HOLDUP SUSPECT DEMANDS HEARING

James K. Jackson, transient, charged in a complaint signed by Tony Senodeno, local resident, with theft of his auto, arraigned in justice court this morning, entered a plea of not guilty, and demanded a preliminary hearing, that was set for tomorrow morning. Bail was fixed at $1000. Jackson is held in the county jail.

Senodeno claims that Jackson also took 55 cents, and a package of cigarettes from him, upon alleged threats to kill, while riding from one beer parlor to another last Saturday night. Senodeno left his auto, and Jackson drove south with it, wrecking it near the county poor farm, when he crashed into a mail box.

Jackson told the court he desired to speak in his own behalf.

2ND GRANDCHILD DELIGHTS MAYOR

Mayor George W. Porter beamed with pride and joy today. The reason? The mayor is a grandfather for the second time.

Unmindful of Labor Day, the busy little stork declined to rest yesterday but instead delivered at exactly 5:05 a. m. a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Porter of 819 Minnesota avenue, son and daughter-in-law of Mayor and Mrs. Porter. The baby, weighing seven pounds and five ounces, was born at Community hospital.

It was the second child for the Jack Porters. Their first was a boy, George Alvin, who will be six years old next December 22.

SALEM, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The state supreme court returned from its long summer vacation today to hear the appeal of the Weighers, Warehousemen and Cereal Workers' Union, an International Longshoremen's affiliate, from a Multnomah circuit court order holding that the Portland central labor council was within its rights in expelling the warehousemen.

The warehousemen seek an order enjoining the council from "interfering" with the union's affairs, contending the council had no right to issue the expulsion order.

JACKSON COUNTY DISPLAY AT FAIR ATTRACTS THROU

Jackson county's main booth stole the show on opening day of the state fair in Salem. And it was the model of Medford municipal airport that attracted the crowds to the booth.

So reported Tom Ginn today upon his return from the fair. The Labor Day holiday and perfect weather combined to bring an immense throng to the fair grounds, Ginn said.

"I was truly surprised," Ginn declared. "Jackson county had only half a booth for its fresh and canned fruit exhibit and yet more people stopped at this booth than at any of the others. The other booths were all larger, too."

"The fruit display comprised a solid bank of fresh pears sloping from an apex. Through this was an X of peaches. Apples, tomatoes and canned fruits and vegetables formed a border."

"It was the airport model, however, that attracted the people. It formed the foreground of the exhibit just inside the booth rail. It was really astounding how much interest was shown in it and how much comment it elicited from the spectators."

The model was built at fire headquarters here by Edward Conroy and Howard Glascock, firemen. It is a faithful reproduction of the airport down to the smallest detail.

The booth was arranged by Fletcher Fish, federal fruit inspector here, and he was in charge of it yesterday, Ginn related. All day Sunday and part of the night were spent in preparing the booth but the time was well expended, Ginn declared.

Jackson county is also represented at the fair by an exhibit of semiprecious stones and minerals, arranged by the Southern Oregon Gem and Mineral society.

EARL FEHL FILES DEMAND THAT DAY RETURN JUDGESHIP

shp has not been restored, following his conviction of ballot theft conspiracy by a Klamath county jury, in eight minutes, in August, 1933. No action relative to the claims of Fehl could be recognized unless Fehl filed a suit in circuit court to establish his claims, it was pointed out.

County Judge Day was appointed by former Governor Julia L. Meier following Fehl's conviction and in the following election was elected to the position.

"CAN PEOPLE APPRECIATE THE CHOICER TOBACCOS IN CAMELS?"

A QUESTION FREQUENTLY HEARD...

ANSWER:

THEY SMOKE MORE CAMELS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE IN THE WORLD

Men and women respond to the unadorned fact that costlier tobaccos play the most important part in making Camel Cigarettes milder and better

THE deeper you dig into the facts—the more you find that nothing man can do to inferior tobaccos can take the place of good tobaccos to start with. As you'd expect, naturally milder, better-tasting tobaccos cost more to buy. And Camel willingly pays millions more to get them. That's why Camels are different—why they appeal more to men and women in all walks of life—why they're the largest-selling cigarette in America...or in the world!

"Camels went 'round the world with me. I'll bet on them any time," famous round-the-world reporter, Miss Dorothy Kilgallen, says. "With Camels, steady smoking's a steady pleasure."

"I have a long record as a Camel smoker—I've smoked them for many years," Bill Hilden states. "Here's one big point I'd like to make about Camels—they're the cigarette that I've found doesn't upset my nerves."

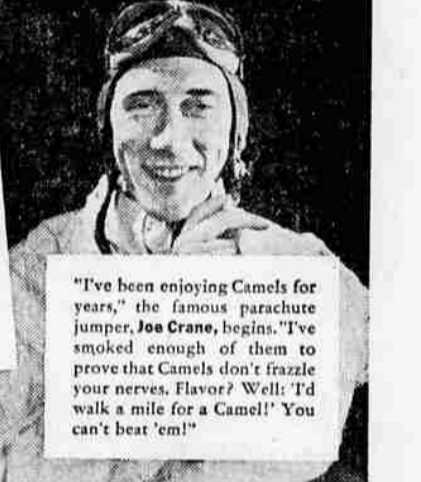

"To me, Camels mean 'Cheer' with a capital 'C,'" the famous motorboat sportsman, George Reiss, says. "I also like Camel's hearty flavor. And I like the 'lift' I get with a Camel after I've been through a tough race."

"Camels go big out our way," says Charlie Belden, boss of the Pitchfork Ranch, Wyoming. He is shown delivering a load of pronghorn antelopes to a zoo, via plane. "Cowboys are great Camel smokers. They like that 'lift' they get out of Camels."

"So many girls at college smoke Camels," says Miss Josephine O'Neill, co-ed. "Mental work often has an effect on digestion. I find that during meals and after, Camels make food seem twice as good."

"I've been enjoying Camels for years," the famous parachute jumper, Joe Crane, begins. "I've smoked enough of them to prove that Camels don't frazzle your nerves. Flavor? Well: I'd walk a mile for a Camel! You can't beat 'em!"

COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN A MATCHLESS BLEND

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic. The skillful blending of leaf with leaf brings out the full delicate flavor and mildness of these choice tobaccos.
