CHEER UP LADIES, ENGLISH ARTIST LIKES YOUR HANDS

By Betty Clarke
AP Feature Service Writer
Cecil Beaton has charged his mind about American women.
When that thirty-ish English photographer, writer and fashion artist first visited the United States in 1929 he said he thought English women were more beautiful than American.
Now, get ready for his change of mind. I interviewed him in the Waldorf Towers after his arrival for another photographing tour in this country and this is what Mr. Beaton said:
"American women don't have the charm of the English women, or their well-shaped heads. But they have marvelous hands."
After visiting America off and on for eight years our British friend concedes our American women do have pretty hands!
"Won't you enlarge on that?" I asked him.
Mr. Beaton hesitated. Then he managed: "Certainly, they look more utilitarian." And that's about as far as he would go.
Well, I thought, if American women's hands have succeeded in impressing this biased Englishman, let's pay a little more attention to them. So I went up to see Peggy Sage, who's been in the beauty business some 30 years. Here's her advice on the care of hands:
"Keep them well groomed, exercise them. Keep cuticles pushed back. If you use nail polish, see that it is trim. Be sure your fingernails are filed to the same length.
If your hands are rough or red, massage them nightly with cream—hand cream is cheaper than cold cream. Work the cream down from the second joint over the hand and across the wrist, as if you were putting on a glove. Massage upward from the second joint to the fingertips with a twisting movement to stimulate the circulation in the direction of the nail.
If your nails are inclined to break easily, use some nail cream and work it around the base of the nail with a rotary motion. The nail grows out from the matrix, you know—just below the cuticle—and it is this sensitive structure you want to reach.
What about exercises? Try "plano playing." Place your wrists on the table so that the finger-tips just touch it. Then lift each finger as high as you can.
When your fingers tingle—switch to this exercise: Clasp your hands, knuckles up and elbows out so that both arms form a continuous line. Now pull your elbows apart, still keeping the fingers clasped. Then pull hard against the clasped fingers until the grip is broken."

HUNT FOR TIMOTHY RESUMED AS WIFE IS LAID TO REST

While funeral services were being held this afternoon for Florence Timothy, 32, who died last Thursday night of paralysis caused by the shock of her husband's disappearance, county and state authorities renewed their active search for 87-year-old George O. Timothy, missing since the afternoon of October 16, when he was seen walking feebly toward Rogue river in Gold Hill.
Services for Mrs. Timothy, an invalid for many months before her death, were held at the Conger funeral parlor at 2 o'clock with the Rev. E. S. Bartlam in charge. Burial was in Medford L. O. O. E. cemetery.
Pallbearers included close friends of Mrs. Timothy and her husband. They were John Gribble, Thomas Roseberry, Joe Cave, Ray Stoneker, Mark McCoy and C. F. Nichols.

Sheriff Syd I. Brown, in charge of the search for the 87-year-old former Medford police chief, said today that Deputy Sheriff Bill Grenbemer and State Policeman F. S. LaDue were again actively engaged in dragging the 60-foot deep channel directly under the concrete bridge over Rogue river near Gold Hill. It is there that authorities believe Timothy took his own life because of brooding over the condition of his wife. Since Wednesday, a policy of "watchful waiting" had been followed, with residents of Gold Hill observing the river closely.

The sheriff stated that several times during dragging operations bits of cloth, old overalls and gunnysacks had been brought to the surface, but none could be proved conclusively to have belonged to Timothy. The lone definite clue so far uncovered was the aged man's manzanita walking stick, discovered on the bridge and identified by Mrs. Be I. Richardson, Timothy's stepdaughter.
There was a possibility that diving equipment would be used tomorrow in an attempt to search thoroughly the numerous reefs and ledges under the surface of the river at that point, said Sheriff Brown, who believes that Timothy may possibly be lodged in the deep water. Dynamite blasts have failed to bring evidence to the surface. The sheriff explained that a man living in the vicinity of Gold Hill owned diving equipment that an attempt would be made to procure him for the search.

M'ENTYRE RITES AT 2 TOMORROW

Funeral services for Philander McEntyre will be held in the Perich chapel at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. Wolford A. Dawes, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate.
Burial will take place in the Siskiyou Memorial park. A graveside service will be conducted by Crater Lake aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles of which Mr. McEntyre was an honorary member. Pallbearers will be members of the aerie.
Mr. McEntyre died early Saturday morning. He was Jackson county's first old age pensioner and oldest citizen. He would have been 102 years old on December 24. He lived alone in a cabin provided by Dr.

HUSKY HUSKER is Johnny Howell, 180-pound Nebraska quarterback, one of the big reasons why Coach Biff Jones' team topped Minnesota. Not only is he a good signal-caller, says the coach, but a passer of skill as well.

celebrate the 14 to 6 triumph over the University of Oregon Saturday. They defied Dr. George W. Peavy, president of the college, and Robert Henderson, student body leader, in refusing to resume their regular study routine.
The "holiday" idea developed at a huge downtown rally last night. Just before the first classes this morning, the students carried signs about the campus reading "no classes." Soon they deserted the college grounds and carried their celebration back to the downtown district.
A handful of more earnest students attended a few lectures but large sections were deserted and the professors snapped their brief cases shut and departed.
"Pickets" paced before at least one building to discourage attendance.

HUMOR, OPTIMISM MAIN PHILOSOPHY OF VIOLA SWEET

"Humor is a tonic—and a happy thought is a physical stimulant."
This is one of the bits of philosophy one hears from Viola Sweet, who will begin this Wednesday evening a series of free public lectures on The Game of Life and How to Play It.
Mrs. Sweet will be presented to Medford audiences by the Medford Mail Tribune. The lectures will be held at St. Mark's Guild hall.
Everybody is playing the game of life and Mrs. Sweet's object in giving these talks is to explain to people the rules of the game which will make life fuller, richer and more worth the living. As she presents the subject it is far from being dry-as-dust matter but becomes vitally interesting. She delights her hearers not only with her message of optimism and hope but with the wit and mirthful anecdotes that are interspersed throughout.
And Mrs. Sweet herself is about as different from the usual conception of a lecturer as she could well be. Somehow, the term "lecturer" brings of a person utterly devoid of humor, but with a deadly seriousness. Nothing could be further from Mrs. Sweet's personality. She is young, vivacious, buoyant, has a keen sense of humor and an extraordinary talent for enjoying life. She injects her personality into her work and makes her talks so interesting and entertaining that there is not a dull moment in them.
No matter what is a little out of joint in your life, you will see clearer what to do about it when you hear this noted speaker and contact with her radiant personality. She has the happy faculty of being able to impart knowledge and information in a simple, non-technical and very delightful manner.
The lectures are in two series—an evening series of five and a morning series of three.
All of the lectures, morning and evening will be given at St. Mark's Guild hall on Okdale avenue. Admittance is absolutely free and the general public is invited.
Following each lecture, the audience is given an opportunity to ask questions which Mrs. Sweet will answer and discuss concisely.
Following are the dates and subjects of the two lecture series to which the Mail Tribune cordially invited all men and women interested in hearing these subjects discussed.
Evening Series 8 p. m.
Wed., Oct. 27—How to Get What You Want.
Thurs., Oct. 28—Worry, How to Quit It.
Friday, Oct. 29—The Joy of Living.
Monday, Nov. 1—The Subconscious Mind.
Tuesday, Nov. 2—The Shortest Road to Success.
Morning Series 10 a. m.
Thurs., Oct. 29—How to Keep Young.
Friday, Oct. 29—The Story Your Face Tells.

VICTORY BY CIO HAS HOLLOW RING

PORTLAND, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The C. I. O. discovered a hollow ring in its national labor relations board victory today when the A. F. of L. refused to ease the boycott restraining activities in the sawmill industry since last August.
The central labor council policy committee, declining to recognize the decision making the C. I. O. the official bargaining agent, said:
"The findings of the board without requiring an election is a high-handed act, indicating the board's policy is to usurp powers not given it in the national labor relations act, it further establishes the board as a subservient ally of the C. I. O."

MAYTAG PRESENTS THE NEW TWIN-CYLINDER GASOLINE MULTI-MOTOR MAYTAG
HERETOFORE all washer engines, including the famous Maytag Gasoline Multi-Motor, have been one cylinder. The new Twin-Cylinder Multi-Motor is amazingly free from vibration—runs cooler, steadier, smoother, quieter, starts easier, and operates 3 to 3 1/2 hours, under normal load, on a quart of gasoline. It is interchangeable with an electric motor.
This engine, built for a woman to operate, is just another reason why your choice of washers should be a Maytag. Ask your dealer to demonstrate. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it!
