Couple United in Impressive Rites Thursday at Noon

A noon ceremony Thursday united in marriage Miss Jeanne Fabrick, daughter of Mrs. Margaret S. Fabrick, and Paul J. Selby, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Selby of Burley, Idaho, at St. Mark's Episcopal church.

The impressive service was read by Rev. E. S. Bartlam before about 200 friends and members of the families. A background of white gladiolus and chrysanthemums heightened beauty of the rite. Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums barked the pulpit. Tall tapers and pink gladiolus spread out on each side. Vows were spoken under a floral wedding bell of white button chrysanthemums.

Miss Mary Brown played Mendelssohn's wedding march on the organ for entrance of the bride party and additional wedding music for the exit, with incidental music preceding the ceremony. George Peckham sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Glenn Fabrick, brother of the bride, gave her in marriage. Her attendants were Mrs. H. S. Ingle, her sister, as matron of honor, and the Misses Kathleen and Lenore Estes and Marjorie Kelly as bridesmaids. Mr. E. P.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The crop reporting board today lowered its previous prediction for the 1937 pear crop to 30,311,000 bushels.

Improved prospects in Washington during August being offset by scab and blight losses in Oregon. The estimate still pointed to the largest crop on record. Last year's production was 26,956,000 bushels, while the average for the five years ending in 1932 was 24,334,000 bushels.

Peach prospects declined during August in both Oregon and Washington. The board estimated the total national production at 89,396,000 bushels, an increase of 11,748,000 over last year. The average for the five years ending in 1932 was 87,298,000.

CHICAGO STUDENT BUILDS ELECTRIC CHAIR, AND DIES

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Bertram R. Braucher, 27-year-old honor student with a technical knowledge of electricity, used a home-made electric chair to end his life.

His body was found in his room last night with a strand of copper wire attached to a wrist and another wrapped around the right ankle.

A transformer which boosted the current to a high voltage made the device a lethal weapon. Dr. J. S. Taylor, who pronounced Braucher dead from electrocution, said probably 2,000 volts had coursed through his body for more than an hour.

Tied to an electric plug was a card reading: "Pull out this plug before touching me." Another card attached to the transformer warned: "Danger, high voltage."

Ralph W. Braucher, research engineer for the state planning commission and father of the victim, said the latter had become discouraged over inability to find work so that he might complete a course in air conditioning.
