

SOVIET BOYS HAVE EQUAL CHANCE TO SUCCEED IN LIFE

All Paths Except the Road to Wealth Are Open to Russian School Youths—Life Rigidly Supervised

By Richard G. Massock

MOSCOW—From workers' homes, Russia's 14-year-olds go back to their classes this month to become good toilers and loyal supporters of the Soviet regime—unless war or something else happens to upset the "workers' paradise."

Constant supervision of his life by a communist, one-party government, the assurance of a job without riches if he behaves and perhaps distinction in some field of endeavor honored by the Soviets—that is the outlook for Ivan Ivanovich, the typical Russian boy.

He may become dictator, doctor, factory manager or flier, a scientist or soldier, or just a worker. Any career except that of capitalist, landlord or employer of labor is open to him.

Learn Trade Early

He might even study for the priesthood, as his "dear father, teacher and leader," Joseph Stalin, did before he became a revolutionary. But that is extremely improbable. For Ivanovich was born and reared under a godless, anti-religious regime. Atheism is part of his education.

At 14, Ivan is enjoying his seventh year of free education by the state and he has three more years to go to school. Then he may go to work, or to university, if he can pass the examinations.

If Ivan found school irksome and his parents were willing, he might go to work in a factory. Since he is only 14, he would work only four hours a day. His pay would be small, probably less than 100 rubles a month ($20 at the official exchange rate, but about $15 in buying power). And he would have to learn a trade in the factory school.

Must Enter Army

It is quite likely, therefore, that Ivan prefers school. His father is able to support him, especially since the government provides many facilities, including free medical service.

Government regulation is on every side of young Ivan. He will feel it more as he grows older and goes to work. He is not compelled to be a Young Pioneer, or member of the communist youth organization, for boys up to 16 years old, but most of his playmates—6,000,000 in the Soviet Union—are in it, so Ivan joins. He wears a red necktie as a badge of membership.

Five years from now, when he is 19, Ivan must begin two years of military service in the Red army. As a Young Pioneer he has learned discipline, marching to drumbeats and perhaps

Pigtail Curl Controversy Spreads to Porky Center

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Come now the answers from the heart of the nation's farm country to the poser on pigs posed by a native 16-year-old farm girl to the New Jersey department of agriculture.

The girl's question—"Which way does a pig tail twist?"—was asked of numerous Minneapolis citizens and none lacked for the answer, or some answer.

A resume of the answers indicates that a pig tail while clockwise, counter-clockwise or in a cone-like spiral, stands straight up or droops, or inclines toward the forepart, depending on the pig's diet, the weather and the whim of fate.

Said James Mullen, Minneapolis captain of detectives:

"When a pig is in good condition, well fed and well cared for, the tail sticks straight up. And when it's poor and mealy, the tail sort of flaps down. I know, because I'm a pretty good farmer."

The more erudite and considered opinion of Dean Walter C. Coffey of the college of agriculture, forestry and home economics at the University of Minnesota, was:

"Most of the pig tails that I can re-

Knows Little Of U. S.

Ivan has been taught that the capitalist countries surrounding Russia are his enemies. The "fascist" countries, particularly Germany and Japan, are preparing war against his fatherland, he is told.

Ivan, who does not talk to foreigners, probably has little feeling about the United States, knowing it principally as the country to which Soviet aviators have flown by way of the north pole and as a country noted for labor efficiency, which should be emulated.

CULL APPLES, HAY MAKE GOOD SILAGE

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Washington State college dairy experiments have shown that "an apple a day goes well with hay."

The college experiment station reported that a combination of 80 per cent cull apples and 20 per cent alfalfa hay proved to be "unusually palatable" silage. The cows increased their production and the butterfat gained in carotene content.

This state produces between 180,000 and 300,000 tons of cull apples annually. Disposal has been a major problem.

New Sort of Arson

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—(UP)—F. H. Grenshaw, 32, local resident, must serve 30 days in city jail following his conviction on charges of disturbing the peace. Officers who brought Grenshaw into court said he disturbed his neighbors by burning his estranged wife's clothes.

OILMAN OPERATES FREE BUS SERVICE

NEW LONDON, Tex. (AP)—John Lumpkin has started paying the obligations of a vow taken when his only son was killed in the school explosion here last March.

Lumpkin, an oil company executive, said then he would devote part of his time to serving mankind, particularly children.

Carrying out the vow, he bought a 50-passenger bus. Driving it himself, he travels through the countryside on Sunday mornings, taking scores of children and their parents to Sunday school and church. The service is free, and he will take them to any church they wish to attend.

Thomas Edison placed on the market the first commercial model of the phonograph in 1888. Within a few years, phonographs and records were sweeping the country.

Famed Railroad Ballad Composer Quits Cab Job

WASHINGTON (UP)—With whistles shrieking and flares covering his engine, the composer of the famous ballad, "The Wreck of the Old 97," for 32 years an engineer, made his last run for the Southern railway recently.

Residents all along the line between Manassas and Strasburg, Va., know Dave Tuck, and when they saw the flares and heard the whistle blasts, knew the 73-year-old engineer was saying good-bye.

When the wreck of the 97 occurred 36 years ago, Tuck was one of the first to reach the scene. He and a friend, David George, were so impressed, he says, that they sat down on the track and then and there composed the song that made them famous and involved them in long litigation. In later years they have tried unsuccessfully to collect royalties on the phonograph record sales of the ballad.

Shenandoah valley. It was many years ago, and people lacked sufficient faith in the new contraption to pay the entry fee. Another time he put on an ice carnival in Strasburg. One of his productions was a modified burlesque show.

Tuck plans to settle in Strasburg for the rest of his life—but before he does he is going to take a long ride behind the locomotive instead of in it. So he is going to get a pass and travel in style all over the country, looking up those of his brothers who are still alive.

SHE LEARNED HER LESSON!

Read this letter* from a woman who tried to make jelly with a cheap substitute for Certo!

*An unsolicited letter from Mrs. K. T. Thomas, of Larkspur, California

P. O. Box 400, Larkspur, California, July 15, 1936.

General Foods Corp., (Certo Division) Fairport, New York.

Gentlemen:

I've been pinching pennies, and just received my reward. In other words, so far this season, I've deserted CERTO and have tried out every other brand of pectin offered in our local market. All these various brands cost me just about half what CERTO did—and I GOT JUST ABOUT HALF AS MUCH JELLY AND JAM AT AN EXTRA COST FOR FUEL* AND A LARGE EXPENDITURE OF TIME AND ENERGY OVER A HOT STOVE. From this date on, I'm swearing off. I'm going to stick to CERTO, get results both as to quantity and quality, and save my strength and my money.

I thought you folks ought to know this, and if you wish to use this letter in your advertising, it's quite all right, for I've certainly learned a lesson. In other words, when you find a good product, stay with it.

Most sincerely yours,
K. T. Thomas,
(Mrs.) K. T. Thomas.

MRS. THOMAS IS RIGHT! STICK TO CERTO. IF YOU WANT PERFECT JAMS AND JELLIES!

WHY risk expensive failures? Why not profit by Mrs. Thomas' experience, and stick to Certo every time you make jams and jellies!

With Certo, you never need to worry. You know that your jellies will jell perfectly... your jams have just the right texture. You know, too, that your jams and jellies will have much better flavor... the rich, luscious flavor of the fresh, ripe fruit itself.

Besides, Certo really saves you money. You always get so much more jam and jelly from your fruit that it cuts the cost per glass away down. Mrs. Thomas found that the cheaper pectins she tried were just false economy!

So why not play safe! Insist on Certo every time. Then you'll be sure of perfect results, and save time and money, too! A product of General Foods.
