

SECRETARY SNELL WILL LOOM LARGE IN 1938 CAMPAIGN

Will Run for Congress if Steiwer Retires — Also Seen As gubernatorial Aspirant if Martin Quits

By PAUL W. HARVEY, JR.
SALEM, Sept. 17. — (P) — The 1938 political campaign, eight months away, centers today around the secretary of state's office because the races for U. S. senator and governor depend largely upon what Secretary of State Earl Snell plans to do.

Snell, young as far as politics is concerned, has his eye on Senator Frederick Steiwer's job and will run if rumors that Steiwer plans to retire are true.

Snell also may run for governor if Governor Martin does not run. Although a Republican, Snell has indicated he will not run against the Democratic governor.

May Skip Governorship.
When Snell began his political career a few years ago, he was said to have outlined his future in three steps—secretary of state, governor and senator.

But with Senator Steiwer reported to be considering retirement because of ill health, Snell may skip the second step if the time is ripe next year for a Republican.

However, if Steiwer and Martin both seek re-election, Snell may run for secretary of state again and wait four years for his big chance.
Democrats and Republicans alike agree that the Ku Klux Klan issue, raised by President Roosevelt's appointment of Senator Black to the supreme court, may give the Republicans lots of cannon fodder next election. And it may give Snell his chance.

Martin Seen Candidate.
There is every indication that Governor Martin may run again, and Republicans want Snell to run against Wills Mahoney of Klamath Falls, who intends to run on the Democratic ticket for Steiwer's post. The heads of the G. O. P. think Snell, who has managed his political career well by popularizing himself through traffic safety campaigns, would make a good race against Mahoney, who almost defeated Senator McNary last election.

Of immediate political importance, there is the naming of a successor to Federal Judge Claude McCulloch, who must resign his Democratic state chairmanship before rising to the bench.
He may call a meeting of the state Democratic central committee to name his successor, or may just resign and let Nadie Strayer of Baker succeed him.

Believe it or not, we're going back to the Indians.
Former U. S. Senator Robert N. Stanford of Baker, who appeared before the land board Monday to sponsor his plan to block eastern Oregon grazing lands, put it this way.
The Taylor grazing act, which he said is poorly administered, will put all eastern Oregon livestock men out of business. Then eastern Oregon farmers will be ruined because they won't be able to sell to the stockmen.

Since western Oregon is dependent upon eastern Oregon, the western Oregon civilization will decay. And we all will go back to the Indians.
But according to testimony of the stockmen at the meeting, the grazing lands are now so worthless that the Indians won't take them.
The board of control is at Pendleton today to hold a meeting at the eastern Oregon state hospital. Incidentally, there is a roundup at Pendleton.

Hop producers have directed many appeals to Governor Martin to stop the "beer war" between the teamsters and brewery workers unions, which has stopped the flow of eastern beer into Washington and Oregon.
The producers say that eastern brewers threaten to boycott Oregon hops unless the squabble is called off. Such a boycott would mean ruin to the Oregon hop industry because 99 percent of its hops are shipped east.

The governor admits he is powerless to do anything about it, but the dispute may be ironed out in federal court.

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY VIRGINIA FRANCIS,

Just announce at the breakfast table some morning that steak, homemade potato chips and French fried onion rings are scheduled for dinner that very night, and you won't have to ring the dinner bell a second time. At least that is the way it is with the potato chips—and onion rings—French fried in the Thrift Cooker of the Hoitpoint electric range.

well of the electric range can bake, steam and do a bit of waterless cookery is not news to homemakers. But that it can French fry is another man-bites-dog story. All you do is lift the Thrift Cooker kettle out of its well and place it on the flat surface of the Calrod unit and attach the special frying basket. On this adaptable unit you can easily maintain the exact temperature by merely switching from controlled high to controlled low heat. And it's a made-to-order frying kettle—deep, roomy, and frying basket-equipped!

And now for some French frying. You might fry your potato chips first and while they are cooling off, whisk the onion rings into the same fat. (As temperature control eliminates the burning of fat you can strain it and have it to use another time.) Meantime, your thick juicy steak can be broiling away to savory proportions in the smokeless broiler, and if your husband is like some we know of, you might not have a

MARION SHERIFF UNINTIMIDATED BY PINBALL COUNSEL

Will Take Advice of Assistant Attorney General Rather Than Tooze On Legality of Slot Machines

SALEM, Sept. 17. — (AP) — Sheriff A. C. Burk of Marion county will continue to be advised by Assistant Attorney General Ralph Moody about his attitude toward pinball games, and will not be "a party in aiding and abetting the slot machine interests," says a letter by Burk today to Walter L. Tooze of Portland, attorney for pinball interests.

The letter is in reply to one from Tooze threatening suit against Burk if the operation of pinball games in Marion county continues to be interfered with, and setting out what he believes the sheriff's course of action should be in view of the recent order of Judge Arlie Walker in Polk county sustaining a demurrer in the case of the state against C. C. Coats.

Take Official Advice
"I will say that it is the position of this office," replied Sheriff Burk, "that we take our advice from the duly appointed or elected officer to give us this advice, which, in this case, is the assistant attorney general of Oregon."

"I might call your attention to the fact that in this county the legality of the machines in question has been settled in the case of Arnold and Campbell against A. C. Burk and others."
"This office will continue to act under the instructions of the attorney general's office and at no time be a party in aiding and abetting the slot machine interests in Marion county or the state of Oregon."

Hurt Damage Suit
"In those counties where continued unlawful interference with our property is threatened we will have but one recourse," Tooze wrote the sheriff. "We believe the sheriff and his bond can be held for the damages sustained. We hope that in no instance will we be forced to sue. We are operating lawfully and within the law, and we simply plead with law enforcement officials themselves to act lawfully and not arbitrarily."

LEGION TO CAMPAIGN AGAINST 'JUNKING' OF MEN OVER 40 YEARS

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. — (P) — American Legion headquarters today announced a concerted campaign against the "junking" of men over 40 in the nation's employment scheme.

The plans were disclosed by Robert G. Cooper, of Indianapolis, Miss., chairman of the National Veterans' Employment committee, and will be laid before the annual Legion convention here next week.
The Legion will furnish "every employer in the United States" a booklet showing "the economic value in terms of maturity of judgment, ability, and dependability of World War veterans," Cooper said.

National Commander Harry W. Colmery arrived at Legion headquarters today after an airplane trip from Indianapolis. He predicted the convention would be "one of the outstanding conventions of all time."
The business sessions of the convention opening Sunday night will be comparatively peaceful, with a minimum of controversial issues to be debated, inspection of more than 600 resolutions received at national headquarters indicated today.

Not one of the 600-odd resolutions from state departments, concerned a proposal for a general pension for World War veterans. Demands will be made, however, for extension of "government protection" for widows and orphans of these veterans."
