

MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE

"Everyone in Northern Oregon Reads the Mail Tribune." Daily Except Saturday. Published by MEDFORD PRINTING CO. 31-37-21 N. 1st St. Phone 18.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PUBLISHERS RECEIVING FULL LEASED WIRE SERVICE. The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or otherwise credited to this paper, and also to the local news published herein.

WEST HOLIDAY. Offices in New York, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, St. Louis, Atlanta, Vancouver, B. C.

Ye Smudge Pot. By Arthur Perry. The 'Old Oregon' football squad announces it will go out for blood in all future conference games.

What Price, Politics?

If matters proceed as at present, when the state primaries come around, the Democratic party in Oregon, will be split as wide open as the two yawning sides of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

The cause of the split will be Bonneville, and the policy to be pursued in the distribution of the power to be generated on the Columbia river.

It promises to be the familiar vote catching issue of electric light and power. "at no cost to the taxpayers," all over again. One faction will maintain, their opponents are trying to rob the proletariat of this state, of their rightful heritage in the way of cheap light and power.

ON the surface it will look like a real battle on the solid rock of conflicting principles. In reality however, it will be only a sham, battle for Bonneville and a real battle for the control of the Democratic party in this state.

Walter Pierce wants to regain that control. And raising the old familiar power trust cry, looks like the easiest way to get it. Which is too bad,—too bad for the Democratic party and too bad for the state.

FOR there is no REAL reason, why the two factions of the Democratic party and the people of the state, can't be united behind a program for Bonneville which will be satisfactory to all concerned. A program that will stimulate industrial development in this state, increasing the state's production and wealth, adding new pay rolls, will directly or indirectly benefit every individual however humble in it.

The idea that there can be no such industrial development, without handing Bonneville over to the power octopus, and robbing the people of their birthright, may be good politics, but in every other direction it is unmitigated nonsense.

OREGON has a tremendous asset in Bonneville. The maximum benefits, in all directions, should be enjoyed by the people—ALL the people—of this state.

But if it is turned into a political football, and utilized as a stepping stone to political power, by the Pierce faction or any other, such an outcome will be impossible.

We doubt if it will do any good. But this paper's advice to all concerned, is to forget their political ambitions and partisan animosities and concentrate upon what is best for Bonneville and the welfare of this state.

It is essentially a business problem, not a political one. Let principles of good business and common sense, not breast-beating demagoguery, prevail.

Those Nazis

THE German government is sending out to other governments along with its diplomatic representatives, "cultural attaches." These "cultural attaches" are expected to promote the doctrine of German Nazism in other countries. They are, of course, propaganda agents.

When we made our treaty with Russia, the American government distinctly forbade Russia to send propagandists into this country. The Russians officially, or at least on the surface of things, have been decently mindful of their obligations. Now as between the tyranny of a dictatorship of the proletariat and a dictatorship of the plutocracy backed by the military forces, that is to say the dictatorship of Communism or the dictatorship of Nazism, there is no difference so far as democracy goes.

Is it fair to deny the Russians privileges which the Nazis take without by-your-leave? The exercise of both privileges threatens American institutions.

THE head of the Nazi organization in this country, replying to a charge that the American Nazis were organizing to control the country, replied, "It's a laugh."

Also, the Nazi leader's statement that the Nazis only expect to get into action when the Communist revolution comes is another laugh. There is just exactly the same danger in this country of a Communist revolution that there is of a Nazi revolution—no more, no less. And as between the two fake saviours of society—the dictatorship of the proletariat and the dictatorship of the fanatical Nazis—there is no difference.

The average citizen who loves his flag and cherishes his liberty may well be cautioned that vigilance is the price of liberty and furthermore that the flag floats only when and where citizens respect the liberty of others. All we can do about the silly Nazis and the wall-eyed Communists is to let them rave. It is an outbreak of a children's disease—mental, of course, and for the infantile mind—and it will pass. Indeed both of these epidemics will pass, Nazism and Communism in America, if we do not try to irritate, inflame or throttle either. Both will die of their own poison.—Emporia Gazette.

PROWLER COMES BACK TO RECOVER CLICKERS, GATHERED IN BY LAW. OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 7.—(AP)—When a certain intruder opened his mouth in Miss Pauline Kieck's bathroom, he certainly put his foot in it in a big way.

BB SHOT TRAVELS FAR DURING 4 YEARS IN BOY. ORANGEBURG, S. C., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Four years ago a playmate shot 12-year-old Robert Burnett with an air rifle.

Personal Health Service

By William Brady, M. D. Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink.

HORMONE TREATMENT OF CRYPTORCHIDISM

The age of puberty, when the individual becomes capable of reproduction, is 14 years for boys, 12 years for girls, on the average, and the law fixes these as the ages of presumptive puberty. Actually it varies from 11 to 16 in boys, from 10 to 15 in girls.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. What would you advise for my inward groiter? Friends and relatives differ—some say by all means have operation, others urge rest and right diet.

Angina. Husband subject to angina pectoris. We have a diathermy machine, which he was advised to use for bronchial trouble. Is it in any way dangerous for the heart ailment?

Spontaneous descent of the testicles may occur in such cases with the onset of puberty, that is, about the age of 14 years. But a course of hormone treatment would seem advisable in any case if spontaneous descent has not occurred when the boy reaches the age of 15. With the onset of puberty and thereafter degenerative changes occur in the undescended gland.

When the people of Malin played host on Saturday and Sunday, celebrating the 28th anniversary of the founding of their town, they had something to show the friends and neighbors who flocked in to help them celebrate.

DON'T think it was a picnic back in those early days. IT WASN'T. The land was rich—the tall and luxuriant seagrass proved that.

FIRST the ditches came, to provide the water that was lacking. Then, when the possibilities of the country were demonstrated, the lake was drained.

Perhaps the water has done it. Anyway, at Malin on Saturday and Sunday, were displayed not only potatoes and hay and grain, but almost every conceivable variety of temperate zone fruit and vegetable.

Harsh and forbidding it may once have been, but now it is a mild and hospitable land, yielding abundantly in return for the effort expended upon it.

THIS thought stands out: This rich and fertile Malin country, along with its neighboring Merrill and Tule Lake regions, didn't come about as a result of passing a law or dividing up SOMEBODY ELSE'S wealth.

EVERY OTHER worth-while country that ever existed on earth was built by hard work. There never was such a thing as something for nothing and there never will be.

Phone 542 We'll haul away your refuse City Sanitary Service.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE. Caused by Tired Kidneys. Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backache people who strain and strain are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

CLEAN FALSE TEETH—GET RID OF STAINS. New Easy Way—No Brushing. Stain-Klen, ensuring new discovery, removes blackest stains, tartar, tannic lake magic. Just put false teeth or bridges in a glass of water and add Stain-Klen powder.

COMMUNICATIONS. No "Yellow Cats" in Albany! To the Editor: With interest and sympathy I read the libel on your golf club cut. At least I assume it was a libel for the reasons hereinafter expressed.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

MASSIVE-headed, burly John L. Lewis is frequently a stroller in the late afternoon avenue parade when in town. Whenever he meets Senator John F. Davis they chatter awhile in Welsh, just to keep in practice.

A friend on East End avenue has a Japanese cook who, being a Buddhist, talks gently to food before he cooks it, whether a leg of lamb or a bowl of shrimp. This way he assuages the spirits of the once frolicsome lamb or sedate shrimp.

THREE of the town's biggest book shops recently had window displays of Kipling's works. He is greater than ever. Queen Mary is heading a $1,250,000 fund to raise a memorial to Kipling, who while alive was never honored with knighthood or the post laureate ship.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

Behind Washington Headlines

By H. R. Baukhage. Copyright 1937, by The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc. (Continued from Page One)

One of the first favorable public comments from abroad on the president's timely remarks came from Paris.

Of course, the details of developments leading up to the president's decision to take his stand for "collective security" as against "isolationism" have been carefully guarded.

Two reasons are offered for believing that the last sentence of the Chicago speech, "America actively engages in the search for peace," may be taken literally. They are:

1. The president would never have gone as far as he did in his speech if he had not received tangible evidence that the great democratic powers were willing to go along.

2. The fact that a concert of the nine-power treaty signatories will be the probable organ of action, and not the league, makes it possible for the United States to take active part without antagonizing anti-league sentiment in this country.

Under these conditions, the United States can now step forward to a dominant leadership in world diplomacy.

While industry big and little raises its voice against the interference of government, the air transport industry is fighting tooth and nail to get under the government's wing.

And the only reason it can't be because the bill which would bring it under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission is being fought by other government departments.

Senator McKellar is given credit for preventing the passage of the measure because, it is whispered, neither the commerce nor the postoffice departments wanted it to go through.

The department of commerce deals out the flying weather, says whether it is safe or not, and passes on the types and safety of planes. The postoffice, of course, steps in when questions pertaining to the carrying of mail are involved.

But this leaves such matters as tariffs and freight rates grounded.

There is a gentlemen's agreement concerning rates, but nothing more. Fearing some situation might arise such as the railroads faced years ago, the air transport industry would like to get into the sphere of influence of the I.C.C. To that end, it is working on a counter-lobby to smash the one said to be led by commerce and postoffice departments against its bill. So far it reports progress.

Secretary Roper is proud of the "best seller" produced by his department, "Stories of American Industry" is a volume composed of 23 radio broadcasts printed by the government printing office. It has already gone into its fourth printing and is selling at the rate of 2,500 copies a week.

It is being used in many schools as a textbook.

The department of commerce this year has a gallery of business stars on its radio program. They start off on October 13 with W. Averell Harriman, chairman of the board of the Union Pacific railroad. Mr. Harriman is followed by a list of names that look as if they were taken from the directory of directors of industry.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

Flight 'o Time

Medford and Jackson County history from the files of the Mail Tribune 10 and 20 years ago.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY. October 7, 1927. (It was Friday). France ready for break with Soviet Russia.

Miss Anita Mohr drives into the parked auto of R. J. Bills, police report. Jerry Jerome contracts a severe case of poison oak on a deer hunting trip.

William Schmidt displays some home grown sweet potatoes in the C. of C. window. Frost damages gardens at Reese Creek.

Eggs up 3 cents on Portland market. TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY. October 7, 1917. (It was Sunday).

Olen Arnsperger leaves for Portland to attend the grand lodge of Knights of Pythias. Miss Sue Lydard of Table Rock accepts a teaching position with the Central Point schools.

Drinking fountain is installed at the Applegate school. Sums Valley gardens hit by light frost.

White Sox defeat New York Giants, 7 to 2, in second game of world series. British and French launch new drive on western front.

Notice. I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by Mrs. O. H. Tice. (Signed) O. H. TICE.

HEALTH SERVICE FIGHTS SYPHILIS

As Surgeon General Thomas Parran, Jr. of the U. S. Public Health Service, has pointed out significantly, syphilis is not the problem of the individual but of society. The disease is equally important when accidentally acquired. Therefore, it bears reiteration that kissing, drinking cups, razors, styptic pencils, and other well-known accidental contacts may be responsible.

It is established that syphilis is a systemic disease which may become so within a few hours after inoculation, and continues to develop before local signs are evident. With means now at the disposal of the medical profession for early diagnosis and treatment, together with an unvarying adherence to the schedule of treatment as laid down by the U. S. Public Health Service, the maximum insurance against the results of infectiousness and the tragedies of general paresis and locomotor ataxia may be expected.

We consider it a privilege to cooperate in the great cause of ably conducted by those who stand guard over the health of the American people.

Insulin 10 c.c. U 40 is $1.13. We give S. & H. Green Stamps. Health Drug Store, phone 884.

NOTICE

State Oil & Gas Co. Meeting Free Thursday Oct. 7th at 8 P. M., Medford Armory Bldg. Mr. Chas. W. Stone, eminent Oil man, will discuss.

"Oil in Oregon"

Lease-holders Come and Bring Friends EVERYBODY WELCOME

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

THESE gentlemen of the fancy fly their tinicals at Brewster, N. Y., every now and then, the birds, properly hooded and belled, riding on the gloved wrist. The only real monopoly I know is that of an old man in the south of England who has a quarry in which he chips flints.

Just Right for Oregon Folks! It's our own Family's Recipe and our family's been distilling for 50 years! PINT 80c QUART $1.45. THE WILKEN FAMILY BLENDED WHISKEY.