

Oregon-Oregon State Classic Will Draw Largest Crowd in History

CALLISON TO USE SAME LINEUP AS IN U.S.C. TUSSLE

Kolberg Picked To Captain Beavers For Annual Tilt—Four Important Games Slated On Coast Grids.

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 22.—(AP)—The University of Oregon football squad prepared today to perform before the largest crowd in the history of the local stadium when they meet the Beavers of Oregon State college Saturday.

A third secret practice finished under lights last night, continuing from mid-afternoon until long after dark.

Athletic officials said all reserved seats were already sold, and later general admissions were expected to bring the attendance to more than 17,000.

Coach Prink Callison expected to start the same lineup used against U. S. C. last week, with the exception of the replacement of Denny Braid with Vernon Moore at center.

GORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Oregon State college gridmen picked Elmer Kolberg giant fullback, as captain for the 41st annual clash with the University of Oregon at Eugene Saturday.

John Watts will start at right guard in place of Leon Sterling, who was injured in practice.

The backfield will consist of Kolberg, Bill Duncan at quarter and Joe Gray and Jay Mercer, halfbacks.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—(AP)—California's Golden Bears will risk their unblemished record against the Trojans of Southern California tomorrow in one of four important Pacific coast conference football clashes.

Some 80,000 fans were expected to pack Memorial stadium at Berkeley for the Bear-Trojan game, one of the nation's major battles. A U. S. C. victory would throw the conference race into a mad scramble.

California favored Oregon, overwhelmingly victor over five opponents, was the favorite at odds ranging around 10 to 6, but the Trojans, on the upswing after triumphs over Ohio State and Oregon, were considered definite threats. Stanford's Indians, reeled two weeks following their surprise triumph over the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins, will battle Washington's Huskies in a "toss-up" game at Seattle.

Washington, a pre-season favorite for the conference title, knocked over U. S. C. in an early game but two weeks ago dropped a 6-0 count to Oregon State and was held to a 7-7 tie by Washington State last Saturday.

Two other evenly-matched teams, U. C. L. A. and Washington State, will meet at Los Angeles. The Bruins played a 7-7 tie with Oregon State last Saturday while the Cougars showed surprising power in holding Washington to the same score.

O. S. C.-Oregon Toss-up Oregon State and Oregon will battle at Eugene in another "toss-up."

In other leading far-western games, Brigham Young will meet Portland University at Portland; Ames Alonzo Slagg's College of the Pacific will play Nevada at Reno and Linfield will oppose Pacific Lutheran in a night game at Tacoma.

St. Mary's Gaels were favorites here today over University of Idaho in the annual "kiddie" game which was expected to bring out 15,000 youngsters at 10 cents per head.

Santa Clara, unbeaten and untied, will meet a stiff test in Loyola at Los Angeles Sunday, while University of San Francisco and Gonzaga play at Spokane.

SALEM HIGH DEFEATS MCMINNVILLE 34 TO 0

SALEM, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The Vikings of Salem high school continued undefeated and unscathed upon today after defeating McMinnville, 34 to 0, here last night.

The Vikings have scored 98 points to none for their opponents in three games.

JEFFERSON CONTINUES UNDEFEATED RECORD

PORTLAND, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Jefferson high school, defending champion of the Portland Interscholastic league, blasted Lincoln, 25 to 0, to maintain its position among Oregon's undefeated and untied football teams. The victory was the fourth straight for the Democrats in league competition.

FEW FARMERS ELIGIBLE FOR PURCHASE LOANS

PORTLAND, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Regional Director Walter A. Duffy reported today only 10 to 15 tenant farmer and farm labor families from each state in this area are eligible for farm purchase loans under the Bankhead-Jones act in 1937.

Hundreds of applications are on file, he said.

Regional allotments total $122,486. Oregon will receive $37,106; Washington $46,245; and Idaho $39,040. Paul V. Maris, former Oregon State college extension director, is head of the tenant purchase loan division at Washington, D. C.

SALEM'S NEW WATER TEN DEGREES COLDER

SALEM, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Saalem's new mountain water, which will flow into the city's mains a week from tomorrow, will be 10 degrees colder than the present Willamette river supply, which is 68 degrees, engineers said today.

GROW WILL PLAY AGAINST KLAMATH COACH PROMISES

Big Fullback Sufficiently Recovered From Injury To Permit Action Says Bowerman On Departure.

"Eldon Grow will definitely see action."

Such was the parting shot of Coach Bill Bowerman along about noon today as he bundled his Medford high Black Tornado into private cars and a huge bus at the school and moved toward Klamath Falls, where tonight at 8 o'clock under the lights of Modoc field, his raging Tigers meet the Pelicans of Klamath high in southern Oregon's major football attraction of the year.

As a result of an easy workout yesterday afternoon, in which the entire squad took part, Bowerman came to the conclusion that the big fullback, who sustained a bruised muscle in his leg against Eureka last week, would be able to enter the fray. He may not start, probably won't, the coach explained, but sometime before the battle is ended, Grow will be in there at his key position.

Newland to Play Until Coach Bowerman figures the time is ripe to inject the Grow powerhouse into the encounter, Bob Newland, a sophomore, will probably work at the fullback post. Newland is fast as a flash and a good passer, but he lacks the experience and straight ahead driving power necessary, and which Grow possesses.

The entire Medford high student body turned out to roar encouragement as Bowerman and his 30-odd Tornado players grimly set sail for the Pelican City. It was one of the most enthusiastic rallies in years. Practically half the high school enrollment will witness the game, many leaving early this afternoon with the majority to start later. Scores of downtown fans also were expected to attend the battle, first Southern Oregon conference game of the year for the Black Tornado.

While Grow was definitely slated to see action, Jack Hill, other major casualty of the Eureka game, was almost as definitely declared out. Bowerman stated the speedy right halfback received a slight concussion last Friday and would take no chances with him. Also, Dan Ehrhart, right tackle, suddenly ended the ranks of the injured, turning up yesterday with a sore big toe. The hurt would not be serious enough to keep him on the sidelines, however, Bowerman stated. Or, so he hoped.

Remainder of the starting lineup which hopes to avenge the 3-0 defeat suffered at the hands of Klamath Falls last year was all set. It included John Prentice at center, Gene Archibald and Wallace Eri at the guards, Hubert Santo at the other tackle, and Don Montien and Bob Wilson at the ends. In the backfield, Red Root will open at quarter, Bobby Ettner and Jack Bowman at the halfbacks, and Newland, full.

Although Coach Bowerman didn't reveal his battle plans, local observers expect the Tornado to unleash a glittering air attack, with laterals playing a big part. Overhead shots by Ettner, Bowman, Shorty Campbell, Newland and Red Stead were figured as one means of nullifying a powerful Klamath line that is considered slightly stronger than Medford's.

The Grange

Eagle Point Grange. Eagle Point Grange met in regular session October 19. A good attendance was on hand for the opening exercises and business session. Lecture hour was conducted by past and present officers.

The first old-fashioned party of the season will be held October 23. Those attending these parties know that a very enjoyable time is in store. Those who have not attended before are urged to attend this one.

Time is drawing close for the annual carnival night event, November 20. This year will see a bigger and better carnival than ever. The addition of two professional choruses to the evening's entertainers will add much to the evening. They will put on a stage show during the early part of the evening.

Yale-Cornell. Here is the upset, though not so big a one as usual. A favored Cornell team will be stopped by Clint Frank and his New Haven outfit, 14-12.

Notre Dame-Navy. You can also pick this one. The Irish should be fighting mad following their Carnegie Tech reverse last night, so it's Notre Dame by 12-7.

Texas Christian - Fordham. The Horned Frogs may be a great forward passing team but Fordham has one of the toughest lines in the country. (Ask Pittsburgh). Although aerials can go over great lines, it's Fordham, 7-6.

Ohio State-Northwestern. I. Pickem holds his breath on this one. The Buckeye's rap Northwestern, 19-7.

Baylor-Texas A. and M. Another breath-holder. A. and M. is figured to top the Southwest conference title, but here is its first setback. Baylor to win in a high scoring embryo, 37-20.

Columbia-Brown. Here is our "breather" and you can't blame a guy for taking on only one cinch out of 12 dynamites. Columbia will breeze in 30-0.

Clouded eyes and brittle, rough outside are two results of nervousness and lack of sleep.

Billy Hulen Says:

Groggy Mr. Pickem Names Favorites For Saturday

Traditional battles between high-powered teams so evenly matched it appears certain suicide to attempt to select the winners makes this football week-end one of pure dynamite.

I Pickem, groggy from a week's accumulation of worthless figures and from an un-
Takes it here, if the Tigers number of traces over the crystal ball, tried at the last minute today to get his name changed to U. Pickem, but it was no go. The court told Mr. Pickem, in effect, to hang in there and take his beating like a man.

So here he is, ready for the almost certain whacking. "Abandon hope all ye who enter here." With this original utterance on his lips, Mr. Pickem opens the door to tomorrow, as follows:

Medford high-Klamath high. Four times this year the Black Tornado has been named to come through with a victory.

Take it here, if the Tigers spring Bobby Ettner a couple of times while bottling Tom Giovanni, they will win. The team is rested following a month of grueling practice, and should roll. Despite the loss of Grow and Hill, I. Pickem names the Beavers to grab their first conference victory, 13-6. Fingers are crossed, though.

Oregon - Oregon State. Another easy one. The Beavers boast the more powerful forward wall, with Oregon's "crazy" sophomores apparently packing more backfield offensive punch. Only because the game is at Eugene, here is the outcome: Oregon 20, Oregon State 13.

Stanford - Washington. You can pick this one yourselves. If you wish, thank you purely on a hunch, it's Stanford by one point.

California-USC. Ambrose Schindler will probably be the best back on the field, but we'll always take an eleven man team instead of a one-man outfit. California's Golden Bears to win, 14-7.

Washington State-UCLA. A fine Cougar team will find the Los Angeles heat not conducive to touchdowns—for them. The Bruins of Bill Spaulding will come in, 6-0.

Portland - Brigham Young. The Rocky Mountain conference team will travel all the way to Portland just to take a rapping from Coach Matty Mathews' Bulldogs. Score, 13-0.

Yale-Cornell. Here is the upset, though not so big a one as usual. A favored Cornell team will be stopped by Clint Frank and his New Haven outfit, 14-12.

Notre Dame-Navy. You can also pick this one. The Irish should be fighting mad following their Carnegie Tech reverse last night, so it's Notre Dame by 12-7.

LOCAL SHOOTERS GARNER LAURELS IN OAKLAND MEET

Competing against 160 of the finest rifle shots California had to offer, several members of the Medford Rifle club last Sunday brought considerable honor to the local organization when they fired in the annual California indoor championship matches held at Oakland.

The entry list exceeded those of the Chicago and New York City matches this year, and marked a big step forward in rifle competition on the coast.

Ed Lull, Shelby Tuttle and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Waddell combined their efforts in the four-man team match and placed third in a field of 24, only one point under the stunning Oakland rifle club and barely out-ranked for second place. The Turner match, last event of the day, proved easy meat for the Waddells, Ivan placing first and his wife third.

Low Conger clicked in the Hitchcock match, taking second honors in C class, and Ivan Waddell took third in A class.

Consistent shooting by Ivan Waddell in all matches placed him high in the grand aggregate and gave him the coveted trophy and title of California state indoor champion. Mrs. Waddell's total ranked with some of the veterans of the game and was high enough to place her second in the women's aggregate, two points under the winner. All told, the Medford rifle club entries garnered more medals and trophies than any other club present at the matches, the locals placing in every match but one.

Ivan Waddell won a total of four medals, two trophies and a spotting scope.

Mr. and Mrs. Waddell were met in Oakland by the other local shooters, the former two having just returned from the Pan-American rifle matches in Dallas, Texas. There, Ivan Waddell took third place in A class, and Mrs. Waddell won a first and a third in B class, composed of all the woman shooters and many men.

The Medford rifle club was the only out-of-state organization represented at the California championships.

FREE ICE CREAM FOR FOOTBALL SQUAD IS HY FRAGER'S TREAT

Step up, Medford high football player, and eat hearty. And it's all free, too.

An ex-pigskin performer himself and a sure one fan now, Hy Frager, new owner of the Rex cafe, announced yesterday that henceforth and from now on, each and every member of Coach Bill Bowerman's Black Tornado squad is invited to drop around and have a big dish of ice cream—on the house. And, every day.

Coach Bowerman, when apprised of the generous offer, broke into a large grin. "Fine," he remarked. "Ice cream is good for football players. There is no kick on this end. I only hope the coach is included."

Frager, who was a member of the Lincoln high of Portland team in 1924, that won the city championship, also said that the Rex cafe

DOUBLE MAIN EVENT SIGNED FOR MONDAY GRAPPLING PROGRAM

Two main events for the price of one, and both figured to be just about the finest seen here for many months, will greet grappling patrons at the Medford armory next Monday night.

One top tangle will pit Pete Belcastro, Weed's Mad Italian, against the Mad Marine from Gold Hill, Bob Kenaston. The other will see Bobby Chick, former light heavyweight champion of the world, tussling with Glen Stone, alias Billy Newman. Because neither Chick nor Kenaston, as befitting their high standing in the wrestling game, will agree to a spot under the top billing, Promoter Mack Lillard will flip a coin immediately following the opening event, to determine which of the pair will wind up the program. Both matches, however, will be for one hour time limit or the best two out of three falls.

To open the card, the impresario has slated the two Frankies—Murdock and Clemens—in a rematch from their six-round draw last week in which each grabbed a tumble. This squabble will be the lone engagement.

It happened that a severe cold spell struck Portland the night before the game, leaving Multnomah field frozen stiff. It was hard as rock, and rather than risk injury to his football players, the Scott high coach refused to play the game. No amount of cajoling could change his mind, and a disappointed bunch of pigskinners trekked back across the continent with nothing more than scenery for a memory of their "championship" battle.

Skunk and black fox are popular trimmings for coats and suits this fall.

LA GRANDE, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Trailing 10 to 6 at halftime, the Pioneers of Lewiston Normal school staged a two-touchdown rally in the final period of their game with Eastern Oregon Normal here last night to finish in a 19-19 tie.

The Mountaineers displayed a brilliant passing attack in the first half, Olson and Peterson doing the receiving.
