CHICK SPINS PETE FOR ONLY FALL IN MAIN MAT MATCH

In one of the wildest and most sensational main events seen in the Medford armory for many weeks, squat Bobby Chick, ex-light heavyweight champion of the world, displayed his class to defeat Pete Belmont, Weed's Mad Italian, in less than 15 minutes, last night before a large crowd.

The end came in a manner reminiscent of the days of Dude Chick, Bobby's brother and present junior heavyweight title-holder. After taking plenty of punishment from Belmont, a number one ruffian, the slider Chick fellow hoisted the struggling Italian to his shoulders and gave him the works. Fourteen times he revolved Pete in a deadly airplane spin Brother Dude would have been proud to display, and when he finally got tired and flopped the villain to the carpet, Pete was all through for the evening. That was the lone fall of the match.

Pete opened up with his usual brand of dirt, consisting of eye-punching, hair pulling, punches to the groin and double-fists to the body. Chick, a master grappler, stood up under the battering amazingly well and even dished out a few on his own account. Once, Pete took a swing at Referee Earl Yoakley, knocking him flat, and things went wild, Yoakley came up fighting and he and Belmont stood toe to toe for a space. Chick started in, and the three wound up on the floor outside the ring, with Yoakley apparently taking the raw end of the deal. Finally, Chick scrambled back inside the arena with Pete right on his tail, and soon after came the sensational airplane spin and curtains for Weed's leading citizen.

In the middle event, Frankie Clemens and Frankie Murdock battled six rounds to a draw, each grabbing one fall in a fine exhibition of clean and scientific wrestling. Clemens took the first fall in the third round with his famous Indian paralyzer. Murdock came back to grab the equalizer in the fifth stanza with figure-four leg-breakers after thundering sonnerbergs. Both boys opened the book in the sixth in an attempt to grab the deciding prize, but to no avail.

Glen Stone, alias Billy Newman, strong-armed his way to a straight fall victory over outwitted Gorilla Fog in the opener. Stone, dirty as they come, used painful surfboards in the first and third rounds to gain him the verdict.

Promoter Mack Lillard announced that Bob Kenaston, Mad Marine from Cold Hill and eastern points, would be on hand next Monday night.

INDEPENDENT WINS ROBINSON SEAT IN ARKANSAS BALLOT

showed Miller with 61,528 votes to 49,390 for Bailey in 1,542 of 1,982 precincts.

Bailey projected the new deal into the campaign, terming Miller "anti-Roosevelt" and asserting a victory for the congressman would be a "slap in the face for Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Miller asserted today "I most certainly do not consider my election a slap at President Roosevelt. The new deal was never involved in this campaign although my opponent attempted to make it an issue."

He earlier said he believed his victory due to "the feeling of outrage on the part of Arkansas citizens" over Bailey's nomination by the democratic state executive committee and the governor's "refusal to join in the request for a democratic primary."

Votes For Arkansas

Miller did not join the new deal issue squarely with Bailey, meeting the latter's charges of disloyalty to the president with the assertion that he never had voted "against the best interests of Arkansas." He was supported by Senator Hattie Caraway and Robinson's widow.

Miller predicted "the court reorganization will not likely arise in the immediate future."

"The executive department should be reorganized," he said, "but I will not agree to give the president unsupervised control in the reorganization of the executive or any other of the governmental branches."

Callison gave his men a rest Monday, planning to start work for the Beaver game today.

10 Point Safety Program Is Suggested for Hunters

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(P)—The Red Cross Aimed a volley of advice today at the American hunter, who last year sent many a shot into his fellow ninrords.

"Hunting accidents," said Vice Chairman James L. Pleser, who has suggested a 10-point program to prevent them, "caused 2,000 deaths in 1936."

Here are his recommendations:

1. Don't pull a gun carelessly from an automobile, help it out as if it were your lady love.
2. Remove shells before crawling through a fence, they can cause more pain than a rip in the pants.
3. Don't use a gun to club game from brush, bringing it out with bare hands is less dangerous.
4. Don't carry your gun cocked. It's always closer to you than your game.
5. Never point a weapon at anyone in fun. There is too little difference between comedy and tragedy.
6. Don't deploy ahead of inexperienced hunters. Be polite and let them go first.
7. Don't leave a gun where children can reach it. All weapons are poignants to them.
8. Don't leave a loaded gun in the house. Bears are not coming through the living room this year.
9. Don't allow the gun muzzle to clog with mud or snow. Clean it as you would your teeth; the bite is 1,000 times worse.
10. Deer hunters should wear red coats or hats because—deers don't.

Cabin Boy Drowns Playing Football

MILLARDVILLE, B. C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—James Dwyer, 19, drowned Sunday while playing football.

The young Irish cabin boy on the steamship Trellick was playing football with other crew members when the ball went into the waves. Dwyer and Seaman Norman Lloyd jumped into a small boat and started after the lost ball. The boat capsized and the two were plunged into the water.

The boy was dead when pulled from the Fraser river. Lloyd was brought ashore safely.

Billy Hulen Says:

Klamath Chooses Medford's Tigers As No. 1 Enemy

Southern Oregon's gridiron classic of classics will occur this week-end when Klamath Falls and Medford send their respective high school aggregations at each others throats in the Pelican city.

Once upon a time the battle considered tops in the territory was that staged between Ashland and Medford. Time and circumstances, however, have combined to relegate the traditional Grizzly-Tiger squabble to a comparative back seat while boosting the Pelican-Tiger encounter to the frenzied peak.

It's not Medford's fault, this shifting of "big game" hysteria from Ashland over the Greensprings. Its purely a defensive gesture. Medford would probably just as soon still regard Ashland and the Grizzlies as their "climax" game instead of Klamath Falls and the Pelicans, but under the circumstances now prevailing there is no other alternative but to accept the Klamath challenge and fight back.

For years, Klamath Falls and Medford went about their gridiron business on a sane and sensible basis, playing each other in stride and taking victory and loss without a serious change of expression. The trouble was, though, that Klamath Falls began to tire of always winding up on the short end of the score, which it did in all but one year since the first game over 20 years ago. That was bad enough.

Then, because of the geographical situation of the Pelican city, it was extremely difficult to hook up with some natural rival, some team the Klamathites could point for year after year as their traditional enemy. An attempt was made to publicize and build up Bend as that "villain," but it was no go. Bend was too distant, was in a different conference, and the burning flame of hate just wasn't there. So Klamath turned its eyes to members of its own league and it was only natural that Medford, nearest to its size and plenty hated because of the amazing victory string hung up at the Pelicans' expense, should be singled out as the team for which to gun.

Hence, the Medford game suddenly became the focal point of Klamath high's football season. Nothing else mattered, no other game counted, so long as Medford was whacked and whacked good. Students and players worked themselves into mild hysterics whenever the Black Toronado loomed on the horizon, and Klamath Falls business men went off the deep end and promised, literally, to turn the city over to the pigskin performers should they at last beat the Tigers. Some bizarre stories have come out of Klamath Falls regarding the almost fanatical promises made Pelican players if, and when, they turned in a win over Medford. Two years ago, when the battle was played in Klamath Falls, reports were that Klamath merchants shamelessly offered $100 apiece to each player if Medford was beaten. Whether the story is true, we do not know, but are inclined to doubt. However, it is a known fact that Klamath business men, for the past several years, have offered many merchandise prizes, theatre tickets, meal tickets, etc., to football players if Medford was bumped.

All that did very little to cool off rivalry between the two schools. It made things red hot, it gave Klamath high a bitter rival, if not natural at least sincere, but until last season it didn't help matters any so far as collecting a victory was concerned. The Tigers went right on winning from the Pelicans, sometimes by the skin of their teeth as two years ago in the last five seconds of play, but more often by walkway scores. Then, last season, Klamath came over here the underdog and went home with a 3-0 victory after nearly taking the city apart following the game.

For a time, Medford didn't pay much attention to the huge build-up going on in Klamath Falls to make the game the year's "climax." The Tigers continued pointing at Ashland and winning easily most of the time. Then, newspaper stories began to find their way to local citizens, players and students. Klamath made no bones about it; they were gunning for Medford and didn't care who knew it. Gradually Medford began to get stirred up whenever the Pelicans were seen hovering in the distance. It took several years, but finally the Tigers accepted Klamath Falls as their "big" game and started to fight back. Now, the Klamath-Medford encounter surpasses any other in the conference for ferocity.

While Klamath Falls has edged into the place once held by Ashland as Medford's major opponent, the Grizzlies have certainly not forgotten who their traditional foe is. So far as Ashland is concerned, there is only one team in the world to beat, if Medford is to be Medford. And Medford? Well, the Tigers realize their most important game is with Klamath Falls, that to whip the Pelicans means a successful season, regardless. That is, if Ashland is whipped, too.

LAZZERI SOUGHT BY CHICAGO CUBS

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(P)—The Chicago Cubs today were in the field which is bidding for the services of Tony Lazzeri, slugging star of the recent world series and since then unconditionally released by the champion New York Yankees.

Paul K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago National League team, said Lazzeri had accepted an invitation to confer here relative to joining the Cubs—but Wrigley declined to say whether Lazzeri has been, or would be, offered a post as scout, coach or manager in 1938. Charlie Grimm is under contract to pilot the Cubs again next year.

At his San Francisco home Lazzeri professed to know nothing of the invitation. Clarence Rowland, Cub scout talked to the former Yankee ace here last week at that time said he had not been released by the Yanks.

"I want to make it clear," Wrigley said, "that we are not considering making a change in managers."

SMITH, COOPER SHARE FIRST MONEY PRIZE

Other winners included: Second—Ray Mangrum, Dayton, O., and Johnny Revolta, Chicago, plus 9, $900.

Third—Ed Dudley, Philadelphia, and Jimmy Hines, New York, plus 3, $700.

The Windors later left for Dresden to continue their inspection of labor conditions in Germany.

HUNTER FINED $25 FOR SHOOTING HEN

Arthur L. Brown, charged with killing a hen Chinese pheasant, entered a plea of guilty in justice court and fined $25 and costs. Under Oregon law, hunters are not permitted to kill hen pheasants. The shooting occurred in the Old Stage road section. Brown paid $15 and was granted 30 days to pay the balance.

Dan J. Leabo of Ashland, charged with permitting Marshall Miller, 17, an unlicensed youth, to drive his auto, was fined $2.50 and costs.

Wesley H. Hamann, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, waived preliminary hearing, and was ordered held to await grand jury action. Upon recommendation of the district attorney's office, Hamann was permitted to go on his own recognizance, so he could continue his employment. Hamann, allegedly passed a $5 check on a local wine store.

Ralph S. Page of Prineville was assessed $5 and costs for having no muffler on his auto.

Forest A. Van Zile, a Californian on vacation here, charged with non-possession of a driver's license, was fined $2.50 and costs. Van Zile's California driver's permit was void.

YONCOLLA BOY TRIES FOR JOB WITH SEALS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—(P)—Roy Cox, husky 19-year-old, 165-pound youth from Yoncolla, Ore., was the only out-of-state rookie and an outstanding prospect among 67 recruits enrolled in the San Francisco Seals' baseball training camp, opening here yesterday.

He is a nephew of Hal Turpin, Seattle Indian pitcher.

If you have a bright ostrich feather try using it at the neck-line of a black afternoon frock. A matching feather may be placed on the hat worn with the costume.
