NOTED LECTURER TO BE SPONSORED BY MAIL TRIBUNE

Citizens of Jackson county will have the opportunity of hearing Viola Sweet, noted lecturer from San Jose, Cal., in a series of free lectures beginning early next week. Mrs. Sweet will be accompanied by her secretary, Miss Roberta Sweet, who has been on an extensive tour of the westward for several months, having been in Alaska, Hawaii, and the Hawaiian Islands where she was presented to Honolulu audiences by the Honolulu Star-Bulletin. She also lectured in Hilo, Hawaii, under auspices of the Hilo Tribune-Herald.

During her stay in Medford, Mrs. Sweet will be available to clubs and organizations for speaking engagements without charge, by calling the Hotel Medford or the Mail Tribune.

Mrs. Sweet's talks will be devoted to vital facts about some of the greatest problems in life—health, work and love, as well as family problems. To lay down a "pattern" of life is especially interesting and attractive to both men and women.

The speaker herself is a vivid example of the results of her study and practice of the rules of the game of life. Several years ago she was a semi-invalid, unhappy and discouraged with life. Today, her splendid health, radiant personality and successful life give evidence that she has undergone a complete metamorphosis. Her message is full of hope and cheer and what she has accomplished anyone with the proper understanding also can do.

Since Mrs. Sweet delivers her talks in such a delightful and entertaining manner to large audities and everywhere, it is expected that she will attract large gatherings here.

Admission is free to all lectures. Sunday's Mail Tribune will announce dates and location of lectures.

PRECISION NEEDED TO STRIKE TARGET IN AIR BOMBINGS

(By The AP Feature Service)

There's more to bombing a railroad station than firing over the city and cutting loose your bombs.

A medium-sized bombing plane carrying a crew of three or four—number one and two or two machine gunners.

Their job calls for precise teamwork. Bombing usually is done by a squadron of planes in a formation designed to give maximum protection against hostile aircraft, as well as to lay down a "pattern" of bombs on the area of structure that is the target of attack.

The pilot, therefore, must be an expert formation flyer.

Having figured the proper altitude and the proper angle of the wings of the plane, the pilot makes a long approach for the dropping of the first bomb.

During the approach the pilot checks and sets his bomb sight. A bomb sight is an instrument which tells the best angle used during the target war. As the line of sight of the target appears in the bomb sight, the pilot just the right place in the bomb sight, the pilot pulls a hand lever or electric mechanism to set the bomb. The bomb is released and drifts for 100 feet.

A bomb released at 180 miles an hour from 15,000 feet requires 32 seconds to reach the earth. In that time it will have traveled forward about 1 mile and a half.

Thus, a plane flying at 15,000 or 20,000 feet will release the bomb about 1 1/2 miles ahead of the target.

The bomb will leave the ship in the same direction as the plane, but the forward velocity as the bomb falls, the nose gradually drops as the tail fin catches the air.

There are four major types of bombs—demolition, incendiary, gas and high explosive.

Demolition bombs, containing high explosive like TNT, are used when a powerful blasting agent is desired, such as the destruction of a railway station, water main, a power house or transmission lines.

The incendiary bomb contains flammable materials, such as phosphorus, and is almost as oil-soaked and very inflammable structure. It will burn for some time, but it is not as effective as a demolition bomb, which breaks on contact, releasing the gas. The incendiary bomb is similar to a hand grenade, bursting into flames and injury-dealing fragments.

Demolition bombs may have two types of fuses, instantaneous and delayed. The latter are designed to go off after the thick-walled container has buried its nose deep in some solid structure, such as reinforced concrete.

The destructiveness of a demolition bomb is contingent upon where and how it hits a target. A 2,000-pound bomb, which is the largest standard size, probably would wreck the building and kill hundreds of people if it made a direct hit on the union station round in Washington.

Such a bomb, however, might also miss the target, blasting a hole and persons 100 yards away might walk off unscathed.

In bombing practice, these 2,000 pounders have torn a hole in granite 12 feet wide and 30 feet across.

Brownsboro

BROWNSBORO, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Mr. Trubold of California has purchased the Ray Baker ranch and will soon be taking possession. A large party was given Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baker and family in the Lake Creek Orange hall last Friday evening. Dancing and games were enjoyed after which refreshments were served.

Mr. H. W. Wright and children of Medford spent the week-end at home here.

Mr. John Duncan demonstrated the use of aluminum wire at a dinner given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marshall, October 14. Those present were Mrs. A. Howard Johnson and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hazen, Gerald Hazen, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and son Fred, Lindsey Tibbets, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Marshall, Bill Marshall and the baby and hostess.

Mrs. Lindsey Tibbets and her daughter, Lena May, arrived Saturday to join her husband, who has been here for some time. Mr. Tibbets is a brother of Mrs. Lester Marshall.
