

ABBEY SHOWS NEW 1938 NASHES HERE

The Walter W. Abbey company is now showing a full line of smart Nashes for 1938. The line is quite similar in appearance to the 1937 car which set a new all-time high for the company in point of sales and popularity. However there are more genuine engineering changes and improvement in the Nash for '38 than in any other car that is being shown. Among the important improvements is a revolutionary new method of conditioning the car for winter driving. The unit goes far beyond any type of heating device that has yet been developed. Air is taken in through the cow ventilator, then filtered, heated thoroughly and delivered to all parts of the car under pressure. In summer the heat may be shut off and the unit will deliver fresh, filtered outside air in the same manner. By keeping the pressure inside the car higher than on the outside—dust is excluded. The company engineers claim that it is possible to drive all day on a dusty country road in a white linen suit without soiling it in the least. There have been many attempts on the part of various automobile manufacturers to develop an easier and simpler way of shifting from one gear to another. Nash has made a long step on this direction with the introduction of their startling new vacuum shift. The actual work of moving the gears in the transmission case is done by a vacuum developed in the intake manifold of the motor. All the operator is required to do is to pick the gear he wants with a selector lever a few inches long that is mounted on the dash. The shift is accomplished instantly and it is impossible to scrape or grind the gears. Shifting from high to second is done at will and at any speed up to seventy miles per hour without any attention to double clutching or speeding up the motor. The front compartment floor is entirely free of any obstructions to make trouble for a passenger in the middle of the seat. These are only a few of the 83 changes and improvements that Nash is offering this year, some of the others are: a new type of shock absorber that virtually eliminates body sway on curves, greater horse-power all through the line, a new type of manifold on the six and eight that eliminate hundreds of extra motor parts, a new type of extra insulation that makes them the quietest car on the roads, arrow straight steering with no road shock. All these improvements coupled with such widely known and time proved Nash features as seven and nine bearing crankshaft, pressure lubrication to the wrist-pins, automatic cruising gear, and chrome nickel motor block make the Nash for '38 the best buy that has ever been offered to the people of America.
