sprang leaks late yesterday afternoon when she was 12 miles from Shelter Cove. She was en route from Port Orford with 1,000,000 feet of lumber.

THE OTHER WOMAN LIVES JUST AROUND THE CORNER

IT may seem unreasonable, but most men cannot understand why a woman who is usually happy and loving should have recurring periods when her whole character seems changed. Her moods irritate the dearest, the discomfort that all women must endure. He does not know what it is to do housework with an aching back and falling energy. All he does know is that other women seem more cheerful by comparison.

Are you such a three-quarter wife? Don't let the ordeals that all women face cause you avoidable discomfort or endanger your home. Do as so many women have—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tune up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."
