

Pacific Coast Premier of "Dead End" Opens at Craterian Today

'DEAD END' FAMED MOVIE COMING ON CRATERIAN BILL

As a Broadway stage play, "Dead End" was a smash hit, packing them in for two solid years. Later it was changed from coast to coast.

Today, at the New Craterian theater, Samuel Goldwyn's great motion picture based on the powerful Sidney Kingsley drama of life in a city street opens for a four-day run. This writer had the extreme pleasure of being on hand at a special preview Friday, and unhesitatingly names the picture as one of the finest he has ever seen.

The film stars Sylvia Sydney and Joel McCrea, and features Allen Jenkins, Humphrey Bogart, Claire Trevor and the original "Dead End" kids. The showing today at the New Craterian theater is the Pacific coast premiere of the picture, it being brought here from New York City by airmail.

Sylvia Sydney gives a great performance as Drina, the little slum girl who fights a valiant but losing battle to save her small, motherless brother Tommy from the gangster's fate she has seen the slum meet out to so many of its sons. Joel McCrea turns in a grand performance as Dave, the penniless young architect who loves and who, in turn, is loved by Kay (Wendie Barrie), the girl who has found a dubious route out of the slum into a penthouse in the fashionable apartment which overlooks the dead end street, the slums, where all scenes are shot.

Humphrey Bogart is superb as "Baby Face" Martin, wanted gangster and killer, who crawls back to the slum to see his mother and boyhood sweetheart, Françoise, once more—and for his trouble receives from his mother a stinging rebuke and a slap in the face, and from his former sweetheart, the bitter knowledge that she has taken life the easiest way.

However, the real stars of this picture are the "Dead End" kids, the youngsters raised in the slums at the end of the city street which stops at the river's edge. Their perfection as the tough, brawling babes of the gutter defies description. They must be seen—and heard.

The entire film takes place in 24 hours, and there are thrills galore in every foot of reel. Others in the notable cast are Charles Peck, Minor Watson, James Burke, Ward Bond, Elizabeth Risdon, Esther Dale and George Humbert.

POTATO GROWERS ADOPT CONTROL

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Confronted with a large crop and below-normal prices, potato growers of eight states voted today for immediate adoption of AAA marketing agreements.

Marketing of the 1937 crop, officially estimated at 403,300,000 bushels as compared with last year's 330,000,000 bushel crop, already is underway and spokesmen for the group said they expected the new agreements to be put in effect within 10 days.

Voting unanimously to apply the agreements within 10 days to the 50 representatives of growers in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska and Idaho. They invited Maine growers to reconsider their rejection of the agreement in a referendum last month.

The AAA agreements call for elimination of culls—potatoes of less than an inch and a half in diameter—from interstate shipment, and for government inspections.

13 FLYING FORTS ORDERED BY ARMY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The war department ordered today 13 additional multi-engine bombardment airplanes—known as "flying fortresses"—from the Boeing Aircraft company of Seattle at a price of $2,518,346.

Known as the world's largest combat airplanes, these machines are intended for use by the general headquarters air force of the army.

They will be powered by four Wright "Cyclone" engines manufactured by the Wright Aeronautical company of Paterson, N. J.

"Wife, Doctor And Nurse," Coming Wednesday

Drama with a twinkle in its eye brings Loretta Young (as the wife), Warner Baxter (as the doctor), and Virginia Bruce (as the nurse), in "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," to the New Craterian theater Wednesday, where it will open a four-day engagement. With every indication pointing toward the film being one of the new season's most sparkling three-cornered romances, the picture is a gay and witty adventure of a personable doctor who finds two women necessary in his file to help maintain his balance and sense of proportion.

TELEPHONE MAN SUES ON ALLEGED BEATING DURING THIRD DEGREE

PORTLAND, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Two suits seeking $150,000 damages and alleging brutality on the part of an agent which resulted in hospital confinement were in file today in circuit court by Coe C. White, longtime engineer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph, who was arrested last January in connection with a $5,584 holdup.

James Gleason In Rialto Mystery

James Gleason and Zasu Pitts (Detective Oscar Piper and Hildegard Withers to their big following) have either smashed a mystery into smithereens or are about to blueprint a new set of clues. They consider a backstage double murder in "Forty Naughty Girls," sixth of the Stuart Palmer mystery series to reach the screen through the Rialto theater's screen.

Roxy Today

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers are at the Roxy theater today, starting a three-day run in "Shall We Dance." The gay musical is filled with one novelty after another, but the one number that takes the cake is Astaire and Rogers' sensational dance on roller skates. The stars are surrounded by a grand cast headed by Edward Everett Horton, Eric Blone, Jerome Cowan and William Brisbane.

Ramon Novarro in "Sheik Steps Out" Heads Rialto Bill

The famous name of Ramon Novarro—the dashing, dark-haired romantic idol of screendom's patrons—again is flashing majestically from the lights of the nation's theater marquees. The famous movie favorite comes to local fans in "The Sheik Steps Out," opening a three-day run today at the Rialto theater.

"It Happened in Hollywood" tells the strangely honest story of a cowboy of the silent films, Tim Bart, who falls by the wayside when talkies come in and he trips over a maze of drawing room dialogue in a voice test. His leading lady, both on the screen and in his heart, played by Fay Wray, passes the test and is signed to a contract.

SYMPATHY STRIKE TO AID MINE SITDOWNERS

LANSFORD, Pa., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Seventy-five hundred hard coal miners in the Panther creek valley stopped work today in sympathy with 39 sit-down strikers huddled deep in the Coaldale colliery in protest against wage scales.

Among the surprises in the film is the appearance of the doubles of most of the screen's famous stars, among them W. C. Fields, Mae West, Joan Crawford, Charles Chaplin, Eddie Cantor, Irene Dunne, Joe E. Brown, Clark Gable and twenty-some others.
