SKINNER'S GARAGE SHOWS NEW BUICKS

The new 1938 Buick which is now on display at Skinner's garage offers an entirely new spring suspension in addition to new beauty, greater comfort and economy of operation, according to H. A. Skinner, local Buick dealer.

Only one car, a series forty special sedan is on display. A carload of other models and a chassis is due in Medford next Thursday. The chassis will show Buick's new torque-free springing.

Mr. Skinner says: "Buick's new springs are specifically designed for the automobile. Now, every wheel is cushioned by a stout coil of ever-resilient spring steel, which is simple, safe and smooth in action. The new Buicks flow over rough roads with an almost fluid smoothness. Tires will last longer, for rear wheels no longer slip and spin. Maintenance is simpler—there are no shackles to wear and slip and eight grease points have been eliminated. And the new Buick keeps its soft cushioned safety through all weathers."

There's more power and new economy in Buick's new dynamo engine. It is silent, trigger quick and it is stepped up nearly eight per cent in power and efficiency by an entirely new combustion principle which creates the power of a cyclone in each cylinder with every combustion stroke.

A new self-shifting transmission is available at extra cost on all 1938 Buicks. It eliminates the conventional gearshift lever. Ninety per cent of normal driving is in a new fourth speed. It increases gasoline economy nearly eight per cent and the braking power of second gear remains instantly available.

For 1938, Buick offers 21 luxurious models.
