

MARKET SUBSIDY ON PEARS TO AID MEDFORD DISTRICT

Over Half Of Bosc Surplus For New Markets To Come From This Area—Reter Elected Head Of League.

Raymond R. Reter, general manager of the Pinnacle Packing company, was elected president of the Oregon-Washington-California Pear league at a meeting Thursday of the board of directors in Portland.

Jack Spelding, sales manager of Southern Oregon Sales, Inc., was elected vice president. Assistant managers and district directors chosen were Harry Jensen of the Wenatchee, Wash. district; B. A. Perham, president of the Pear & Fruit company, for the Yakima, Wash. district; Arvo Huikari, sales manager of the Apple Growers association, for the Hood River district; and Lee Veerkamp, president of the Placerville Fruit Growers association, for the Placerville, Calif. district.

The new officers will serve for the 1937-38 period.

It was announced at the meeting that the secretary of agriculture had tentatively approved the marketing agreement under the subsidy plan for 1937-38. League officers were authorized to sign the agreement with the secretary of agriculture and the document was sent by airmail to Washington from Portland Thursday night.

Shippers, handlers and growers are now being asked in each district to sign the agreement with the pear league.

Under terms of the agreement the government pays 50 cents a box on fruit dispatched to out-of-channel markets, the purpose being to expand domestic and foreign outlets.

At a special meeting of shippers and handlers of the Medford district here Friday noon, copies of the agreement were furnished and signatures procured from those present representing a majority of the tonnage of this area, it was announced by Mr. Reter. Other shippers and growers are being contacted for signatures and all are invited to participate in the marketing plan.

The plan this year will be conducted under management of the Medford shippers committee. It contemplates at first the ripening and sales promotion of Bosc pears in southern markets of the United States.

The Oregon-Washington-California Pear bureau will cooperate with the league in the advertising and promotion campaign in the southern markets, Mr. Reter related. The bureau is experienced in this sort of work in the established markets and at present is conducting a widespread Bosc campaign in the east.

Certain southern markets are to be selected by the committee as control markets and they will be handled in general in the same manner as the Medford Bosc committee developed the Detroit market some years ago, Mr. Reter explained. Markets other than the control markets will be sold on an f. o. b. basis.

It is hoped that the committee can market about 10 percent of the Pacific coast Bosc crop in the new southern markets with the aid of the subsidy payments of 50 cents a box from the government.

It is felt by the Medford committee in charge of the program that the marketing of 10 percent of the Pacific Bosc crop in new centers will materially relieve the normal markets of present supplies and aid in procuring a higher price in the normal selling channels.

Over Half From Here The committee estimated that the 10 percent to be diverted to the new southern markets would comprise about 100 cars. More than half of this quantity would be provided by the Medford district, the committee said.

Briefly, the agreement provides for a crop estimate and the fixing of a percentage of free tonnage which each grower may sell as he pleases through any shipper he desires. Then the difference is delivered to the league and becomes an excess pool.

Last year the government paid a subsidy up to 50 cents a box to compensate for the loss in selling price in markets open to agriculture compared with the selling price in the established markets.

Contracts Available This year it is proposed that a flat 50 cents per box be paid for all fruit shipped to the out-of-channel markets. It was also proposed that this agreement apply only to Bosc.

It was suggested that no subsidy payments be made on domestic shipments until after October 10 in order to protect Bartlett pear shippers.

LOYAL SHEPHERD WHO SAVED CHILD DEAD FROM BURNS

The faithful shepherd dog belonging to the A. R. Mansfield family, Butte Falls district homesteaders, who last Monday afternoon, at the command of distracted parents, plunged into the burning home and saved their 2 1/2-year-old daughter, Shirley, from a fiery death, by dragging her from her crib to a window, within reach of her mother, died from burns, and was tearfully buried by the family near the scene of the canine heroism.

A representative of the Jackson County Humane society sent to the scene to learn the fate of the brave pet was informed by the parent of the dog's fate and was shown the burial spot.

The dog, after rescuing Shirley, raced from the house and was caught by Mansfield, who administered aid, but "Shep" died shortly afterwards.

The Mansfields plan to return to their mountain home, Shirley, mourning the loss of her constant dog friend, is recovered from burns sustained to her feet and left side, incurred when the blankets of her crib caught fire.

The Red Cross reports that contributions of cash, food and clothing are liberal.

The Mansfields lost all their possessions and winter's food supply when their home was fire destroyed.

DRIVER EXAMINER ADDS TWO DAYS TO WEEKLY SERVICE

Beginning this week an examiner will be at city hall from 8 to 3 each Wednesday and Thursday to conduct examinations of automobile drivers and chauffeurs. It was announced yesterday by Ward McReynolds, state examiner in charge of the southern Oregon district.

Mr. McReynolds and his staff will be here Saturday of each week as usual, the Wednesday and Thursday service being additional to take care of the large number of applicants for licenses and to accommodate suburban residents unable to get to Medford on Saturday, Mr. McReynolds stated.

The same service obtainable on Saturdays will now be available on Wednesdays and Thursdays, the examiner emphasized. The examiner's office on the week days will be in charge of R. C. Adams.

Applicants for licenses should study the traffic manual before attempting to take the examination. Mr. McReynolds counseled. The manual, issued by the state for the information and guidance of drivers, is available at a number of convenient places, including city and state police headquarters, sheriff's office and secretary of state's office in Salem.

"The examination is not difficult but it cannot be passed without some study of the manual," Mr. McReynolds said. "A brief study of the manual would save a great deal of time, both for the applicant and the examiner."

Last week, Mr. McReynolds said, 33 persons completed and passed their examinations here. Thirty-eight, however, failed, he stressed. Of the failures, two were attributed to inadequate car equipment, two to defective vision and 34 to lack of knowledge of the law as explained in the driver's manual.

"If the 34 had given a little study to the manual they would have been able to pass," Mr. McReynolds declared.
