Entered With Guns "I saw three men get out," she told police, "while a fourth remained at the wheel. Two of the men walked toward the door. One of them stopped at the entrance. The other walked into the place. Both men had automatic guns in each hand.

"The man at the door waved guns at us—told us to keep quiet. "The fourth man walked directly over to Bruneman's table and started shooting.

Then Greuzard, who has been employed as her chauffeur, started toward the door. "For God's sake don't go out here," Mrs. Huddle told police she screamed. She said her husband yelled: "Don't be a fool Frank, come back!"

Three shots followed, and Greuzard toppled to the sidewalk in front of the place as the automobile roared away.

DESCENDANT OF HAWAIIAN RULER HELD IN MURDER

David Kawanakoa Arrested After Death Of Pretty Half-White Hawaiian Woman, Common Law Wife.

HONOLULU, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A blood descendant of Hawaii's one-time ruler faced possible slaying charges today in connection with the death of a pretty half-white, half-Hawaiian woman who assertedly was his common-law wife.

David Kalakaua Wawanakoa, 33, grand-nephew of the late King David Kalakaua and son of the late Prince David Kawanakoa, was held for investigation, and Police Lieutenant John Troche said he might be charged with second degree murder or manslaughter.

The victim was Arvilla Kinalea, 22, found dead in a Waikiki cottage by police. Her body was in a sitting position in a chair, wrapped in a blood-soaked sheet. An artery in her neck was severed and her face was lacerated. She had been dead some time before officers arrived.

The kitchen of the cottage, which the victim's sister said Kalakaua and Miss Kinalea had shared for two and a half years, was a shambles. The floor was littered with broken dishes and the walls splattered with food.

Quinn said Kalakaua was still on probation as result of a manslaughter conviction growing out of the death of a girl in an automobile accident in 1932.

The suspect's family is one of the most prominent in the islands. Kalakaua's mother, Princess Kawanakoa, is former national Republican committee woman for Hawaii.

FEDERAL HUNTERS PROVIDED IN NEW JACKSON BUDGET

The 1938 Jackson county budget, now in course of final checking, allots $3000 for employment of government hunters, for eradication of coyotes and other varmints preying on sheep and turkeys of rural residents.

The fund displaces the county fund, for which $4000 was set aside last year. Under the federal hunter plan, two hunters are allotted to Jackson county, by the U.S. Biological survey.

If arrangements can be made, Vernon Hopkins of the Dead Indian district, a highly successful varmint hunter, will be deputized as a government hunter, members of the budget committee said.

Stockmen of all sections of the county, urged establishment of government hunters on the ground. The bounty plan was not getting sufficient results. Stockmen and poultry raisers claimed the coyotes more numerous and pestiferous than in a decade, had caused considerable loss the past year.

In the early years of the depression varmint hunting for bounty enjoyed a spurt, and provided funds for scores of hill residents. This condition has subsided the past three years.

The budget committee composed of the county court, and Bert Thirloff, Medford, E. W. Carleton, Medford, and Fred Wagner, Ashland will meet Wednesday to certify the budget. The county clerk's office today checked the budget.

County Judge Earl B. Day said the total budget would show no increase in the general county fund, but the roads and relief funds would show gains.
