Annual Trapshoot Will Be Feature of Elks Convention Program

NEIGHBOR LODGES ENTER TEAMS IN SUNDAY TOURNEY

Competition Open To Public As Well As Elks—Trophies Provided — Refreshments On Grounds.

Assurance of a large attendance at the Oregon State Elks annual trapshoot to be held at the Medford Gun club grounds at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, has inspired the club management to make special arrangements to handle the crowd. Extra help was at work at the club grounds today in preparation for the event and the local club has added a number of fine trophies in addition to those that have been donated by the Medford Elks lodge.

Assurances have been received of full teams from Bend and Klamath Falls, and the Medford club is planning for an entry list of more than 50 shooters when the tournament commences.

Open to Public.

The program will be open to all trapshooters and non-members of the Elks order will be awarded special trophies donated by the Medford Gun club. The beautiful Medford Elks lodge trophies will be awarded to members of the order only.

The program will consist of 50 singles, 50 handicap and 12 pairs of doubles targets, with the prizes awarded on the Lewis class system which distributes prizes with equal generosity to the low as well as the high bracket shooters.

Skeet Field Open.

The skeet field will be open to shooters desiring to enjoy this modern form of trapshooting. Refreshments will be served on the grounds. There will be no grounds fees charged and no admission, and the Medford Elks lodge and the gun club urge the public to attend the shoot, either as contestants or visitors.

INCLUDE KENASTON IN FREE FOR ALL GRAPPLING MELEE

It will be a battle royal next Monday night in the Medford armory, promoter Mack Lillard announced definitely today, with Bob Kenaston, the Mad Marine from Gold Hill taking a hand in proceedings after an extended tour through the east.

In addition to Kenaston, grapplers who will face off in the opening brawl are Sailor Dick Trout, Marshall Carter, Young Zbyszko, Bobby Wagner and Les Wolfe. As usual, the first two men eliminated will return for the opening bout, next two out will tangle in the middle affair, and the final pair of wrestlers remaining in the ring will meet in the main event. All matches will be for one fall or a one-hour time limit.

Kenaston, according to reports, has developed a highly effective airplane spin since last appearing here, and with his famous Gold Hill crab, has rung up a sensational record in eastern points. He is visiting his mother for a short time, which enabled Promoter Lillard to sign him for the program next week.

NO SET-UPS CARDED FOR OPENING GAMES OF GRIDIRON SEASON

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Many a football coach will sigh for the good old days of early season setups on Saturday when a dozen games capable of handing headaches to coaches, players and prognosticators appear on the national front.

The firing will be heaviest on the Pacific coast, with Washington and Iowa, California and St. Mary's, Stanford and Santa Clara, and Oregon and U.C.L.A. providing the top contests.

Washington, defeated in this year's Rose Bowl game, meets an Iowa team making its debut under Iri Tubbs. The Huskies lost seven men from last year's Pacific coast conference champions, a loss that should whittle them down to Iowa's calibre.

Biggest intersectional clash on the day will be the Ohio State-Texas Christian embroglio at Columbus. The Horned Frogs come north, 41 strong, with a husky line and a versatile set of backs. Ohio State has been brought along slowly and the pre-season bombast from the Buckeye bailiwick has been in a lower key than in previous years.

MARION COURT HOUSE PLANS WILL CONTINUE

SALEM, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Recent orders from Washington, winding up the affairs of the PWA on December 31, will not halt construction of a new Marion county courthouse, provided the voters desire the project, officials declared today.

"If we canot receive any assistance from the government we will try and raise our own funds," Commissioner Newlett said.

The cost of the courthouse was estimated at $55,000.

Jadwiga Has Broken Toe

Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, Polish tennis star, was kept out of the Pacific Southwest tennis tournament at Los Angeles by fracture of the big toe suffered on the train trip west. She is shown in her hospital bed as her official hostess, Mrs. Stefanit M. Beal, autographs her cast.

Eight Grand Little Men To Trade Socks Tonight

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Eight of the grandest little fighting men on earth will dance fiddle for the czar and his court under the dazzling arc lights of the Polo Grounds tonight.

They'll play fiddles with lefts, rights and uppercuts on Promoter Mike Jacobs' "carnival of champions" and, if the press agents aren't kidding, a crowd of 40,000 upward will pay more than $300,000 to watch four title holders fight to keep their crowns.

This is the all-star lineup, all the matches 15 rounds to a decision if not satisfaction:

Marcel Thil, the bald-headed man from France, who holds the European but not the world's middleweight championship, vs. Fred Apostoli, an ex-San Francisco bellhop with a good wallop and not much style.

Barney Ross, smart king of the welterweights from Chicago, vs. Seferino Garcia, the dangerous little Filipino with the celebrated "bolo punch."

Lou Ambers, lightweight champion from Herkimen, N. Y., who fights hard only when his crown is at stake, vs. Pedro Montanez, a real punching whirlwind from Puerto Rico, who is no slouch.

Sitxo Escobar, king of the bantamweights and also from Puerto Rico, vs. Baltimore's Harry Jeffra, who has been accusing his rival of ducking him for two years.

The two sure-fire winners are Promoter Jacobs and Uncle Sam, who hope for a gross gate of $400,000. As for the rest, it's pretty much of a tossup fight for fight. Broadway's smart money, which often finds its resting place in some "sucker's" hip pocket, is riding with Ross, Apostoli, Ambers and Escobar.

Pair, crisp weather was the prediction for the night.

THOMSON LEADS FIELD IN MEDAL PLAY OVER TRICKY BELMONT LINKS

BELMONT, Mass., Sept. 23.—(AP) With Belmont's course record tucked under his belt, long-hitting Jimmy Thompson swung off with a two-stroke advantage today on the second half of the 36-hole medal play of Belmont's $12,000 open golf tournament.

His eyes trained on the $3000 first place money of the season's richest tournament, the blond course-buster from Shawnee, Pa., led 153 other starters seeking the 64 places to which the field will be cut tonight.

Thomson came home with two 34s in the first round. He played with hands taped to ease the pain of blisters acquired in a heavy string of exhibitions.

All the leaders, who include most of goldom's top flight, remained in the running after yesterday's dawn to dusk procession over the tricky 6517-yard course.

Sam Snead from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., co-favorite with Lawson Little, Jr., of San Francisco, and Denny Shute, Boston+P. G. A. titlist, was in a three-way tie for second place with Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., and Dick Metz of Chicago. All carded 70s, one under par.

ST. MARYS WILL PLAY ASHLAND SATURDAY

St. Mary's high school will open their season Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Van Scoyoc field by tangling with Ashland junior high school.

Coach Wally Rickert has been drilling his outfit hard for the past week and reports it is in excellent condition for the opener. Little is known regarding the Ashland aggregation, but it is expected that Coach Earl Rogers will send a strong team against the Crimsoders.

BEAVERS AND PADRES ENJOY DECIDED EDGE IN LEAGUE PLAYOFFS

(By the Associated Press)

San Diego's Pardes, who lost 15 of their last 24 games in the Pacific Coast league schedule, and the Portland Beavers, 1936 champions who barely squeezed into the first division, today held decided advantages in the Shaughnessey playoffs.

Both teams have won the first two games of the seven-game playoffs to pick the teams which will meet in another seven-game series next week for the 1937 title.

Last night, behind the excellent pitching of Manuel Salvo, the Padres defeated Sacramento, 4 to 1, as the Portland crew, with the help of an assortment of extra base hits, trimmed the San Francisco Seals, 13 to 3.

A triple play by Pete Coscarart, two doubles by Fred Bedore and two-baggers by Pitcher Bill Radonits, Nino Bongiovani and Moose Clabaugh, marked the Beavers' 17-hit assault of four Seals pitchers.

Portland started its scoring and hitting orgy in the second inning with four runs on as many hits. Clabaugh started the Beavers off when he was walked to start the second inning and then stole second as he did Tuesday night. He scored on a hit. Bongiovani, Portland centerfielder, had a perfect day at bat, geting four for four and drawing a pair of passes.

Third games of the series will be played tonight. The Seals go to Portland for the fourth game Saturday and fifth game Sunday. If it is necessary to play the two remaining games, they will be played in a double-header Monday.

The San Diego-Sacramento series will be shifted to San Diego Saturday.

CRESCENT CITY FAIR BRINGS FINE HORSES FOR 3 DAYS RACING

CRESCENT CITY, Sept. 23.—(Spl.)—Bound for the Bay Meadows and Tanforan track, and later for Santa Anita, owners of some of the finest racing stock in the west brought their horses here for the Del Norte county fair to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week.

Directors of the local fair have been forced to rush 18 new stalls to completion to accommodate the more than 70 horses which will appear in the races here for the $3000 prize money. The majority of the horses are the same as those which appeared at Longacres in Seattle, the Multnomah county fair at Gresham, the state fair at Salem, and last week at Myrtle Point.

Another feature of the local fair will be the installation of pari-mutuel machines which will be in operation for the first time in this section of California.

On Friday night, boxing will be a feature attraction in the Veterans Memorial hall, headlined by the ten-round main event between Larry Tiller, Orick, and Ival Wilson, Eureka, whose ten-round battle at Eureka a week ago left the Eureka fans groggy.

Saturday night will be the featured night, with a large display of fireworks, to be followed by a dance in the Memorial hall.

Stars appear to twinkle because of disturbances in the earth's atmosphere.

ALUMNI TO DRILL UNDER ARCS FOR SATURDAY'S TILT

All Members Asked To Report At 8 O'clock Tonight —Bowerman In 'Dumps' After Tiger Scrimmage.

All members of the alumni football team are requested to be at the high school stadium tonight by 8 o'clock, when that team and the Medford high Tigers will go through light workouts at different ends of the field in preparation for their game next Saturday afternoon. Practice sessions this evening will be under lights.

Bill Bowerman is floundering in the the depths of pessimism again.

The Medford high school Black Tornado yesterday afternoon received its first "play-for-keeps" scrimmage of the year. Some 45 Tiger footballers hammered the daylights out of each other for the better part of two hours, and when it was all over, Coach Bowerman glumly remarked that he was "glad we are not playing a conference game next Saturday."

It was apparent that the head man was far from satisfied with the initial actions of his squad under game conditions. In fact, his first words, as he slowly followed the sweating athletes to the dressing room, were,

"The guards are terrible."

Queried as to who did look good during the tough scrimmage session, he answered, "Nobody looked good."

Guards Look Bad.

So that, in short, is the low-down on the Medford high school football situation, from the coaching standpoint, as the Tigers fight to get in shape for their opening battle of the year Saturday against a power-house alumni aggregation. And, as before mentioned, it's the guard positions that seem to be causing most of the headaches.

Yesterday, Bowerman had Scripter, Archibald, Eri, Hibert and Lindberg working in those slots, and they weren't clearing out satisfactorily for the fast-stepping ball packers. However, one bright situation appeared to sideline observers, and that was the manner in which the offensive backfield clicked off yardage despite mediocre blocking ahead of it.

Bobby Ettinger, who is being used at both the left halfback and blocking quarterback position; Jack Bowman, Jack Hill and Eldon Grow all ripped off sizeable chunks of ground. Grow, who has been having trouble learning how to carry his knees high, looked like a pretty fair fullback, and Bowman, in the left halfback position, broke loose several times for long touchdown runs.

That backfield operated behind a forward wall consisting of Red Root and Don Monteith at the ends, Dale Howard and Dan Earheart at the tackles, Scripter, Archibald and Wally Eri at the guards, and Prentice, center. Barrow saw some action at tackle, also.

The defensive outfit, which was given possession of the ball only for a short time, was made up of Shorty Campbell in the quarterback position, Stead and Horner at the halfbacks and Bayliss at full. On the line, Reich and Dickey performed at ends, Baker and Barrow at tackles, Hibert and Lindberg at the guards, and Stevens and Prentice at center. Miller also saw duty at end on both lines, as did Stevens, center.

Lineup Uncertain.

Coach Bowerman said yesterday that he wouldn't be certain of his starting lineup for the alumni game until following the practice tonight.

On the alumni front, Coach Henderson revealed today that he was certain of 20 players, and that several more would undoubtedly turn out for practice tonight.

Backs already lined up who will face the Tigers Saturday are Dick Lewis, Clyde Fichtner, Leo Ghelardi, Jim Bayliss, John Smith, Bill Knips, Bert Luman, Bernal Slead, Jerry Trill and Blondy Lewis. Linemen are Lloyd Hammack, Stan Kunzman, Ron Baker, John Dickonsin, Keith Estes, Ole Severson, Gene Orr, Done Greeve and Bob Hinman. Don Stewart and Leo Sakralda will be used in either line or backfield.

Hunter Bags Two In Few Seconds At Gypsy Springs

And here's the best true deer story of the year.

S. J. T. Meadows, hunting at Gypsy Springs yesterday, bagged a fine five-point blacktail. Its companion, astonished, stood looking down at its fallen friend. Meadows leveled off and made it two in a row within a few seconds.

Charley Reames brought back a big muletail from the Bly country in eastern Oregon. Glen Stewart and D. A. Davis, hunting separately on the Greensprings mountain, each shot blacktails weighing well over 175 pounds.

KLAMATH BOYS HELD AFTER STORE ENTRY

EUGENE, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Jimmy and Tommy Banks, Klamath Falls youths apprehended by a merchant patrolman in a local hardware store Tuesday night, were held in the county jail here today.

Police said the boys, when captured, carried three revolvers, two boxes of cartridges, hunting knives and a pair of field-glasses.

PLAYING LEAP FROG is old stuff for football players of Texas Christian University, for that's their nickname. Here's one of the Horned Frogs, 200-pound Lacey McClanahan, hurling himself over the line in practice as the Fort Worth gridders prepared for a tough schedule.

Billy Hulen Says:

Yankees Triumph Seen As Proof Offense Is Best

Well, "them Yanks" went and done it again, and so far as the American league pennant scramble is concerned, there isn't even a whisper left.

Billy Hulen.

By pounding out a double win over the sad St. Louis Browns yesterday, the company of Dimaggio, Gehrig, Dickey, et al, practically eliminated all mathematical chance for the second-place Detroit Tigers to knock them off the league and world championship pinnacle. Even though the Tigers managed to stop the Red Sox, there just aren't enough games left to play for the Detroits to catch up with the Rupert Rifles. Oh of course, if the Tigers should happen to win all their remaining 11 games and the Yanks drop their 12, the two clubs would be tied. The odds are one million to one it will not happen, so there is nothing else to do but admit that the fellows who play for Colonel Rupert are in again. So, it's all over, definitely and finally, and so what?

About all it means to this pillar of learning is the fact it reveals a pretty good answer to the age-old baseball question as to which is the most important phase of the game, defense or offense? It is general knowledge in the better circles of the national pastime that "them Yanks" had only two pitchers this season, their names being Goofy Gomez and Red Ruffing. The rest of the boys out there on the hill for Joe McCarthy's pupils were considered "throwers." So, with only two pitchers worthy of the name, all the Yankees did was make a joke of the so-called rag regatta.

The answer, of course, was contained in the booming bludgeons of the Messrs. Di Mag, Dickey, Gehrig, Powell and a few other gentlemen. We almost forgot Tony Lazzeri. Anyway, it's a typical Yankee outfit, long on punch at the plate and short on what the experts like to call "important" defensive strength. In a peanut shell, it's the old, old angle of, 'the best defense is a strong offense," be it baseball, football, basketball or blind man's buff.

You take a football eleven that has the pigskin all the time and the other outfit isn't going to do much scoring. The same in basketball.

So far as the Yankees went this year, they followed the same system. Keep the ball out of the park and the other team has got a long ways to go to catch up, was the New Yorkers battle cry. They did pretty well along those lines, too.

Although the American league fight has ended with another k.o. for the Yankees, there is still quite a struggle going on over in the National for the right to spar around in the World Series with the world champs before taking the count. Cub hopes were darkened yesterday when the New York Giants slapped on a 6-0 disgrace before the largest crowd of the year in Chicago and increased their lead to two and a half games again. If the Giants win again today, fans might as well figure on an all-New York classic once more. But, if Charlie Grimm's Chicagos happen to cop, watch out for one of the greatest stretch battles in league history. (Turn to page one and either run for the crying room or start laying bets that Curt Davis will win a game from the Yanks in the big show.)

You've got to hand it to Les Wolfe, he's tops in his line. There have been several other wrestling gents hereabouts off and on who were hated considerably by the guys who park in the balcony or watch it from the ringside, but in comparison to the Terrible Texan, they were lily-white and starting to sprout wings. Without doubt, he is the most despised grappler to ever step foot inside the local squared circle, and that includes fellows like the Black Dragon, Bob Kenaston (who, by the way, is in Medford now), Ted Christy and Joe Smolinski.

It's not that Wolfe is outright savage and mean in his tactics. Cruel, would be a better word for it, and he positively is that. He has shown absolutely no mercy for his opponent, even when he has every advantage in the world. Last Monday, for instance, he refused to break a Boston crab hold with which he was punishing Gorilla Pogi. Although awarded the fall by Referee Zbyszko, Wolfe continued to bounce his hulking frame up and down on the straining Pogi back, and when he was finally torn off, Pogi was as near beaten and crushed to a pulp as any we have ever witnessed. He was really a sorry sight, what with the blood streaming from a cut over the eye and his entire body limp as a dishrag.

The crowd, while not making any great demonstration, was one of the angriest in many months. However, instead of shouting to "throw the bum out of town," the spectators, or most of them, appealed to Mack Lillard to get someone in here who can give Wolfe a beating. They made it clear that nothing would satisfy until Wolfe was whipped within an inch of his life.

All of which makes it apparent that we have a meanie what is a meanie in our midst. If so, Promoter Mack can forget all about the rather meagre houses that have greeted him for quite some spell, because it's the ruffians and hate-producers that pack them in.

Footwear was in use more than 3500 years ago, the ancients utilizing various materials such as pelts of animals, metals, grass, laves, bark and wood. In some sections of the world heels were first used to keep the feet well above the burning desert sands.

Cream that is a day or two old is easier to whip than fresh cream.

MELTON SUBDUES DESPERATE CUBS TO JACK UP LEAD

Giants Yearling Squelches Bruins With 6-Hit Hurling—Davis Faces Schumacher In Today's Go.

By BILL BONI
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

It was Hal Schumacher against Curt Davis today as the Giants and the Cubs went into the grand finale of their super de luxe, pennant-or-nothing series at Wrigley field. But, from the Giants' side of the fence, at least half of the battle is won.

When Cliff Melton put his six-hit damper on the Bruins yesterday to squelch them, 6-0, it packed up the Terrymen's lead to two and a half games. So, even if the Clubs should belt Schumacher out of the box this afternoon, as they have on three previous occasions, the Giants still will go home on top of the pack by a game and a half.

Then there'll be only the Dodgers, Phils and Bees left to subdue—clubs which, from past experience, the Giants know aren't as tough to take as the Cubs.

Cubs Not So Tough.

Not that the Cubs were so tough yesterday. Melton, the lanky, gangling first-year varsity man who ranks second only to Hubbell on Bill Terry's staff, attended to that.

He attended to it so well that only two Bruins got as far as second base, none of them got more than a single and not one got a free ticket to first.

It was Melton's 18th win of the year and one of his best. Behind him the resourceful Giants, with Rightfielder Mel Ott still holding down third base and former Third Baseman Lou Chiozza playing center field, put on a demonstration of snappy fielding that caught two Cubs trying to make singles do the work of doubles and in general served as a proper setting for the Melton gem.

Cannonball Cliff's performance should bolster Schumacher's morale for today's task. Until yesterday, the second-string Giant southpaw had had no more success against Chicago than the first-string Giant righthander.

Yanks Near Clincher.

While the Giants pulled themselves back from the danger of sliding into second place, the Yankees moved within one game of clinching their second straight American league title.

Monte Pearson's 4-1 and Kemp Wicker's 11-0 trimmings of the Browns yesterday, despite the fact Detroit also won, left the Yanks needing only one more victory or one Tiger defeat to make the pennant a certainty.

Chicago touched a new high for baseball madness yesterday . . . the game brought out such a throng to Wrigley field that the gates were closed 40 minutes before game time, with thousands being turned away. . . . It was the largest week-day attendance in the history of the club . . . 41,875 were in the park when the gates were locked. . . . The first two games of the series drew 76,632. . . . A crowd of no less than 35,000 is in prospect for today's final.

NOVA GIVEN NOD OVER ERJAVEC IN 10 ROUNDS

DIANAS DO WELL IN DEER CHASE

PORTLAND, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Women claimed their share of the trophies of the hunt as the Oregon deer season progressed today.

Mrs. Nettie Patchall of Portland, aided by her hunting companion, Mrs. Dora Galtus, carried the two-point buck she killed in the McKenzie river district a mile and a half to the highway.

Two La Grande women reported success, Gertrude Nebecker downing a four-point, 180 pound buck, and Mrs. Fred Jones bagging a two-pointer.

Friends of Pat Chambers of Portland claimed for him the honor of making the first kill of the season with a bow and arrow. Chambers downed a 200-pound mule deer in the Canyon creek reserve with one arrow at 80 yards, they reported. Hunting in the reserve is restricted to archers.
