CONGRESS WILL SCAN INTERNAL REVENUE REPORT
NEW PAINLESS SOURCES OF INCOME TO BE AIM
OVER FOUR AND HALF BILLIONS COLLECTED
GAIN OF 32 PER CENT SHOWS BUSINESS BETTER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The little brochure issued each year by the United States treasury is full of small print and dry statistics and usually isn't a very popular number of the government printing office. But this year it's going to be different. This 48-page booklet, entitled "Internal Revenue Collections," is sure to be in great demand by members of congress. The reason, at first not obvious, is simple.

Secretary Morgenthau has called loudly for economy. He and his fellow sleuths are snooping in every nook and cranny for expenditures which can be cut off in their prime. Now congress, of course, is fond of economy—as a subject of discourse—but when it comes to putting it into practice, the method preferred is to find new revenue in a form as palatable to the constituents as possible.

That is why they will be studying the report of Internal Revenue Commissioner Guy T. Helvering.

Mr. Helvering announces, among other things, that total collections for the fiscal year 1937 aggregated more than four and a half billions (if you are meticulous, $4,653,195,315.28).

This was a gain of 32.20 per cent over last year ($4,233,000 in dollars). This reflected, of course, continued improvement in business, changed provisions in the tax law and higher rates, applicable to individuals, corporations and estates.

As the congressmen peruse the further statistics, hoping for a clue to the possible location of other dollars, they will find that the same general sources were tapped, except one. The year before, agricultural adjustment taxes brought in more than $71,500,000. These were the sources:

Income, excess profits and unjust enrichment, $2,179,841,834.73.
Miscellaneous internal revenue, $2,207,608,172.71.
Social security and carriers act, $265,745,307.84.

One point the revenue-hungry legislators will look upon with sorrow. That is the way the collections for taxes on gifts dropped off. However, there is always the hope that the world will grow more generous as it gets older.

And there is a reason for the big decrease—850 per cent—from 1936 to 1937.

Folks, it seems, got real generous when they heard there was going to be an increase in gift taxes on what they had. As a result, in 1936, before the increase went through, the government collected $160,000,000 on property and securities given away.

The next year the buyers had decided they had given all that was necessary, with the result that the government's cut was less than twenty-three millions.

On the other hand, a substantial increase in collections of excess profits and capital stock taxes over 1936 was noted. The revenue act of 1936 (as amended by the revenue act of 1936) allowed corporations, in their capital stock as of the close of their last income-tax taxable year, which, in the case of concerns operating on a calendar year basis, was Dec. 31, 1935.

This privilege, combined with an increase in the rate of excess profits tax applying with respect to the capital stock declaration and to calendar year 1936 incomes, caused a sharp increase in capital stock collection for the fiscal year 1937.

Increased excess profits tax collections for the fiscal year 1937 resulted from the higher levels of corporation incomes in the calendar years 1935 and 1936 and from the increased rates of tax.

One item that will bring considerably more into the treasury next year than this is the return from the social security tax.

During the fiscal year 1937, collections of social security taxes were

SENATE COURTESY CONFIRMATION ON WAY OUT, BELIEF

President Silent On Klan Tainted Jurist—Public Roiled—Johnson Blasts Defense.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Amid an uproar such as has seldom preceded the seating of a supreme court member, Hugo L. Black waited tonight to take his place as the ninth man on the nation's highest tribunal.

As far as he, personally, was concerned the case made out by critics who attacked his appointment because of his connection with the Ku Klux Klan was closed.

Having denied present Klan membership and denounced religious bigotry and race prejudice in his nationwide radio address last night, he maintained today the aloof silence of an associate justice. By his own statement he will not break that silence to discuss the Klan issue.

Both his friends and foes, however, carried on the wordy dispute which originated in the senate before his nomination was confirmed.

Generally his friends took the position he had made an adequate explanation of the Klan charges when he said he had joined the order 15 years ago but later had resigned and never rejoined. They expressed the hope the controversy would be dropped.

Many among those who opposed his appointment insisted their views were not changed. They continued highly critical and the impression prevailed that in political campaigns of the coming months, and probably in the next session of congress, there would be renewed attacks.

President Roosevelt maintained complete silence.

Observers speculated whether the president would have anything to say on the matter when he returns after his western trip Wednesday.

UPSETS FEATURE FOOTBALL GAMES THROUGHOUT LAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Nebraska battling Cornhuskers derailed Minnesota's mighty football horde today as Cornell reemphasized its smashing comeback in the east, Ohio State vaulted its first Big Ten hurdle, and Washington nipped Southern California's hopes of a Pacific coast title before they got past the line of scrimmage.

Odds-on favorite to steam-roller the Cornhuskers into submission, Minnesota's Gophers were toppled in a bruising game at Lincoln, 14-9, as Sharpshooting Harris Andrews fired a touchdown pass to "wild Bill" Callahan in the fourth quarter for the winning margin.

Odds-on favorite to steam-roller the Cornhuskers into submission, Minnesota's Gophers were toppled in a bruising game at Lincoln, 14-9, as Sharpshooting Harris Andrews fired a touchdown pass to "wild Bill" Callahan in the fourth quarter for the winning margin.

There have been few, if any, greater surprises in recent football history. Boasting what appeared to be the greatest crew of backs in the country, Minnesota looked like a "cinch" over a Nebraska outfit lacking Sam Francis and Lloyd Cardwell and operating under a new coach, Lawrence (Biff) Jones.

Cornell, led by its great Negro end, Bud Holland, amazed the football world with a 40-7 conquest of Colgate's Red Raiders. It was the worst defeat Colgate had suffered since the advent in 1922 of Head Coach Andy Kerr.

Ohio State, continuing its "safe and sane" offensive tactics, simply played too much fundamental football for Purdue and won, 13-0.

There were few other surprises in the day's program although Bob Zuppke's Illinois outfit, with Notre Dame next on the list, got no better than a scoreless draw with DePaul; Arkansas, defending southwest champion, was despatched at 7-7 by Texas Christian; and Southern Methodist was nosed out by Centenary, 7-6.

Notre Dame, with the Irish, for once, in the starring roles, got away to an auspicious start with a 21-0 conquest of Drake. The day's biggest crowd, 71,200, saw Michigan's Wolverines drop a thrill-packed decision to Michigan State, 19-1.

Wisconsin, on the road back toward the top, tripped Marquette 12-0, while Northwestern romped through Iowa State, 33-0. Kentucky barely got past Xavier of Cincinnati, 6-0.

The east finished with a big edge in intercollegiate play for the day. Manhattan dropped a 14-7 decision to the Texas A. & M., but Boston college outplayed Kansas State, 21-7. Army turned back Clemson, 21-6. Princeton's inexperienced array outpointed Virginia, 26-0. Penn turned in a 28-21 victory over Maryland; and Navy came with a second half rush to trounce Citadel, 32-0.

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—(UP)—Police scooped John H. Small, state relief director from court today after an angry crowd of committee for industrial organization cleaning and dyeing workers pushed him around outside the courtroom of Municipal Judge Thomas Pendergast.

The incident followed the appearance of 27 men and women to answer charges of disturbing the peace by allegedly staging a sit-down strike outside Small's office.

His demonstration reportedly was in protest to Small's refusal to grant them relief after an A.F.O.L.-C.I.O. jurisdictional dispute threw them out of work.

Eastern Oregon Fossils
BEND, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Valuable fossil discoveries giving further proof that James, camels, elephants and sloths lived in the present dry plateau of interior Oregon in a recent geological age have been made by two Portland explorers, Fred H. Davis and Tracy Wade, in a trip through Lake county

Mid-State Snow
BEND, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Six inches of snow covered the higher areas of the Deschutes national forest today as all protective units were removed from mid-state posts, marking an end to the 1937 fire season. Heavy rains fell over the lower regions, and it was general throughout the interior

Lady Loses Ringer, But Balks Break From Texas Jail

ARCHER CITY, Tex., Oct. 3.—(AP)—When Mrs. A. H. Gosier, wife of the Archer county sheriff, caught her ringer in the master door of the jail where she had just given breakfast to six inmates, she did not tip off the prisoners on their chance to escape.

She quietly unlocked the door, closed and locked it again. The ringer had been amputated.

NEW DEAL LABOR POLICY UNDER FIRE—LABOR SECRETARY HELD BIASED.

DENVER, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Thrusts at the Roosevelt administration's labor policy marked the preliminaries to the American Federation of Labor convention to start here Monday.

Making their attacks openly after months of back stairs criticism, most of the federation leaders centered their fire on Labor Secretary Perkins and the national labor relations board.

Both were accused of partiality to John L. Lewis' rebel CIO in administering federal labor laws.

The administration's wage and hour bill, pigeon-holed at the last session of congress, was discussed at length without a single voice being raised in its favor.

John P. Frey, president of the metal trades department, told the department's convention that "powerful influences" were at work to place legislative restrictions on trade unions and hinted that he felt some of the administration's labor advisers would favor such legislation.

The federation's executive council opened the fire on Miss Perkins by dropping her from the list of dignitaries invited to address the convention. Although the council gave no reason publicly for this action, Roy Horn, president of the blacksmith's union, voiced the council's sentiment when he openly accused Miss Perkins of CIO partiality.

After the labor secretary had refused to endorse the federation's proposal to amend the Wagner act to protect craft unions, Horn said, "I felt like taking off my hat to Hitler and Mussolini and apologizing for every mean thing I ever said about them, because a little dictator with a wisp of hair under his nose is much more preferable to me than one who wears a skirt."

HEADS RECALL SYSTEM

OMAHA, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The railroad industry's biggest men are assembled, paid tribute tonight to William Martin "Bill" Jeffers, now president of the Union Pacific railroad.

Wave after wave of tanks, protecting Japanese infantrymen, roared down on the Chinese positions. The Chinese devised pronged traps from torn-up railroad tracks. These stalled the tanks while Chinese machine gunners mowed down the advancing enemy soldiers.

During Japanese patrols, seeking to quell outbreaks, were repulsed with what Chinese called heavy losses.

Foreigners in the international settlement crowded rooftops to watch the fierce fighting below.

On the fringe of battle in the Chapel sector American marines completed a new row of machine-gun nests along Soochow creek, commanding a full sweep of the embattled district on Shanghai's north side.

JAPAN OFFENSIVE FAILS TO PIERCE CHINESE DEFENSE

SHANGHAI, Oct. 3.—(Sunday)—(AP)—Japan's tremendous offensive by land, sea and air buckled for the sixth consecutive day today against the stone wall defense of the Chinese troops entrenched in Chapel on the outskirts of the international settlement.

After hours of fierce attacks and counter attacks Chinese said their lines still were intact.

Huge showers of debris and smoke dotted the battlefield as Japanese warplanes dropped demolition bombs. The fleet of Japanese warships in the Whangpoo river methodically criss-crossed the area with shells.

ROOSEVELT HEADS EAST AFTER TRIP TO COULEE WORK

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt bid "adieu" but not goodbye to the state of Washington tonight as he headed east to Fort Peck Dam, Mont., with an assurance "I'm going to come back again in the next three years and take a look-see once more."

His special train left Spokane at 6 p.m. after a day which was highlighted by his inspection tour of the gigantic Grand Coulee dam project on the Columbia river and the prediction it would open new lands to thousands of desirable from crop-processor lands of the middle west.

The presidential train stopped 20 minutes here while a crowd which Police Chief Ira Martin estimated at 10,000 cheered wildly as the president appeared, spoke briefly and then bantered with persons near him while he waited for the train to proceed.

Relating how he had seen the world's greatest man-made project on the Columbia river—the Grand Coulee Dam—the president said, "I am certain of the future of the north-west."

"Partis of the nation are no so favored," he added. "They have made mistakes."

He said their forests were stripped and their lands robbed of fertility, but "you have a place where they can make homes and live happily."

MORMONS OPPOSE RUM, BIRTH LACK

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Leadership of the Latter Day Saints church frowned darkly upon smoking, drinking and homes without children.

The men who administer affairs of the Mormon faith counseled, at the 108th general church conference here, particularly against drink.

Heber J. Grant, 81-year-old church president, shouted:

"Let us have prohibition again, at least here in Utah. Drinking under prohibition was not a tittle of what it is now."

STRIKERS JOSTLE RELIEF DIRECTOR

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—(UP)—Police scooped John H. Small, state relief director from court today after an angry crowd of committee for industrial organization cleaning and dyeing workers pushed him around outside the courtroom of Municipal Judge Thomas Pendergast.

JURY HOLDS SLAYER OF MOTHER, 65, INNOCENT

PORTLAND, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Howard Finstead, 27, indicted on a charge of slaying his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Finstead, 65, is insane, Dr. John L. Haskins and Dr. Robert P. Smith, alienists, declared today. Circuit Judge George Tawell said Finstead will be committed to the state hospital at Salem Monday.

Finstead was charged with first degree murder for the alleged murder of his mother August 22. He is asserted to have struck, choked and finally beat her about the head with a vice-acre.

CAMPUS SLANDER MADE SUIT BASIS

MRSOULA, Mont., Oct. 2.—(UP)—Dr. Paul Phillips, executive vice president of Montana State university, today filed a $2,500 slander suit in district court here against Warren Stilling, of Sandpoint, Idaho, former university student, and resigned his position at the university.

Dr. Phillips' complaint alleged that Stilling made false statements last month charging that the university executive attempted to assault a young woman. The complaint further charged that Stilling's utterances were made in an attempt to extort $10,000 from the plaintiff.

In his letter of resignation to President George Findlay Simmons, Dr. Phillips said that his suit "would impair his usefulness at the university."

ALGOMA REPORTS SMALL FISH RAIN

ALGOMA, Ore., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Residents of this tiny mill community awoke this morning to find a rain-storm depositing small fish on buildings and yards.

Ralph Haast, lumber company bookkeeper, said the fish were chubs, ranging from one to three inches in length.

BULLETIN

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 2.—(UP)—Rain tonight caused postponement of game between the San Diego and Portland which might have determined the championship of the Pacific coast base ball league.

In the final playoff series San Diego so far has won three of the necessary four games out of seven. A victory tonight would have clinched the pennant for them, Portland having eliminated the San Francisco Seals and San Diego having from Sacramento in earlier play-offs.

The fourth game in the current San Diego-Portland series in which San Diego has won three straight, will be played tomorrow at 2:30 p. m.

WPA PROJECT AIMS TO CURE PEOPLE OF ABSENT-MINDEDNESS

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The absent-minded now can go to school to cure themselves of vacuous peccadilloes.

That is the aim of a WPA-sponsored free course announced today in the board of education's adult education program.

It's deadly in earnest, says Administrator Gustav A. Stampf, who adds:

"This inability to control the mental processes causes people to do foolish as well as tragic things. Curiously enough, brilliant people are more often afflicted with absent-mindedness than others."

DEVOTED SUITOR'S GIFTS REST WITH SLEEPING BEAUTY

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(UP)—Patricia Maguire wore to her grave today a bouquet of gardenias she had hoped to carry to the altar as a bride—instead a sweetheart who remained devoted all of Patricia's five-and-a-half-year sleep.

Around her neck Patricia wore a strand of crystal beads, another gift of her faithful suitor, James Burns. His picture was buried with her in the ivory and silver casket.

Mrs. Peter Milley, Patricia's mother, who nursed her throughout her illness, placed a topaz ring on the girl's right hand and a rosary in her left, just before the casket was closed. Patricia was buried in a soft blue crepe frock, her only new dress since the onset of her illness, February, 1932.

Six pall bearers, including two policemen who gave blood for the transfusions administered in a vain fight against pneumonia, bore the casket from the modest stucco home to the ascension church where high requiem mass was declared.

Mrs. Milley permitted an autopsy and donated to science Patricia's brain. The brain is at the Presbyterian hospital where doctors will study it in the hope of learning something of encephalitis lethargica.

MYSTERY CALL IS ROSS CASE CLUE

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(UP)—G-men, headed by a star investigator, took formal charge of the search for Charles R. Ross, 72, and his kidnapers tonight as a report was received the abductors had made their first attempt to contact the wealthy manufacturer's family.

Ross was kidnaped a week ago tonight by three gunmen who seized him from his expensive automobile on a lonely road near suburban Sycamore. Ross was en route to Chicago after having dined with his secretary.

He word had been heard from him or the kidnapers until receipt of a mysterious telephone call from the Ross home today. Earl Connelly, crack investigator of kidnap cases who arrived here from Washington Friday, said the message was relayed to him as coming from a man.

The message:

"Take this down. This is Bob of New York. We have Ross, but the federal agents have the wires tapped and we cannot make a contact. This is not a prank."
