Final plans for the district conference of the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women's club to be held in this city the coming Saturday and Sunday were made at the regular meeting of the Medford group Tuesday evening.

The conference is the second one of the year and a great interest is already being manifest in it, reservations have been received from many members throughout the state. Headquarters will be at the Medford hotel.

Committee chairmen for the event have been named as follows: Mrs. Rose Huston, hospitality and reception; Miss Viola Scherrer, entertainment and jamboree; Mrs. Ethelwyn B. Hoffman, refreshments; Mrs. Winnifred Welshaar, executive breakfast; Miss Barbara Drury, luncheon. Miss Laura York is chairman for the program for the entire conference.

Members will meet Friday evening at 6 o'clock at the Medford hotel to decorate for the gathering.

Mrs. Thora Lawrence and her international relationship committee were in charge of the program for the session and she gave an interesting talk on the condition of Europe since the world war. A round table discussion followed with questions being asked on the subject.

A social hour with refreshments followed. The next regular meeting of the group will be October 26.

Speaker Describes Travels in Orient

The Travel Study club met in regular session Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. L. Brown, 1100 East Main street. The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. John Gribble, who gave a most interesting talk on her travels of the past summer. She accompanied her talk with exhibits from each of the three countries visited—Japan, China and the Philippines, and described how many of the articles she showed were made. The talk was an appropriate close to several months' study of China and Japan.

Mrs. H. F. W. Spilver gave a map talk on Scandinavian countries, which is to be the study for the rest of the year.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes three little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion. Sold everywhere. (c) Bell & Co. 1937.

EVERYONE in the service of mankind will go either forward or backward; our high standard of service has kept moving steadily along.

FINDER RETURNS TENGWALD PEKE

Little Phyllis Tengwald was a happy girl today and she looked upon V. A. Bower of 729 West 13th street as her benefactor.

Phyllis was saddened yesterday by loss of her pet Pekinese, Chang Foo, who wandered from the Tengwald home on Kings Highway.

Mr. Bower found the dog wandering around his home, half a mile from the Tengwald residence. He took the pet into his house until he had time to investigate its ownership.

Yesterday afternoon he saw a side glance in the Mail Tribune about the lost dog. He immediately restored the pet to Phyllis and tears quickly gave way to smiles of happiness.

RED CROSS TAKES HEAVY BURDEN IN RELIEF PROGRAM

Among the beneficiaries of the community chest is the American Red Cross, whose responsibilities include a wide variety of active services in the county.

The organization aids disabled ex-service men and their families, sponsors first aid, life saving and water safety courses, handles relief in local disasters, not stopping with the first emergency in event of fire or similar destruction, but assisting in rehabilitation also, and perhaps most important of all, is its direction of juvenile work. The local Red Cross acted in an advisory capacity to the county court welfare program for many years, but has had full direction of the juvenile work since January, 1936.

The juvenile work consists of dependencies, delinquents, behavior problems, adoptions and other phases. About half of the cases come before the juvenile court.

Juvenile cases are not dismissed when the first need has been met but are followed closely over a period of years until the individual is ready to take his place in society. As an illustration Miss Lillian Roberts, executive secretary of the American Red Cross, has related the following case with which she has dealt for many years.

The mother of a family had been ill for a long time and was finally sent to a sanitarium where she died, leaving two sons, aged 9 and 7, with their father. He died soon afterwards and the boys were left orphans with no relatives to whom they might go.

They were immediately made wards of the court as dependancy children. For a time the Red Cross boarded them, then they visited with distant relatives, and finally it was necessary to send the younger lad to an institution. The elder boy was placed in a supervised home for several months and later an elderly couple in the country became interested in him and for the past year he has made his home with them, going to school, and being accepted as one of the family. He is now 15 years of age and enjoying his first experience in real home life. He helps with the work on the farm and will soon be able to be on his own.

The Red Cross has had entire supervision of the boy for the past 4 years, checking on his health, schooling, etc. The younger boy was sent to an institution in Portland where there are many calls for lads of his age and it is the hope and aim of the organization that every juvenile case will eventually be placed in a good home.

PACKARD SHOWING NEW MODEL HERE

After twelve months record breaking marketing of the most popular and successful cars in the entire history of the company, the Packard Motor Car company has completely redesigned its two big sellers, the Six and the One Twenty. Both are in every way new cars for 1938, according to Perry L. Ashcraft who returned from Portland yesterday with one of the new models which is now on display at the Packard showroom, 128 South Riverside.

The "One Twenty" is now called the Packard Eight. Its companion in the lower price field will continue to be known as the Packard Six.

The Packard "lines" for 1938 will embrace the Six, Eight, Super Eight and Twelve with wheel bases running all the way from 127 to 148 inches and with 35 different body types.

Longer hoods, and an increase of seven inches in their wheel bases give the Six and Eight the appearance of much bigger cars. This more costly, luxury-type appearance is one of the instantly apparent features in the new Packards outwardly. It is matched with new smart interiors. All four lines of the cars have been given, through a series of new features, greatly enhanced riding comfort. A completely new system of automobile rear spring suspension is one of the chief features in accomplishing the "new Packard ride."

Rear springs of the "Junior" cars are mounted in rubber and leaves are separated with rubber and oil impregnated bronze discs in such manner as to give practically the same effect as is obtained with independently suspended rear wheels. Now tranverse stabilizers and improved shock absorbers form important parts of the new Packard rear spring suspension system. Redistribution of car weight and location of the rear seat ahead of the rear axle contributes to riding ease.

Bodies of the Six and Eight are now completely made of steel with one piece steel tops. Packard engineers had the co-operation of the engineering department of one of the great universities in developing a new insulating system which is declared to make the all-steel body practically as quiet as a composite body.

All cars are equipped with slanting Vee type windshields and all carry the traditional, but further refined, Packard radiator and hood lines. Both the Six and Eight are now equipped with thermostatically operated full length radiator shutters as are the Super Eight and Twelve.

In the matter of appearance much has been gained by more streamlined fenders and new louvre treatment. The head lamps, of a new four beam type, are directly streamlined mounted in the front fender skirts.

Mechanically all new Packards will be found to have important improvements so numerous they form a long list. Engines are equipped with new autothermic tin-plated aluminum alloy pistons. They are said to differ from all other types in that the clearance between piston and cylinder wall increases as the engine warms up. This is declared to result in slower rate of wear, improved fuel economy and reduction in oil temperature.

As with previous models simplicity in mechanical design has been one of the key notes in the Six and Eight, in the interest of economy in both operation and upkeep.

MEN LOVE PEPPY GIRLS

If you are happy and peppy and full of fun, men will take you places. If you are lively, they will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT, if you are cross and lifeless and always tired out, men won't be interested in you. Men don't like "quiet" girls. Men go to parties to enjoy themselves. They want girls along who are full of pep.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Miss Maphis Weds Baker, Oregon Man

Word was received here today of the marriage of Miss Grace Maphis and Delmar Dixon in Baker.

Mrs. Dixon is the daughter of Mrs. Minnie Foster of 220 South Grape street and a twin sister of Miss Geraldine Maphis. The family resided formerly in Ashland.

News of the nuptials came as a surprise. The couple will make their home in Baker.
